MYRIAD WHEELS SPRING TO LIFE

As Taft's Touch Sends White House and Armory.

Mayor Then Gives Electrical Exposition Toast.

Formal Exercises Followed by Blare of Whistles.

CROWDS FLOCK TO BIG SHOW.

With a myriad of glowing bulbs high overhead and thousands all about, sending out their white shafts of light and filling the great armory space with a refulgence that might even dare the sun's rays, the first Southern Electrical and Industrial Exposition beamed its welcome yesterday to the multitudes of Louisville and Kentucky and the sister States to the four quarters. While President William H. Taft touched an electric button in the White House at Washington and bridged the distance to the home of the Exposition in Louisville, the Mayor of Louisville, the Mayor of Jeffersonville, a representative of the Mayor of New Albany and the promoters of the big enterprise awaited the electric flash which set the marvelous show into being.

With simple ceremonies, the Exposition was dedicated to its mission of amusing, educating and advertising, and then a pandemonium of whistles, steam, air and human, broke loose in a noisy paean of jubilation.

The crowd in the afternoon was largely a Louisville crowd. That was natural, since the day was dedicated to Louisville, and it was the opening one of the Exposition. The night was devoted to the German-Americans. There were no ceremonies. Every German-American was expected to attend the Exposition, and to bring someone with him. It is estimated that some 10,000 of them were in line, a pretty good showing for the first day considering the show is to last two weeks. The management expects twice that many to-day and to-night, and constantly increasing crowds as the days go by.

This is Merchants' day, and the Y. M. C. A. will have charge of the floor to-night.

PRESIDENT TAFT TOUCHES THE BUTTON.

Southern Electrical and Industrial Exposition Springs Into Being.

Our fondest hopes are realized. The only thing lacking when the exposition was opened was the approval of the public. This we have secured, I am sure. It only remains for the public to stamp the exposition for what it is worth by attending in numbers that will inspire Louisville business men to do even more to exploit the city and its enterprises.—F. W. Keisker, President Commercial Club.

A complaint could not be made by any reasonable man. Everything has begun in an augury of the greatest success any enterprise of the sort ever had. The officials believe that they have opened to the people of the United States the greatest show of its kind on the continent. It is up to the people to tell them whether or not they are right.—A. T. Macdonald, Secretary Commercial Club.

President Taft pushed the button in the White House at 2:45 o'clock and one hour earlier the exposition officers got the signal which formally opened the Southern Electrical and Industrial Exposition yesterday. The signal that went over the wire 500 miles in length, extending from the White House to the Armory, reached Louisville at 1:45 o'clock. Amid the tooting of sirens and the blowing of whistles, the crackling of wireless messages and the playing of Natiello's Band, the electrical exposition then began to run its course of twelve days. Officials of the three Falls Cities and State officers were on hand for the formalities which were to usher the realized dream of many weeks into life.

Everything was in readiness after the push of the button. The exhibitors were in their booths, the thousands of electric lights had blossomed into incandescence and the patrons of the show and the boosters of Louisville day were on hand to look, gaze and wonder. Everything and everybody was all "lit up" and the big exposition began to glide along on greased rails, smoothly and easily. Natiello and his band spent the afternoon carrying out their programme and Mlle. Marie Rossi, the band's soloist, sang a selection or two, which was hardly audible above the crash and din of sputtering "Jack Binnograms" and the babble of hundreds of voices. It was, all in all, a cross-section of modern commercial and industrial hum and activity extolling the virtues of the South and that marvelous wizard of the age—electricity.

Although President Taft did not push the little button which was to unlock the great quantities of potential energy contained in the Armory until 1:45 o'clock, Louisville time, Fred Keisker, the president of the exposition, began the opening ceremonies fifteen minutes earlier. It was not until the President placed the pressure of his hand on the far-distant key, however, that the myriad lights burst into a radiant shower of brilliancy, the machinery began to turn and Natiello turned loose his bandmen.

Mr. Keisker began by reading the following hopeful message from the President:

* * *

President Taft's Message.

"Fred W. Keisker, President of the Southern Electrical and Industrial Exposition Company, Louisville, Ky.: It affords me great pleasure to congratulate the business men of Louisville and Kentucky on the successful inauguration of the Southern Electrical and Industrial Exposition. I trust and believe that it will be of great importance and benefit not only to the cities immediately concerned, but to the whole South.

"W. H. TAFT."

After the Rev. Harlan K. Fenner had pronounced the invocation Mr. Keisker delivered the opening address. He dilated upon the pleasure of the exposition directors in having fulfilled their promises of punctiliousness. He dwelt upon the great benefits which would accrue to the Falls cities by virtue of the show, not forgetting the advantages that would come to tributary territory. Mr. Keisker expressed extreme regret that Gov. Willson was unable to attend the formal opening of the exposition. Gov. Willson was kept away because of the injuries which he suffered in the recent runaway in Frankfort. Gen. P. P. Johnston, Adjutant General of the Kentucky National Guard, represented the Governor. Gen. Johnston extended congratulations to the management of the exposition and praised the push and get-up of men having the nerve and enterprise to get behind a show of the kind which blazed before his eyes. He predicted that the exposition would be of inestimable benefit to the industries and enterprises of the entire Commonwealth.

Mayor Grinstead was the third speaker. He delivered a characteristic speech in which he said in substance:

"This is, indeed, a proud day for the city of Louisville. Its pride is in the exposition, and especially in the men who have executed it. Louisville welcomes to the gates of this exposition the citizens of all sections of the State and of the South, and especially the citizens of Southern Indiana. The city of Louisville also desires to express its appreciation of the co-operation of the citizens of New Albany and Jeffersonville in making this show a great success."

Mayor Best of New Albany was unable to attend because of illness. In his stead W. B. Creed did the honors of the occasion.

"We have learned a great deal by being associated with the business men of Louisville," said Mr. Creed. "This association has been as pleasant as it has been profitable. We want to continue this good-fellowship, and I want to say that New Albany will send the largest delegation of any city outside of the State."

* * *

Mayor Flynn Will Htlp.

Mayor Flynn of Jeffersonville closed the addresses on the part of the officers of the State and Falls cities.

"On behalf of the citizens of Jeffersonville, I want to thank you for the opportunity of participating in this exposition," began Mayor Flynn. "I think this event will do much in binding the commercial and industrial interests of the two cities together. I want to assure you we will do all we can to make it a thorough success."

The Exposition was dedicated at a happy little luncheon at The Seelbach, just prior to the formal opening. Those present at the tables adjourned to the armory at 1 o'clock. Here the pressing of the button by President Taft turned on the lights and started the machinery in operation, while Natiello's band boomed forth Mrs. A. T. Macdonald's "Exposition March." The big show was then in full swing.

Those present at The Seelbach dedication luncheon-dinner and who later went to the armory were Gen. P. P. Johnston, Secretary of State Ben L. Bruner, Judge Arthur Peter, J. L. Riehm, W. B. Creed, J. E. Marrst, R. Broaddus, Peyton N. Clarke, F. A. Clegg, Mayor James F. Grinstead, W. J. Baird, Jacob Best, Mayor of New Albany; Dr. Henry F. Tuley, R. W. Brown, E. H. Bacon, R. H. Bailey, W. W. Stouffer, Adam H. Heimberger, Fred Levy, H. J. Streng, George A. Newman, Jr., Ben Straus, F. M. Sackett, H. M. Frank, John C. Zulauf, McKenzie Todd, private secretary to Gov. Willson; J. J. Schayer, Col. J. H. Haager, Pendleton C. Beckley, Postmaster R. E. Woods, Sam P. Jones, G. W. Hubley, E. J. Kelmers, Fred W. Keisker, Julius V. Beckmann, F. C. Nunemacher, A. T. Macdonald and the Rev. Harlan K. Fenner.

CROWDS POUR INTO ARMORY AT NIGHT.

Find Electricity King Along Squares Leading To the Big Armory.

The opening night of the Southern Electrical and Industrial Exposition found the business section of Louisville in a perfect blaze of glory. In fact, electricity was king, and he ruled with a magic wand apparently from all quarters. Streams of electric bulbs and radiating lights swung over many of the street intersections, and from Fourth avenue and Walnut street to the Jefferson county armory at Sixth and Walnut streets, myriads of lights were so arranged on both sides of the streets as to show continuous lines of fire. Streams of bulbs covered the front of the mammoth structure in such a manner as to give the massive walls a refulgence that was most pleasing to the thousands that lined the streets from 7 o'clock until after 11 o'clock.

* * *

Crowds Gather Early.

Into the great building the moving throng began to pass early in the evening, there to see the wonders of electricity displayed in a more splendid, elaborate and a thousand times more complex and intricate manner. The scene that met the eyes of visitors as they entered the main exhibition hall was amazing. The wondrous sight, coupled with the music, kept the crowd in great good humor and surprised pleasure for nearly four hours.

Enough To Make Things Lively.

Souvenirs were given out at almost all the booths and in many instances interesting exhibitions were given by manufacturing plants on a small scale. Some of the electrical displays in the booths are nothing less than marvelous. Only a few booths were dark last night and they will be in shape with displays to-day and to-night. As a relief from exhibits of usefulness and beauty the building is dotted here and yonder with booths where refreshments can be had and happy moments spent in discussing the merits of the exposition. Unlike most expositions the noise last night was at a minimum. In fact, there are but few articles given away or sold in the building that make those usually heartrending and deafening sounds that make life miserable to many good people. Still, there is enough of everything lively and inspiring so as to prevent such a state of affairs as a single dull moment to the visitor.

* * *

Almost 10,000 In Crowd.

At the close of the show last night A. T. Macdonald, secretary of the exposition, said that about 10,000 people had visited the Armory during the afternoon and night. He said that the management was well satisfied with the opening day and that he was confident that the crowds would increase from day to day until the close of the exposition. While the bulk of the visitors yesterday to the exposition were local people yet at night many of the visitors were out-of-town people. New Albany and Jeffersonville furnished large crowds and the business men who are taking an interest in the exposition from those two cities say that Indiana people will patronize the show on a big scale from the opening to the close.

* * *

German-American Night.

The opening night was known as German-American night and hundreds of people who attended wore large blue badges which bore the words "German-American." Al Engelhard was chairman and he did the act to the queen's taste. He was a handy man at all times and could be seen often during the evening shaking hands with visitors and not forgetting to throw in a few words of praise of the German-American citizens of Louisville.

To-day will be known as Merchants' day. The Retail Merchants' Association, the Board of Trade and the Merchants' and Manufacturers' Association will do their best to make the day a feature in the history of the exposition. H. J. Streng is chairman of Merchants' day, and he will be on hand when the exposition doors are thrown open at 10 o'clock this morning to give everybody a glad welcome. In the afternoon and to-night the wholesale merchants will visit the show with their out-of-town customers as their guests. Many merchants from the State, Southern Indiana and throughout the South arrived last night and many more are expected to-day. The wholesale people of Louisville are going to show the visitors what Louisville is doing in the way of manufacturing and business and also demonstrate to them that when the Louisville people go into the show business they can make just as big a success as they have in other lines.

However, it is not to be understood that the visiting merchants to Louisville will only be shown the Exposition one day. Tickets have been procured by the wholesale merchants, and they will be distributed to merchants who come to the city during the twelve days of the Exposition. It is expected that large crowds of merchants from the South will be in attendance every night of the great show.

To-night will be known as Y. M. C. A. night. W. I. McNair, general secretary of the Louisville Young Men's Christian Association, will be in charge and will see

CUT OF 25 PER CENT. IN RATES

May Be Advocated by Democrats In Senate.

Senator Bailey's Suggestion Favorably Received.

Committee Strikes Out Tobacco Tax Amendment.

BRADLEY IS STILL HOPEFUL.

Washington, April 12.—(Special.)—With the idea of going on record before the country as advocating a reduction of the tariff the Democrats of the Senate are conferring upon a suggestion made by Senator Bailey, of Texas, which may take the form of a motion to recommit the bill with instructions to reduce all the duties 20 or 25 per cent. and provide for any corresponding loss in revenue by the substitution of an income tax.

The plan has its advantage in that it will make plain to the country that the Democrats are in favor of a reduction of tariff below the point desired by the Republicans, and in addition want at least a part of the burden to fall upon the wealthy class instead of entirely upon the consumer.

It is proposed to raise by the Payne-Aldrich bill about $300,000,000 of revenue. The Democratic plan would be to cut this to, say, $240,000,000, and make up the $60,000,000 by an income tax amendment. Senator Bailey is now giving his attention to this feature and hopes to be able to draft an amendment on that subject that will command the support of the minority.

* * *

Will Offer Amendments.

In the meantime, the Senate Democrats will by amendment on the floor of the Senate attempt to perfect the bill by equalizing duties and going on record against its sectional features. The Senate Democrats realize they are powerless to enact into law a tariff bill of their own making and that they can only adopt a general course of tariff reduction.

So good an authority as Senator Cullom, of Illinois, a member of the Finance Committee, gave it as his opinion to-day that the Payne-Aldrich bill as it will be sent to the White House will not greatly differ from the Dingley act now on the statute books. Senator Aldrich's report is that the Finance Committee while increasing the reductions leaves the major portion of the bill in tentative shape and virtually throws upon the Senate proper the framing of the measure which will go to conference.

* * *

Stanley Amendment Killed.

The amendment adopted through the effort of the Kentucky House members removing the tax of 6 cents on leaf tobacco in the hands of the farmer was stricken from the bill. It can be stated, however, on the authority of a member of the committee that the provision was not considered at all, but simply went out unprejudiced as one of the matters that the committee thought better to leave to the judgment of the Senate. So far as can be learned, however, Senator Aldrich has not modified the views he has heretofore expressed on this amendment.

Senator Bradley, of Kentucky, said to-day that he would use his best efforts to keep the House amendment in the bill. He has written to the Commissioner of Internal Revenue to obtain from him a statement as to how the enactment of the amendment into law will affect the revenues of the Government, and is preparing himself for a hard fight in behalf of the tobacco-growers.

* * *

Criticise Drawback Provision.

The drawback provision of the Payne bill is drawing considerable fire. It is said great harm will be worked by the provision, and that it will place a premium upon the purchase of raw materials abroad which the producer of the same raw materials in the United States cannot meet, and therefore work to the detriment of the home industry. It is declared that it will give the manufacturer who exports a tremendous advantage over the manufacturer who sells in the domestic market exclusively, and who will have to pay a duty on the same raw material that his competitor gets duty free.

For instance, the tobacco which is imported into this country for manufacture is cited. Upon this tobacco, of course, a duty is paid and a rebate check is issued against it. The United States exports many cigarettes, and under the provisions of the Payne bill any manufacturer of cigarettes can pull down the duty he paid on his imported tobacco used for domestic consumption by shipping abroad domestic cigarettes equal in value to the amount of the raw material imported.

The feature is said to be even so wide that a chocolate manufacturer might import a thousand tons of crude sugar to be used exclusively in the American markets. He would pay a duty on his importation. Should he within the next three years export materials containing 1,000 pounds of sugar raised and purchased in the United States he could go to the Treasury with his import certificates and withdraw the money paid for his imported sugar, despite the fact that the particular sugar did not enter into the manufacture of the article which he exported.

HICCOUGHS STOP WHEN HOME BURNS

EXCITEMENT OF FIRE PROVES GENUINE LIFE-SAVER TO JOSEPH HALL.

Columbus, Ind., April 12.—[Special.]—Excitement caused by the burning of his beautiful country home, ten miles southeast of here, this afternoon stopped the hiccoughs on Joseph Hall, from which he had suffered for the past two weeks. He hiccoughed constantly and his case had baffled the local physicians. He was carried from his burning home to the home of a neighbor, and on the way he suddenly ceased hiccoughing. The home with most of its contents was destroyed.

NO ACTION TOWARD REDUCTION OF WAGES.

New York, April 12.—After a meeting of the coal operators in this city to-day it was announced that no action had been taken looking toward a reduction in the wages of the miners.

A committee of eleven men was appointed to formulate a policy of dealing with the miners and report at a meeting of coal operators to be held on April 22. One of the questions which was said to have been under discussion at the meeting was that of a suspension of operations, but it was stated later that it was not decided to do so at present.

Accused of Embezzlement.

New Orleans, April 12.—Charging him with the embezzlement of $7,500 of the funds of Jefferson parish while he was secretary of the parish Police Board during 1908, an indictment was to-day returned against M. A. Daunhauer. Upon his arrest and plea of not guilty, Daunhauer was released under bond of $5,000. He is at present a Justice of the Peace of Jefferson parish, across the river from New Orleans.

GOVERNMENT ABANDONS HASKELL PROSECUTION.

Muskogee, Okla., April 12.—The statement was given out from the United States District Attorney's office here to-day that Special Attorney Sylvester Rush and District Attorney Grigg, at Tulsa, had decided to abandon any further prosecutions of Gov. Charles N. Haskell and the six other prominent Oklahomans recently involved in the Muskogee town lot case.

This course, it was stated, had been dictated from Washington. Following the quashing of the indictments against Haskell et al. at Tulsa, Saturday last, Attorney Rush referred the matter of further action to the Attorney General.

EAGLE SCREAMS WHILE SHERMAN WAVES FLAG

VICE PRESIDENT MAKES PATRIOTIC ADDRESS.

UTICA CHAMBER OF COMMERCE HOLDS BANQUET.

GROWTH OF NATION'S POWER.

Utica, N. Y., April 12.—The Utica Chamber of Commerce held the most successful annual banquet in the history of the organization to-night, when the honored guests and speakers were Vice President Sherman, United States Senator Thomas H. Carter, of Montana; Congressman Francis W. Cushman, of Washington, and Francis Sessions Hutchens, of New York. The latter spoke in a humorous vein.

The gathering represented the business and professional men of Utica, and the reception given to Mr. Sherman and other speakers was extremely cordial.

In responding to the toast "Our Country," Mr. Sherman recounted the elements of strength possessed by the United States, both in its actual material development, its possibilities for greater development and the moral force it is enabled to exert over the destinies of the world. Recounting the wars in which the country had been involved, every one of which, he declared, had behind it some exalted moral purpose, he said the nation had been devoting itself pretty assiduously to its commercial advancement.

Quoting some of the statistics showing the material growth of the country, he said the nation should have confidence in itself, as the world has confidence in it. The growth of the United States had been so enormous that it could no longer be demonstrated by comparing its industries, wealth and national strength with any other leading country in the world, nor even with a group of other countries. It was necessary to compare it with the remainder of the world.

"We have but 5 per cent. of the population of the earth," said Mr. Sherman. "Our nation possesses but 7 per cent. of the area of the earth and yet industrially we about equal one-half of the balance of mankind."

Mr. Sherman recounted the proportion of the great staples that are raised in the United States in comparison with all other portions of the world. "We have," he said, "twice as much life insurance as the rest of the world and one-half as much money on deposit in our savings banks as all the rest of the world. Our expenditure for education is two-thirds as much as is spent by all the rest of the world. One-third of all the revenue collected by Governments is ours, while our debt is but one-thirtieth of the debt of the world. We have enrolled in our schools twenty million students, seventeen million being in our public schools alone, for which we pay annually $200,000,000, which is more than is spent for educational purposes by the five greatest countries of Europe, including Great Britain."

The country, he declared, is not retrograding. Ambition as well as patriotism is indigenous to our soil.

"Ambition," he added, "is inspired by opportunity. Ambition and opportunity have inspired and developed genius. Genius has produced invention. Invention has enlarged opportunity and increased by bounds American production, American wealth and American power."

HEAD-ON COLLISION

ON INTERURBAN RAILWAY NEAR GARY, IND.

Ten Men Seriously Injured and a Score of Others Badly Hurt.

Gary, Ind., April 12.—Ten men were seriously injured and a score badly hurt in a head-on collision on the Chicago, Lake Shore and South Bend interurban line, two miles west of Gary, at 2 o'clock this afternoon. But one passenger on the eastbound car, which contained twenty people, who boarded it at Hammond, escaped without injury of some kind. The crash came as the eastbound car was running down grade at high speed from the elevated crossing over the Joliet cutoff. The front ends of the two cars were telescoped when they struck. Most of the male passengers were crowded in the smoking section, back of the motorman, and it was here that the most serious injuries resulted. A relief car was sent from Gary and ambulances were in waiting when it arrived here with the injured. Eight of the more seriously injured were hurried to the hospital here, where it was reported that all would recover. The following are the seriously injured:

R. L. Brown, motorman westbound car, head badly injured.

C. D. Corse, 571 Adams street, Chicago, leg broken and back injured.

Nick Micholich, Gary, leg broken.

A. Hatman, Michigan City, arm broken.

Billach Barteno, Indiana Harbor, both legs broken.

Eugene Bresen, Whiting, internal injuries.

George Barbich, Indiana Harbor, leg broken.

J. F. McCall, 3807 Indiana avenue, Chicago, both legs broken.

Samuel Payman, Hammond, leg broken.

FROM REPORTER TO CHIEF OF POLICE

E. F. DISHMAN, FORMERLY OF LOUISVILLE, NOW BOSS OF LOS ANGELES' FINEST.

Los Angeles, Cal., April 12.—[Special.]—From police reporter to Chief of Police is the jump into the limelight made by E. F. Dishman, who was appointed by Mayor Alexander and the Board of Police Commissioners as head of the local police department to-day. Up to a year ago Dishman had spent his entire life as police reporter. At that time Sheriff Hammerl, realizing that Dishman knew more about police methods as they should be than most of the officers, appointed him under-sheriff.

Dishman was born in New Albany, Ind., forty years ago. After working on the New Albany Tribune he went to Louisville and worked as reporter on the Times. He went to Spokane and worked on the Spokesman-Review for a year; then back to Louisville and then to Los Angeles, where has been police reporter on the Times for twelve years.

NEWMAN DOES NOT ACCEPT

Secretaryship Saddle Horse Breeders' Association.

Thinks Stockholders Should Settle Controversy.

Gen. Castleman Says Board Will Take Action.

LETTER GIVING REASONS.

After spending the day in Lexington, J. W. Newman, elected secretary of the American Saddle Horse Breeders' Association last week by what was known as the Castleman faction, returned to Louisville last night and mailed a letter to Gen. Castleman declining to accept the office. Mr. Newman says if the election had been practically unanimous, or if in accepting it he would not be identifying himself with a faction he would be proud to have the place. He does not believe, however, that the officers elected by either faction should serve, and he favors a meeting of the stockholders themselves at an agreed date in the future for a new deal all around. He believes the best interests of the saddle horse demand this.

Mr. Newman said while he was in Lexington yesterday he talked with a good many breeders of saddle horses representing both sides of the controversy.

* * *

Could Accomplish Nothing.

He said it was his opinion after talking with both sides to the trouble that nothing could be accomplished by his accepting the secretaryship.

"There are over three hundred stockholders in the association," said Mr. Newman, "and yet the meeting at which the storm broke had less than 20 per cent. of the stockholders present. These breeders should attend the meetings in person every year and safeguard their interests."

Gen. Castleman said last night that he hadn't received Mr. Newman's letter. He said he would take no action on the letter; that was a matter for the board of directors to attend to. He said he preferred to say nothing more until he had received Mr. Newman's letter.

It is as follows:

* * *

Mr. Newman's Letter.

April 12, 1909.—Gen. John B. Castleman, Louisville, Ky.—Dear Sir: Am in receipt of your esteemed favor notifying me of my election by your board of directors as secretary of the American Saddle Horse Breeders' Association. Could this election have come to me practically unanimous on the part of the stockholders, it would have given me great pleasure to accept it and aid in doing what I believe could be done for the American saddle horse.

As you know, I was was never a candidate for this office, and my election came unsolicited, which I regard as a great compliment, and for which I am very thankful, but I find the feeling is now so bitter between the factions that should I accept the secretaryship from either I would at once be classed as a partisan and a factional fighter. I am no partisan in this fight, and it has always been my policy to keep out of partisan difficulties as far as possible, especially involving other interests with which I am connected.

* * *

Stockholders Should Settle It.

In my opinion this dispute should be settled by the stockholders at a called meeting, where every stockholder, knowing the purpose of the meeting, could have the opportunity of voting his sentiments as prescribed in your by-laws and not by the courts. So strong is my conviction on this point that I write you this declination before the courts take action, for if placed in office by the court's decision I would feel that many stockholders would think I would not be entitled to the office. It has been my purpose and I have worked faithfully to bring about harmony in the interests of the breeders and save them unnecessary litigation and costs, as well as inconveniences that will naturally follow the association's affairs being thrown into the courts. Without expressing an opinion as to who is right or who is wrong, I have failed in this. If to the courts on technicalities it must go then it must go without my indorsement.

The greatest livestock interest the State of Kentucky has to-day is that of the saddle horse. He naturally should fall heir to the experience, paddocks, bluegrass pastures and affection that the thoroughbred so long has enjoyed. To his interest I am devoted and it is with great regret that I see his affairs get into such shape that the courts are called upon to pass upon them. His interest should be greater than that of any man or set of men and I hope to see the day in the near future when all stockholders will agree with me in this.

With the kindest feelings toward all and believing firmly in the ultimate prosperity of the saddle horse whatever may be the outcome of this litigation, I must in the interests of all concerned respectfully decline to act as secretary. Respectfully submitted,

J. W. NEWMAN.

HABEAS CORPUS WRIT

SECURES DISCHARGE OF PUBLISHERS OF HEARST PAPER.

Justice Gerard Holds Them Not Responsible For the Rockefeller Article.

New York, April 12.—The writ of habeas corpus secured in behalf of S. S. Carvalho, Bradford Merrill and Edward H. Clark, officers of the Star Company, publishers of the New York American and Evening Journal, in the action brought against them for criminal libel, on complaint of John D. Rockefeller, Jr., was upheld by Justice Gerard in the Supreme Court to-day and the defendants ordered discharged.

Mr. Rockefeller had complained of the publication in the New York American of December 17, 1908, of an article wrongly accusing him of having originated a peonage system to which the employes of a certain breakfast food company in Illinois were alleged to have been subjected.

The article, which was promptly disavowed the next day when a full retraction of all the objectionable allegations was printed, recited that part of the system for which Mr. Rockefeller was held responsible consisted in the keeping of workmen in a stockade, guarded by armed sentries and inclosed by a high fence along which charged electric wires were run.

In his opinion Justice Gerard characterized the article as a gross and vicious libel, the writers and publishers of which should be brought to trial, but finds that no evidence exists to show that Messrs. Carvalho, Merrill and Clark had anything to do with its writing or publication. The decision affirms the principle that the officers of a corporation which publishes a newspaper are not liable to criminal prosecution for libels printed in the newspaper simply because of the fact that they are such officers and without any further proof to connect them with the management of the newspaper.

"When a corporation has published a libel," says Justince Gerard in his decision, "every person who at the time of the publication is in any way engaged in the actual management of the corporation, is subject to prosecution. But some proof of actual management must be made to hold any person for trial."

DAILY DEFICIT GROWS STEADILY SMALLER.

Customs Receipts Increasing, But Internal Revenue Collections Are Not Doing So Well.

Washington, April 12.—Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Coolidge, in speaking to-day of customs, in regard to revenue and other Treasury receipts and of expenditures this year, said the daily deficit is steadily diminishing. He said:

"The daily average receipts from customs from January 1 to April 10 were $1,071,861. This is nearly up to the average for the corresponding period of 1907, which was $1,144,657. The average for the corresponding period of 1908 was only $890,072. The returns from internal revenue have not been so favorable. The average daily receipts since January 1 have been $750,223, as against $773,078 for the corresponding period of 1908, and $853,320 for the corresponding period of 1907.

"The average daily total receipts from all sources have been $2,007,889, as against $1,897,134 in 1908 and $2,198,577 in 1907. The average daily total expenditure has been $2,303,800, as against $2,266,400 in 1908 and $1,855,500 in 1907. The daily deficit has continued to diminish steadily. The average daily deficit since July 1, 1908, has been $374,900. Since January 1, 1909, it has been $295,900. Since February 10, 1909, it has been $115,700. Since March 10, 1909, it has been $63,200. Since April 1 the average daily surplus has been $63,959.

"If the average daily deficit since February 10, when the improvement in customs receipts began to be noticeable, should continue until June 30, the total deficit for the fiscal year will be $96,837,170, as against the deficit of $114,000,000 estimated at the beginning of the last session of Congress, while if the average since March 10 continues, the total at the end of the fiscal year will be $93,203,082."

CASTRO'S WIFE NOT ALLOWED TO LAND

GUADELOUPE REACHES LA GUAYRA, BUT PASSES THAT PORT WITHOUT LANDING.

Washington, April 12.—Mrs. Castro, wife of the former President of Venezuela, also is being kept out of that country. Dispatches from the American diplomatic representatives in Venezuela announce that Mrs. Castro, with her party on the Guadeloupe, from which the former President debarked at Fort de France, arrived at La Guayra on Saturday. They were not permitted to land or to communicate with shore. As an added precaution, the Guadeloupe was not docked, but proceeded onward for the next stop, a Colombian port. It is apparent the effort is to keep Mrs. Castro from any direct communication with her husband's former political friends in Venezuela.

Made No Attempt To Land.

Pointe-a-Pitre, Guadeloupe, April 12.—The French Line steamer Versailles, with former President Castro on board, called here to-day on her way from Fort de France to France. Castro did not attempt to come ashore.

ENORMOUS DECLINE

IN RAILWAY EARNINGS FOR YEAR ENDING JUNE 30.

Decrease In Gross Is Estimated By Statistical Publication At $330,000,000.

Chicago, April 12.—An advance abstract of Statistics of American Railways for the year ending June 30, 1908, as compiled by the Bureau of Railway News and Statistics, was made public here to-day by Slason Thompson, manager of the bureau. The report says:

Instead of a decrease of only $164,464,941 in gross earnings as the result of the "temporary financial depression" of 1907-08, as set forth in the preliminary income report of the Interstate Commerce Commission for the year ending June 30, 1908, the panic of 1907 resulted in a loss of over $330,000,000. This statement is based on a table giving the earnings for the twelve months ending November 30, 1908, when the full effect of the business depression became evident, with the preceding twelve. This avoids the error of including the fattest months in railway history in the same year with the lean months that followed it.

"In the same way the loss in net earnings is shown to have been $129,540,460, instead of $111,051,006, as given in the commission's statement. The two-cent passenger fare legislation caused a loss of $25,000,000 in gross earnings, although more passengers were carried. This is accounted for by a reduction in average receipts per passenger mile on 94 per cent. of the mileage from 2.014 cents in 1907 to 1.932 in 1908.

"The heavy loss in net earnings is partly accounted for by the expenditure of approximately $32,000,000 necessitated by arbitrary innovations in accounting methods and requirements in regard to the hours and conditions of labor of certain classes of employes."

Toledo, O., April 12.—D. D. Fennell, former educational director of the Toledo Y. M. C. Fennell was last heard of in Columbus, O., and for two weeks his whereabouts was unknown.

He entered a plea of not guilty, and was committed to jail without bail for a hearing next Thursday.

BILL REPORTED TO THE SENATE

Daniel Protests Against Action of Majority.

Adjournment Is Taken Until Thursday.

House Asks To Have Measure Returned.

TO CORRECT OIL SCHEDULE.

Washington, April 12.—The tariff bill was to-day reported by Mr. Aldrich from the Committee on Finance to the Senate, and on Thursday it will be taken up for consideration. Senator Daniel led the Democratic criticism of the reporting of the bill to the Senate without affording the Democratic members an opportunity to inspect it. Senator Aldrich replied that to have proceeded otherwise would have entailed long delay, and reminded the members of the minority that the Republican majority alone would be held responsible for the tariff legislation to be enacted by this Congress.

The message from the House asking for the return of the bill reached the Senate too late for action.

In reporting the tariff bill from the Committee on Finance, Senator Aldrich moved that when the Senate adjourned it be to meet on Thursday, and he gave notice that he would then ask for the Senate to proceed with its consideration.

Daniel Protests Against Treatment.

Senator Daniel interrupted, stating that the minority of the committee had had no chance to consider the tariff bill. They had, he said, no opportunity to vote on anything in connection with it except on the motion to report it to the Senate, on which, he said, they had voted "no." As all of the Republicans voted to report the bill, the minority objections were futile.

Continuing his statement in the Senate, Mr. Daniel said he had been told that it had been customary for the Committee on Finance to proceed in this manner, but he protested that such a method of doing the business excluded the minority from all right to consider the measure at a most important period of the framing of the bill. The Democrats, he said, had a right to be present at the time when the bill was under discussion in the committee.

"This practice," said Mr. Daniel, "is oppressive, tyrannous and is an impediment to the full discharge of the public duties of Senators."

Senator Culberson inquired whether the bill had been read by the committee before it was reported to the Senate to-day.

"I would say," replied Mr. Aldrich, "that if the bill had been taken up paragraph by paragraph by the committee it would have been impossible to report it before a month, and in view of the conditions in this country, the majority of the committee considered it better to report the bill and allow it to be discussed in the Senate."

* * *

Refuses To Answer.

Mr. Culberson asked whether the minority on the committee had had a chance to read the bill before they voted on it, and Mr. Aldrich reminded him that he could not enter on a discussion of what took place in the committee.

Senators Bailey and Bacon joined in protesting against the method of the majority in reporting the bill. Mr. Aldrich replied the bill was reported by the majority on the committee, and the majority party would be held responsible for the tariff legislation.

Senator Newlands spoke briefly on an amendment offered by him for a gradual reduction of all tariff duties until they shall amount to only 45 per cent. ad valorem.

Notices of a proposed amendment to the tariff bill was given by Mr. Daniel, the purpose of which was to impose a tax of one-quarter of 1 per cent. on the gross receipts of the corporations of the country. On his motion, the amendment was referred to the Committee on Finance.

The Senate then went into executive session.

FOWLER MAY BE SHELVED.

Speaker Considering Reorganizing Banking Committee.

Washington, April 12.—Much speculation is heard at the Capitol concerning the new Committee on Banking and Currency, which will be appointed by Speaker Cannon along with the other committees of the House, probably on the last day of the special session. It is freely predicted that the Speaker will reorganize the committee from head to foot.

Inasmuch as the Aldrich commercial paper bill, enacted into law by the Sixtieth Congress, is regarded as a temporary measure, it is expected that the new committee will be called upon to solve some very important financial questions, and assignments to it therefore are anxiously sought.

Representative Charles N. Fowler, of New Jersey, has been chairman of the committee for several years. For some time, however, he has been in sharp conflict with Speaker Cannon. Mr. Fowler's reappointment as chairman of the committee two years ago was the subject of much consideration. Since that time Mr. Fowler has done little to heal the breach between himself and the Speaker.

The New Jersey member was the only Republican who announced his candidacy to succeed Mr. Cannon as Speaker of the Sixty-first Congress. The fact that he did not make a campaign for the position was not due to any regard for the ambitions of Mr. Cannon, it is understood. Mr. Fowler was one of the "insurgents" who caused so much trouble for the Republican organization in the fight for the adoption of rules for the House. However Mr. Fowler's high standing as an authority on finance, and his general ability may again prove factors strong enough to retain the chairmanship for him.

If the Speaker decides to reorganize the committee it is believed he will select Representative Edward B. Vreeland, of New York, to head it. Mr. Vreeland has never been a member of the committee, but he achieved signal honor a year ago by procuring the passage through the House of a bill he had drafted on the currency question which was later superseded by the Aldrich bill. Speaker Cannon then made him chairman of the House delegation on the Monetary Commission which is investigating the currency question.

Vacancies on the committee occur through the retirement from the House of former Representatives Weems and Burton, of Ohio; Waldo, of New York; Lewis, of Georgia; Crawford, of North Carolina, and the death of former Representative Powers, of Maine.

Piazza and Bloom Have Heated Controversy.

Former Says Latter Has Six Teachers As Patients.

School Board President Denies Assertion.

ADOPT COMMITTEE REPORT.

A word fight between Dr. I. N. Bloom, president of the Louisville School Board, and Joseph Piazza, a trustee, marked the close of last night's session, called for the purpose of taking action on the budget of estimated receipts and disbursements for 1909. After the report of the finance committee, submitted by Trustee Varble, had been adopted by a vote of 11 to 2, Trustee Piazza attempted to introduce a resolution providing that the board adjourn to meet again April 26 to fix the salaries of employes of the board and stipulating that the election of teachers, principals and janitors be held in May prior to the election of the superintendent and secretary. Dr. Bloom declared that only business pertaining to the report submitted by the finance committee could be transacted and informed Mr. Piazza that the resolutions must bear the signatures of three trustees before they could be considered. While the latter was busy getting signatures of two other trustees Dr. Bloom declared the meeting adjourned and the trouble between himself and Mr. Piazza was on.

Hostilities were opened by Mr. Piazza immediately after the trustees had risen from the seats and while they were preparing to leave the building. Addressing Dr. Bloom, he asked why he was denied the opportunity of calling the meeting.

* * *

Explains His Ruling.

"We can only transact such business as is stated in the call," replied Dr. Bloom. "This meeting was called for a special purpose."

"I was exercising my right when I asked for a meeting, but you would not recognize me. I want to tell you now that your college education does not make you any better than anybody else," said Mr. Piazza, hotly.

"That's not fair," coolly replied Dr. Bloom.

To this Trustee Piazza replied that he was as fair in his remarks as Dr. Bloom had been toward the members of the board. He declared with emphasis that Dr. Bloom spoke of prostitution of office at the last meeting and concluded with the charge that Dr. Bloom is realizing as much patronage from the School Board as any other member.

"I know of six teachers at least in the public schools who you are attending," was Mr. Piazza's parting shot.

"You can't name one," said Dr. Bloom.

Trustee Piazza stoutly maintained that he knew of six teachers, and announced that he would divulge their names at the right time.

"You are at liberty to tell all you know about me," snapped Dr. Bloom. "I stand in no fear of the result. All I ask is that you have your say in public. You can tell all you know right now if you like. You have an audience."

* * *

Biding His Time.

Trustee Piazza assured Dr. Bloom that it would come when the time is ripe. He then declared, looking Dr. Bloom straight in the eye, that the latter had been trying to control the School Board. He said:

"You have been trying to run this board, and I, for one, do not intend to stand for it."

"That's right," chimed in Dr. O. H. Haase.

"I am not trying to run anything," was Dr. Bloom's reply.

"Did you not come to me and try to get my signature to the new rules adopted by the board some time ago?" queried Mr. Piazza.

"I did, the same as I did the other members of the board," said Dr. Bloom. "I believed those rules were fair and as the presiding officer I do not hesitate to ask the trustees to vote for something that in my judgment will serve to benefit the schools."

"But I told you I did not think they were fair and therefore would not vote in favor of their adoption, and still you tried to influence me again," said Mr. Piazza.

"Well," said Dr. Bloom, "I will deal with you in the open, and I give you fair warning at the next meeting of the board I intend to tell what I know of you and your schools. I intend to do my duty and I will not allow anyone to intimidate me."

During the course of this argument nearly all of the trustees were grouped about the two men who stood within a foot of each other, looking each other in the eye without flinching. Dr. Bloom appeared to be the calmer of the two, but it was conceded on all sides that the honors were about even. The entire controversy did not consume more than seven minutes.

* * *

Session a Brief One.

The session last night was brief. It was called to order by Dr. Bloom at 8:30 o'clock. After the official call was read, stating that the meeting was called for the purpose of acting on the budget of estimated receipts for 1909 Trustee Varble of the finance committee, submitted his report. In doing so he explained that in the salary account a sum of $21,704 was added over last year's estimate.

Before a vote was taken on the report Trustee Piazza asked if it was based on last year's account or on the proposed cut. Mr. Varble explained that it had not been based on the proposed cut, and Dr. Borgman asked if it had been considered. He said:

"If the proposed cut is going to be considered at all it is time we were doing it."

Dr. Borgman then sat down, but added if the report of the committee was intended for a railroad proposition they they could go ahead with it.

Dr. Borgman's brief remarks closed the debate and the matter was put to a vote. Dr. Bloom, Trustees Coker, Gottschalk, Haack, Klein, Piazza, Procter, Reitze, Remmet, Shafer and Varble voted in favor of the adoption of the report, while Trustees Borgman and Domeck cast their ballots against it. Following this the meeting was adjourned and the trouble between Dr. Bloom and Trustee Piazza began.

confusion incident to the passage of the bill Friday last. It was believed that this provision was embodied in it, but it developed that such was not the case, although it clearly was the intention to include these products along with crude and refined petroleum. The House especially authorized its enrolling clerk to make the correction and he can make the change within a few minutes. It will therefore cause no delay in tariff legislation. It is understood the Senate will not object to such return of the measure.

There was much opposition to two resolutions, one to appoint several janitors and the other to appropriate for the expenses of the Household at the extra session. The first was defeated by being laid on the table and the second was adopted only after Mr. Macon, of Arkansas, had forced a rollcall on a point of no quorum. Two hundred and twenty-six members responded to their names, which was considerably more than a quorum.

After sending the census bill to conference the House adjourned until Thursday.

TWO NEGROES ARRESTED ON CHARGE OF ROBBERY.

Henry Green and Janier Green, colored, were arrested at Hancock and Green streets at 6:30 o'clock last night by Detectives Brown and Fow on a charge of robbery. It is alleged that the negroes held up and robbed John Owsley, of 937 East Marshall street, of $12, in an alley between Market and Jefferson and Hancock and Jackson streets, at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon. The arrests were made on description furnished by Owsley. The negroes denied knowing anything about the robbery and the police were unable to find Owsley to make sure of identification.

Five Years

of Heart Trouble Cured by Dr. Miles' Heart Remedy

"Before I began taking Dr. Miles' Heart Remedy I had been suffering from heart trouble for over five years. I had pains in my left side, and under my shoulder blade, could not sleep on the left side, and was so short of breath the least exertion would bring on the most distressing palpitation. I had scarcely taken a half bottle of the Heart Remedy before I could see a marked change in my condition. When I had taken six bottles I was cured."

MRS. C. C. GORKEY, Northfield, Va.

If there is fluttering or palpitation it is an indication of a weakness of the nerves and muscles of the heart. It is not necessarily diseased—just weak from over-work. The heart may be weak just the same as the eyes, stomach or other organs. You can make a weak heart strong by taking Dr. Miles' Heart Remedy. Get a bottle from your druggist, take it according to directions, and if it does not benefit he will return your money.

JESSE BOWLING IS AGAIN IN THE TOILS

ACCUSED OF URGING COMPANION TO SHOOT DR. PURDOM.

WALTER MONEY SAID TO HAVE MADE CONFESSION.

YOUTH "SWEATED" IN JAIL.

Jesse Bowling, of 1829 West Jefferson street, was arrested last night for the second time on complaint of Dr. J. F. Purdom, chairman of the board of trustees of the Twenty-second and Walnut-street Baptist church. It is alleged that he urged a companion to shoot Dr. Purdom when he came to prayer-meeting on the evening of April 7. The specific charge against young Bowling is breach of the peace and carrying concealed a deadly weapon.

"Dr. Purdom is a —— fool. If you don't think so, just ask some of the fellows around the church and you will find out. Amen"—was the verse which was found in a hymn book at the Twenty-second and Walnut-street Baptist church several weeks ago. Dr. Purdom put the case in the hands of Col. Haager, who in turn gave the case to Lieut. Foster. Bowling's arrest followed, and in Police Court he was fined $5 and placed under a $200 bond for six months. Through the intercession of Dr. Purdom the fine was suspended and young Bowling was released on his own recognizance.

Several days ago Dr. Purdom says he learned that his life had been threatened, and again put the case in the hands of Lieut. Foster, whom he supplied yesterday afternoon with the names of the two boys said to have been implicated.

Detectives Young and Rice were sent to the homes of Bowling, and Walter Money, of 522 East Breckinridge street, and both were taken to the fourth district police station, where Dr. M. P. Hunt, pastor of the church; Dr. Purdom, and Maj. Burke, Night Chief of Police, called later. Money, it is said, in the presence of these persons made a confession.

According to the alleged confession, Bowling purchased a bottle of whisky following his release from jail, and, accompanied by Money, went to the church at Twenty-second and Walnut streets, where prayer-meeting was being held. Money is said to have told the police that those present at the "sweating" that Bowling urged him to take a revolver of .32 caliber and shoot at Dr. Purdom when he came out of the church, but he refused to kill and not let his finger catch on the trigger.

According to the alleged confession, Money refused and dragged Bowling away from the church and out Twenty-second street.

Money was not detained by the police. Bowling last night admitted having written the undesirable verse in the song book, but denied the charge made against him last night.

Both boys are about 21 years of age, and, according to Dr. Hunt, are members of his church.

COUNTY SALOONKEEPERS CHARGED WITH LID TILTING.

REHEARING DENIED WALTERS-PIERCE OIL CO.

Washington, April 12.—The Supreme Court of the United States to-day denied a motion for a rehearing in the case of the Waters-Pierce Oil Company, in which the Supreme Court affirmed a decision by the Texas courts imposing a fine of $1,600,000 on the company and ousting it from the State.

BILL ANALYZED

Many Changes In Payne Tariff Schedules.

SENATOR ALDRICH GIVES HIS COMMITTEE'S VIEWS.

OTHER AMENDMENTS TO BE BROUGHT IN LATER.

INCREASE MANY LUXURIES.

Washington, April 12.—The amended tariff bill is now on the Senate calendar and by an agreement reached on the floor consideration of the measure will begin on Thursday. The bill was laid before the Finance Committee with the Democratic members present at 10 o'clock this morning, and after thirty minutes' parleying a vote was taken on the question of making a report to the Senate to-day, all of the Republicans reporting in the affirmative and the Democrats in the negative.

Soon after the Senate met Senator Aldrich presented the amended bill. Senator Daniel on behalf of the minority protested that the Democrats had not been given an opportunity to examine the measure, and Mr. Alrich replied that they could make their examination by Thursday. He said, also, that as the majority is responsible for the bill its course in hastening the report was warranted.

* * *

All Changes Not Included.

As reported, the bill does not contain all of the changes in rates which the Finance Committee proposes to make. Although several important amendments, such as the restoration of the Dingley rates on women's gloves and hosiery, the placing of works of art on the free list, and the assessment of a duty on iron ore have been made, the revenue-producing possibilities of the bill are little changed.

The increases are provided mainly in the schedule covering luxuries, the entire liquor schedule being materially advanced. The increase on wines and spirits is expected to bring in about $3,000,000 additional revenue.

Senator Aldrich said that the committee realizes that the increases thus far recommended will not be sufficient to counterbalance the loss in revenues that will result from the reductions and the lengthening of the free list. This shortage will necessitate further increases on certain luxuries and the committee intends to report some changes at an early date which it will ask the Senate to adopt.

* * *

Will Provide Sufficient Revenue.

In discussing the revenue features of the bill, Senator Aldrich insisted that it will be amended by the Senate the Payne bill will provide sufficient funds to meet the expenses of the Government without resorting to any but import taxes. In this connection those articles which the Government purchases in large quantities in foreign markets are to be provided with lower rates of duty. This is in accordance with the plan recently launched in the Senate through the appointment of the new Committee on Public Expenditures, to reduce the running expenses of the Government.

The maximum and minimum provisions or administrative features, which include additional forms of taxation, were reported in the bill to-day. These sections of the measure are to receive the joint consideration of the Republican and Democratic members of the Finance Committee and may not be reported for three weeks or more. Several of the revenue features are dependent upon the action which the committee will take in regard to these sections. Besides the dutiable and free lists, the only additional provision of the Payne bill reported to-day was the Philippine free-trade provision.

* * *

New Draft of Section.

While not changing the purport of the Philippine section, the committee's report included a new draft of this provision by which its successful operation will be assured. It had been suggested that the provision for the free entry of 300,000 tons of sugar and 200,000 pounds of tobacco would permit the importation under such limitations of products from neighboring islands through their importation into the Philippines. This danger has been eliminated by making these products dutiable when imported into the Philippines.

Changes were made in the cotton and wool schedules of interest largely to the manufacturers of cotton and woolen cloths. The action of the Finance Committee in maintaining the high rate of duty which it placed on cloths at the time the Dingley bill was under consideration and which now stands in the present law, will undoubtedly reopen the controversy on the wool schedules. The intent of the Dingley law regarding the assessment of duties on cotton cloth has been carried out through a change in the provision for the method to be used in counting the threads in cotton cloths. The new proviso and the rearrangement of the duties on the various grades of cloths eliminates the ambiguity resulting in many difficulties in carrying out the provisions of the existing law, without changing the ad valorem equivalent of the specific duties.

Bid For Popularity.

By restoring the Dingley rates to barley and barley malt and by reducing the taxation on the breakfast table by cutting down the duties on coffee substitutes and placing cocoa on the free list the Senate amendments to the Payne bill present a bid for popular favor. The numerous increases in the agricultural schedule intended for the protection of the American farmer and provided for among the amendments largely through the efforts of Senator McCumber, a new member of the committee from the West, were framed with a view to gaining favorable criticism.

RE-ELECTED

President of Anti-Tuberculosis Association.

W. C. NONES AGAIN HEADS THE ORGANIZATION.

DELIVERS INTERESTING ADDRESS AT ANNUAL MEETING.

SECRETARY READS REPORT.

The annual meeting of the Louisville Anti-Tuberculosis Association, which was held last night at the Louisville Free Public Library, was largely attended by the members, and the reports of President W. C. Nones and Secretary F. A. Sampson were heard with deep interest. Addresses were made by several persons interested in the work of stamping out the "great white plague." The election of officers for the ensuing year resulted in most of the old officers being re-elected. The re-election of W. C. Nones as president without opposition was greeted with applause. Officers were elected as follows:

President, W. C. Nones; first vice president, B. Bernheim; second vice president, Mrs. George P. Avery; third vice president, S. A. Hartwell, Jr.; fourth vice president, Thomas D. Osborne; directors, W. C. Nones, B. Bernheim, Mrs. George P. Avery, Dr. S. A. Hartwell, Jr., Thomas D. Osborne, C. L. Adler, Dr. Dunning S. Wilson, Dr. Frank Wilson, Bernard Flexner, Thomas A. Bohan, the Rev. W. H. Ramsay, Dr. J. A. Flexner, Fred W. Keisker, Rush C. Watkins, L. J. Dittmar, Hardy Burton, Mrs. Stella Wehle, Kenneth McDonald, W. S. Parker, Miss Jennie C. Benedict, Thomas E. Basham, Mrs. Charles P. Weaver, A. T. Macdonald, Miss M. K. Keating.

In his annual report, President Nones said that the annex for tubercular patients at the city hospital is in operation, and although the modern sanatoria methods are not in operation, yet an important work is being done. In the course of his report, President Nones said:

President Nones' Address.

"In order to pave the way for the State organization to be formed, without having its name conflict with the name of this association, our articles of incorporation have been recently amended, changing our name from the Kentucky Anti-Tuberculosis Association to the Louisville Anti-Tuberculosis Association, and our amended articles of incorporation have also been perfected in other ways, to more fully adapt them to our purposes, and new laws also have been adopted conforming to the changes in the amended articles of incorporation.

"It is expected that under the auspices of the Lexington organization, and of our organization, the State society or association will be organized during the present calendar year, to carry on the work of fighting the disease throughout the State at large.

"There are now eighty-five patients under the care of the dispensary physician and nurse, and the number will, in all probability, increase largely during the coming year.

"I again repeat the statements made in my last annual report, to the effect that evidences abound on every hand showing excellent results from the educational campaign and crusade we have waged against the ravages of the disease in this community. More than ever before people are sleeping with windows wide open. There is less resort to patent medicine nostrums as curative agents for the disease than ever before, and evidences exist on every hand that the people of our community generally are taking the right precautions to prevent the spread of the disease and have learned a great deal about the proper methods of living, to avoid falling victims to it."

Fewer Deaths From Disease.

Secretary Sampson in his report showed that the association now has a membership of 646, and an annual income of $2,903. On April 1 there was cash on hand in the general fund amounting to $2,734.11. In the John T. Williams fund on April 1 there was $41.37. In addition, there is a fund of $462.26, the net proceeds of the Christmas-stamp sales in Western Kentucky, which will be used for organizing the movement throughout that section. The report says that the close of the year 1905, the first year of the movement in Louisville, showed the number of deaths from tuberculosis for the year to be 541. There has been a decrease since, and the report of the city Health Department for the year 1908 shows only 494 deaths from tuberculosis.

Accident Proves Fatal.

Fred Russell, aged 29 years, who was a switch tender and lived with his brother at Thirty-eighth and Market streets, died last night at 7:30 o'clock at the city hospital from injuries received last Friday while climbing an iron fence. He slipped and fell on one of the iron points. He leaves a brother, Charles Russell.

WORKMAN HELD UP AND RELIEVED OF VALUABLES.

J. Walker Victim of Two White Men Who Get Away With Watch and Money.

On his way from a barbershop Saturday night, J. Walker, who is employed on the southern outfall sewer, was held up at the point of a revolver on Broadway, near Twenty-first street, and robbed of $21 and his gold watch. Walker reported to the police that at 10:30 o'clock two white men came up from behind him. One of the highwaymen covered him with a revolver, while the other relieved him of his valuables.

At about the time the holdup occurred Patrolmen Sparks and Brockman were at Twenty-second street. They, however, heard no outcry from the victim, but were notified a few minutes later by the latter. The two patrolmen caught sight of the two robbers, who were well dressed, and pursued them out Twenty-second street to Maple street, where the footpads made good their escape. The police were furnished with a description of the robbers and are still looking for them.

GAS FUMES

Prove Fatal To Boilermaker's Helper.

CHARLES WALDRON OVERCOME WHILE WELDING RIVETS.

SUCCUMBS AT HOME SURROUNDED BY FAMILY.

WIFE PROSTRATED BY GRIEF.

Charles H. Waldron, 50 years of age, who was a helper in the boiler repair room at the Louisville and Nashville railroad shops, was overcome by force gas while driving rivets in a boiler at 11 o'clock yesterday morning. He was taken to his home, 1035 Lydia street, at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon and at 6:30 o'clock he died.

Waldron's duty as a helper to a boilermaker required that he get into the boilers and, with small percussion hammer and brazier weld and tighten the rivets. This work he was doing when he was overcome by gas. It will never be known exactly how the accident happened, but those who were working with Waldron first noticed that something was wrong when the pounding of the implements within the huge iron tube ceased.

Investigation was immediately made, and Waldron was found lying on the bottom of the boiler. He was taken out and quickly removed to the hospital maintained at the shops. Dr. T. Y. Roberts, the company's physician, was called. When he arrived at the shops Waldron was conscious and doing nicely in the care of a nurse, according to the doctor's statement. He stayed with the patient for half an hour, saw that respiration and heart action were good, and then came back into town.

At 2 o'clock Waldron again lapsed into unconsciousness, and when it was seen that he was in a precarious condition attendants at the company's hospital placed him in the private ambulance and took him home.

The first word of the accident that Waldron's family had was when the driver of the ambulance knocked at the door and directed Mrs. Waldron to prepare a bed for her husband. Then the silent form, covered with a white mantle, was taken into the house and the railroad men departed.

The family physician, Dr. Robert Fallis, was summoned, but Waldron was past help, and all efforts to revive him were futile.

Pall Over Little Home.

A pall lay over the modest little home last night. The mother and seven fatherless children sat stricken by grief. Sympathetic friends, many of them workmen in the same establishment, formed in a circle around the sitting-room and talked in undertones. Mrs. Waldron was so overcome that she could scarcely talk, and two of the smaller children, unable to comprehend fully the trouble which had come upon them, wept softly with their mother, as they clung to her skirts. The older children, particularly the girls, openly grieved, for they understood just what it meant to lose their father.

Sobbing as she spoke, the widow tried to describe what a grinding life it was at which her husband worked. Every morning, eating breakfast before daylight, he left home at 6 o'clock and did not return to his home until nearly 7 o'clock at night. And all day long it was pounding and welding in smothering heat on the inside of huge locomotive boilers. Work that caused a man to return to his fireside so weary that he often could not eat.

Waldron was born in Maryland, and came to Louisville about three years ago. He had been working for the Louisville and Nashville railroad in the shops for nearly two years. Besides his wife, he is survived by seven children—Mrs. Clarence Tucker, Rosa Waldron, Charles Waldron, Jr., Elmore Waldron, Bertha Waldron, Harry Waldron and Robert Waldron. One brother, Arthur Waldron, a fireman stationed at the No. 18 engine house, also survives.

Up to a late hour last night the Coroner, Dr. Charles J. Groves, had not been called or notified of the death of Waldron.

NARROW ESCAPE

FOR FIREMEN WHILE FIGHTING FIERCE BLAZE.

Handsome House, Owned By Ernest Kettig, Goes Up In Flames—Loss $6,000.

During a fire, which destroyed an unoccupied, handsome colonial frame residence, at Varble avenue and Kettig Court, valued at $5,500 by the owner, Ernest Kettig, superintendent of Shawnee Park, five firemen had a narrow escape from death or serious injury when a chimney, twenty-five feet high, fell within a few feet of where the men were working.

The fire, believed to have been caused by badly insulated wires, was first discovered by Henry Young, a neighbor. He saw the roof burning and notified Mr. Kettig, who caused an alarm to be sounded at 8:51 o'clock. Despite the long distance from the engine houses, the first men were soon on the scene, but were handicapped in getting a line of hose laid to the scene of the fire. The nearest water plug was 1,500 feet away.

Finally a line of hose was laid to the burning residence, but the flames were beyond control. The attention of the firefighters was turned to the stables in the rear, which, by hard work, were saved from destruction. Capt. Alex. Bache, of the No. 5 engine company; William Bundschu and Thomas Devine, pipemen of the same company; William Gardner, of the No. 4 trucks, and John Hanlon, a pipeman of the No. 12 engine company, were working in the cellar at the base of the chimney when a heavy gust of wind caused the pile of bricks to topple and fall. Although bricks and mortar fell about them and the helmets of several were knocked off, all of the firemen escaped injury. They probably owe their lives to the fact that they were on the west side of the chimney.

The stables and residence were erected by Mr. Kettig at a cost of $6,000, and were completed about four weeks ago.

Mr. Kettig said last night that he carried only a small amount of insurance.

G. A. R. TO OBSERVE MOTHER'S DAY MAY 9.

All Members of Organization Called Upon To Wear White Carnations On That Occasion.

Gen. Henry M. Nevius, Commander-in-Chief of the G. A. R., has, in his Memorial day order to Grand Army men, paid the following tribute to American mothers, and has asked his comrades to honor them and themselves by wearing a white carnation on Mothers' day, and by otherwise observing the spirit of the day:

"Through the instrumentality of Miss Anna Jarvis, of Philadelphia, Pa., last year, the second Sunday in May was observed, or set apart, as Mothers' day, and services were held in many churches, and between 5,000,000 and 6,000,000 persons throughout the United States celebrated the festival.

On the second Sunday in May this year the day will be observed universally throughout the land, and will be a universal fete day for filial worship. The white carnation has been selected to be worn in memory of Mother.

"Comrades, there is no class of men living whose mothers were as patriotic, loyal and heroic as your mothers. The committee in charge of Division 1 is made up of Charles Finegan, chairman; Thomas Lawler, secretary; Thomas Keenan, Jr. The Ladies' Auxiliary will be represented on the committee by Misses Mary Corcoran, Hattie Higgins and Nellie Nolan. An enjoyable evening is promised all who attend.

RAISES $2,000

IN CAMPAIGN FOR NEW CLUB HOUSE.

Business Women Much Pleased With Work Already Done By Members of the Organization.

Good "team work" on the part of the busy campaigners for funds for the erection of a new clubhouse on the site of the present Business Women's Club yesterday resulted in contributions of over $2,000.

This result is really amazing considering the fact that as yet the campaign is in process of initiatory work, all the teams not yet having been "captained," nor even the cheerful little badges of white and green, the club colors, distributed. As announced, the membership of the club is divided into teams, each with a specially selected captain, and the most vigorous kind of rivalry is expected to develop before the three-weeks' campaign is concluded. So far the captains of the teams comprise Misses Stella Newhouse, Nora Kirch, Elizabeth Brower, Lena Price, Margaret Cooke, Kate McDermott, Ella E. Wigginton, Cora Bohon, Elizabeth Norton, Bessie Hershman, Flora Hise, Mrs. J. J. Hall, Mrs. Clara McGee and Mrs. Joseph.

The committee in charge at the headquarters of the Building Fund Committee at the Business Women's Club is busily engaged in "lining up" the teams, distributing the attractive little booklets telling of what the club has done and what it is hoped to do, enrolling members, receiving congratulations and commendations, and, all in all, it is one of the busiest spots to be found anywhere in town.

Then, there is the charming white and green booth at the Exposition, right near the juncture of Wolfna and Tesla aisles, and though everybody connected with the Business Women's Club is vibrant with enthusiasm and electrical with hope, there is yet a delightful air of repose and comfort about this booth with leather chairs and couches and cheerfully inviting look—in fact, it has proven a branch of the "rest room," which has been for months one of the most attractive features of the Business Woman's Club proper.

The photographs and plans of the proposed new building are on exhibition at the booth, and many people have been interested in the superb arrangement of the anticipated clubhouse.

"Help the girls to help themselves" is a sentiment which is fast becoming well known in town, and since the club is nonsectarian, and its members comprise all nationalities, the scope of its work is easily understood.

The officers of the Business Women's Club are: Mrs. Edward L. Warren, president; Mrs. Andrew Cowan, first vice president; Mrs. C. Bonnycastle Robinson, vice president; Mrs. C. L. Adler, vice president; Miss Elizabeth Norton, vice president; Mrs. Garnett Munn, vice president; Mrs. Carl Wiseman, vice president; Mrs. Charles Gheens, vice president; Mrs. Sam Stone, vice president; Mrs. H. K. Fenner, vice president; Miss Ella M. Warren, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Bernard Veech, recording secretary; Mrs. Eugene Carney, treasurer, and Mrs. W. P. Boggess, assistant treasurer, while the chairmen of the standing committees are Mrs. Morton V. Jones, Finance; Miss Anna Bay, Nominating; Miss E. M. Gault, House; Miss Lizzie Wood, Lunch; Mrs. Helm Bruce, Exchange; Miss May Marriott, Educational; Miss Nannie Lee Frayser, Devotional; Mrs. David Morton, Comfort and Relief; Mrs. W. F. Grant, Membership; Mrs. Alfred Brandeis, Library; Mrs. R. A. Peter, Hospitality; Miss Charlotte Meldrum, Boarding Place; Miss Anna Mary Watson, Press; Mrs. Charles M. Garth, Junior Department.

TO THE COURTS

Root Directed the Italian Ambassador.

COMPLAINT ABOUT NIGHT RIDERS ANSWERED.

MUST SEEK REDRESS WHERE AMERICAN CITIZENS DO.

CORRESPONDENCE PUBLISHED

Washington, April 12.—[Special.]—The Department of State to-day made public the diplomatic correspondence of the last year, including an exchange of notes between the Italian Ambassador and the Secretary of State relative to the destruction of tobacco in Kentucky by night riders, the tobacco having been purchased by the Italian Government. In response to the complaint of the Italian Government, Secretary Rot replied:

"Excellency: I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your notes of December 6 and 18 advising the department that in the State of Kentucky an organization known as 'the night riders' has burned tobacco purchased by the agents of the Italian Government, and threatens further depredations.

"You ask in behalf of the Italian agents and the property purchased by them the protection and security granted by the existing treaties between Italy and the United States.

"I have the honor to say in reply that while Article III. of the treaty between the United States and Italy, dated February 26, 1871, guarantees Italian subjects temporarily residing within the United States 'the most constant protection and security for their persons and property,' it is specifically stated that these rights and privileges are to be enjoyed 'on their submitting themselves to the conditions imposed upon the natives.' Inasmuch as native citizens seek and obtain redress for their injuries or threatened injuries to property by means of proceedings in courts of justice, it will appear that Italian subjects should in like cases seek their redress in courts of justice.

"If the tobacco when purchased by the agents of the Italian Government becomes the property of the Government, as may be inferred in your note, it would seem to belong to the Government in its private capacity rather than as sovereign. In such a case the Italian Government might seek redress in our courts of justice, because it is a settled law of this country that courts of justice are open to sovereigns upon the same terms as to private individuals for the protection of property rights.

"A copy of your note and the department's reply have been transmitted to the Governors of Kentucky and Tennessee for their information and such activity as they may deem appropriate in the premises. Accept, etc.,

The Italian Complaint.

In the course of his complaint, the Italian Ambassador said:

"These disturbances may not only lead, as they did last year, to the destruction of supplies of tobacco already purchased by the agents of the Italian Government, which made them Italian property, but also prevent the seriously threatened planters from fulfilling their obligations or entering into new contracts of sale. If such a condition of affairs were to repeat itself or endure, the Italian Government might be constrained to seek elsewhere than in the State of Kentucky an organization known as 'the night riders' has burned tobacco purchased by the agents of the Italian Government, and threatens further depredations.

MORE HIGH PRICES

IN WHEAT RECORDED ON CHICAGO BOARD OF TRADE.

Patten Is Believed To Be Working Out Some of His May Delivery.

Chicago, April 12.—[Special.]—More high prices were recorded in wheat on the Board of Trade to-day. The market at first backed up a little, much as a stalled train would, to get a fresh start, and then with a forward rush carried everything before it. July wheat this morning had a dip of ½c to $1.14⅝. In five minutes, however, it was at $1.15 and ten minutes later the price was at $1.16⅛.

The later months of September and December, known in the trade as the new-crop months, did a little skyrocketing on their own account. From $1.07⅝ five minutes after the opening, the September went to $1.09 before a broker could walk twice around the pit. December sold at $1.06¼ and was rushed up in like manner to $1.08.

It is the theory on the floor that Patten is working out some of his high-priced May wheat whenever shorts want to buy at anything over the $1.25 level. This month did not have so much action this morning, the range being from $1.34⅜ to $1.26⅛.

It is conceded now that Patten can take any wheat coming to him on May contracts, whether it be 5,000,000 bushels or 10,000,000 bushels, and merchandise the same, because of the urgent demand which will be felt the world over after May 1.

MRS. J. H. PARRISH TO RESIDE AT HAWESVILLE.

Owensboro, Ky., April 12.—[Special.]—Mrs. James H. Parrish and son, Moorman, went to Hawesville to-day to reside. James H. Parrish, who was last week sentenced to five years in the penitentiary for wrecking the savings bank, will not be removed to the local jail pending his appeal.

Need of River Transportation.

"The rapid growth of our commerce demands that we should utilize our waterways to their greatest capacity. The rivers, those of them susceptible of improvement at reasonable cost, should be thus improved in order that they may meet these requirements and do their work in this country just as the rivers in European countries are made to do their proportion of the work of commerce building," said Representative Sparkman, of Florida, the ranking Democratic member of the Rivers and Harbors Committee, to-day.

"The utilization of these European rivers furnishes an object lesson by which we may learn in the improvement and utilization of our own streams. If Europe reaps such great advantages from the use of her streams in the matter of freight movements, which should we not be able to do the same thing at even less cost than the different countries of Europe in which these streams are situated are said to have expended upon them.

"But in order that we may enjoy these great waterways which nature has so lavishly given us there must be some comprehensive plan for the development of our rivers and harbors.

"For this purpose the Waterways Commission, composed of Representatives and Senators, was created. This commission contemplates making a first-hand study of the waterways of Europe, either by subcommittee or by the full membership, therefore, for the purpose of adopting such plans as are most feasible for the development of the waterways of the United States, looking to their permanent improvement. It is also understood that the commission will visit many of the smaller streams and harbors in this country, applying to their betterments the lessons learned from the older and more experienced neighbors across the ocean."

OLD AND LONELY

C. H. Powers Kills Himself At Sharp.

LEAVES NOTE ASKING TO BE LAID BY WIFE'S SIDE.

SPECIAL TERM TO TRY REPUBLICAN OFFICIALS.

CASES CALLED AT LONDON.

Paducah, Ky., April 12.—[Special.]—Finding life empty since the death of his wife, C. H. Powers wrote the following note and took a dose of morphine at his home in Sharp:

"Mr. Sam Morrison, I am tired of life and take this method of going away. If I am successful, bury me beside your aunt, my wife. Good-bye. C. H. P."

He succeeded, for he never recovered from the stupor in which he was found, and he was buried as he wished, beside his wife. He had been a successful farmer, but after his wife died he sold out and moved to Paducah, where he rented a market stall. He took little interest in his business and lost all his money. Then he returned to Sharp. He was 76 years old.

ELLIOTT ON TRIAL.

Eight Jurors Accepted At Close of First Day.

London, Ky., April 12.—[Special.]—A special term of the Laurel Circuit Court convened here to-day for the trials of F. P. Elliott, deputy collector, indicted for uttering a forged writing, and Charles N. Provence, clerk in the office of the State Auditor at Frankfort, for forgery. The offenses are alleged to have been committed while Elliott and Provence served as County Court Clerks of Laurel county, a few years ago.

Judge William Lewis, of this city, who is the Republican nominee for Circuit Judge, and who was recently appointed by Gov. Willson to fill out the unexpired term of Judge H. C. Faulkner, who recently resigned, is presiding. This is his first case since his appointment.

The case against Mr. Elliott is being tried first. Eight jurors were accepted by both sides to-day and three more are in the box. All the jurors drawn from the wheel have been exhausted and court adjourned this afternoon until to-morrow in order to give the Sheriff time to summon more jurors. The defendant has five more challenges and the prosecution has one. The defendant is represented by Judge James D. Black, of Barbourville; S. H. Kash, of Corbin, and Hazlewood & Johnson and D. K. Rawlings, of this city.

IN HENDERSON COUNTY

Next Trial of T. S. Anderson Will Be Held.

Owensboro, Ky., April 12.—[Special.]—The next trial of T. S. Anderson, former president of the defunct Daviess County Bank and Trust Company, charged with swearing falsely as to the condition of his bank, will be held in Henderson county before the regular Judge of that judicial district, the Hon. J. W. Henson. This was decided at a conference of the attorneys to-day. At the January term of the Daviess Circuit Court Anderson was tried and convicted and given three years in the penitentiary. The case was reversed by the Court of Appeals on the grounds that the regular Judge should have vacated the bench when an attempt was made to swear him off and that a change of venue should have been granted. All other points involved in the appeal were decided in favor of the Commonwealth. Attorneys for the defendant have made a motion for a rehearing before the Court of Appeals and as a result the mandate which would have allowed Anderson to give bond and be released will not be filed until the higher court's decision on the motion.

LOGAN PRESBYTERY

Franklin, Ky., April 12.—[Special.]—Logan presbytery of the Presbyterian church, which meets with the College-street church to-morrow evening, promises to be one of unusual interest. The retiring moderator, the Rev. J. T. Neal, will deliver the opening sermon at 7:30 p. m. Several distinguished men will be in attendance, including James E. Clarke, D. D., editor of the Cumberland Presbyterian of Nashville, Tenn.; William A. Provine, D. D., representative of the Philadelphia Board of Publication and Sabbath-school Work, and Hon. J. M. Patterson, of St. Louis, representative of the Board of Missions of the Southern district of the Church. The women of the presbytery will have charge of the meeting Wednesday evening and will render an interesting programme. Election of commissioners to the one hundred and twenty-first meeting of the general assembly, to be held at Denver, Colo., in May, will take place Wednesday.

EFFORT TO COMPROMISE

Night Rider Damage Suits In Western Kentucky.

Paducah, Ky., April 12.—[Special.]—While many Lyon and Trigg county defendants are holding out and refusing to compromise the suits entered against them in the Federal Court for alleged participation in night rides, it now seems certain that a large number of the defendants, especially those in Caldwell county, will settle and be dismissed from the case.

Senator Wheeler Campbell, of Louisville, and Capt. Carl Henderson, of Marion, attorneys for the plaintiffs, were in Paducah this morning, but refused to give out any statements concerning the progress of the efforts to compromise at Princeton. They returned there at noon to-day.

SUSPICIOUS FIRE.

Another Calloway County Barn Goes Up In Smoke.

Paducah, Ky., April 12.—[Special.]—Another barn was burned early Saturday morning in Calloway county under suspicious circumstances. W. T. Potts, Democratic candidate for Magistrate in the Coldwater precinct, lost his new barn with $300 worth of hay and three fine horses. The barn had just been completed the day before. Mr. Potts signed the petition for loose leaf sales of tobacco circulated by Clarence Penny, whose plant bed was scraped last week.

Fire At Georgetown.

Georgetown, Ky., April 12.—[Special.]—The two-story building recently vacated by the Scott County News after a long term of occupancy was almost destroyed by fire this afternoon, caused by a coal oil stove exploding below. The flames were upon the occupants of the second story in a moment and they escaped with a hurried exit.

Carl Culbertson carried a stock of monuments on the first floor and two presses of the News remained there. Above resided Culbertson's family, with Harrison Smith, the owner's family. Loss to building, $2,000; to contents, $25,000; insurance on building, $1,500; none on contents. One hundred dollars in currency saved in a clock.

Buried At His Old Home.

Taylorsville, Ky., April 12.—[Special.]—The body of Tilden Downs, who was found dead in his bed at Fort Morgan, Col., arrived here this morning and will be interred to-morrow morning in Valley Hill cemetery. Mr. Downs was the youngest son of the late Sedley Downs. He had been in the West about four years. He was born in this county, near Wakefield, about thirty-two years ago, and lived here until after the death of his parents. He was an Elk and a Mason. He leaves two brothers—James L. and Claude Downs—and two sisters—Mrs. Joseph Hardesty, of Bloomfield, and Mrs. A. T. Beard. The funeral services, conducted by the Rev. Dr. Booth, were held in the Baptist church to-day.

Speaking For Good Roads.

Hardyville, Ky., April 12.—[Special.]—Charles W. Thatcher, who is traveling in a queer vehicle drawn by two little mules and making speeches in the interest of a proposed Government boulevard from the lakes to the gulf and who left this town more than a year ago on his trip to the South, returned Saturday. He was met outside of the town by a large crowd headed by the Hardyville band. After marching through the town Mr. Thatcher mounted a platform and delivered an address to about 200 attentive and enthusiastic citizens.

She was advanced in age and leaves several children, Miss Anna Vreeland being the only one at home at the time of her death. Mrs. Vreeland was an aunt of John W. and Graham Vreeland, of Louisville, and the Rev. Walter and Hubert Vreeland, of Frankfort. The funeral will be held at 3 o'clock to-morrow afternoon.

Family Has Close Call.

Paducah, Ky., April 12.—[Special.]—The home of Mrs. Kate Purdue, near Massac, this county, was destroyed by fire Sunday at noon during the high wind. The roof was ignited by a spark from the chimney and the roof was falling in before the fire was discovered by neighbors and the family alarmed. They barely escaped with their clothing. Mr. Ellis, son-in-law of the owners, lost $70 in cash in the flames. The total loss is about $2,000.

Democratic Ticket Named.

Hindman, Ky., April 12.—The result of the Democratic primary in this county was as follows: Irvine Nappier, County Judge; Andrew Combs, Sheriff; Mitchell Johnson, School Superintendent; James E. Perkins, County Attorney; John W. Duke, Jailer; Adam Campbell, Circuit Clerk; R. H. Amburgey, County Clerk; Gabe Grigsby, Assessor; J. H. Cornett, Surveyor; D. R. Madden, Coroner.

Barn Burns In Hardin County.

Elizabethtown, Ky., April 12.—[Special.]—The large barn of Mrs. Charley Greenwell, of near Red Mills, this county, was destroyed by fire last night. A horse and two mules, six head of cattle, about fifteen tons of hay, two hundred bushels of corn and a lot of farming implements went up in the flames. The barn and contents were valued at $3,000. There was insurance of only $400. The origin of the fire is unknown.

Old Citizen Dies.

Madisonville, Ky., April 12.—Joseph S. McCulley, one of the oldest citizens of the county, died at his home here. He had been ill for a long time. He was one of the gold seekers that crossed the plains in 1849 in search of a fortune. He is survived by a wife and two sons, Ernest McCulley, of Clovis, N. M., and Lannie McCulley, of McComb, Miss.

FLEXNER ARRANGES FOR KENTUCKY'S EXHIBIT.

Head of State Commission Visits Exposition Grounds At Seattle.

Seattle, Wash., April 12.—Kentucky will participate in the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific Exposition at Seattle this summer, and is prepared to make a creditable showing. Edward M. Flexner, chairman of the Kentucky Exposition Commission, recently appointed by the Governor, is in Seattle to make arrangements for participation at the fair.

While it will not be possible for Kentucky to undertake anything in the way of a State building, or very much in the way of a very large State exhibit, funds being raised by private subcription and by the aid of commercial organizations throughout the State, assure excellent representation at Seattle for this old Commonwealth of the South.

Commissioner Flexner is arranging for space in one of the large exhibit palaces on the grounds, and Kentucky's display will, no doubt, be given a prominent location in the Agricultural building. This structure has a frontage on the Cascades and Geyser basin, the central ornamental feature of the fair. The space will also provide a room to be used as a headquarters for visitors.

By the time the Kentucky exhibit reaches Seattle the fair will be complete to the smallest detail. On March 1 the exposition was more than 95 per cent. complete, and thousands of workmen are now busily engaged in completing a few remaining buildings and adding the finishing touches to the landscape features.

Railroad Hearing Postponed.

St. Louis, April 12.—The hearing on the temporary injunction granted last Thursday against the plans of the eighteen Missouri railroads to enforce a new schedule of passenger rates, was to-day continued to April 23 by the Circuit Court of St. Louis.

CLEVER DOCTOR

Cured a Twenty-Years' Trouble Without Any Medicine.

A wise Indiana physician cured a 20 years' stomach disease without any medicine, as his patient tells:

"I had stomach trouble for 20 years, tried family medicines, patent medicines and all the simple remedies suggested by my friends, but grew worse all the time.

"Finally a doctor, who is the most prominent physician in this part of the State, told me medicine would do me no good, only irritate my stomach and make it worse—that I must look to diet and quit drinking coffee.

"I cried out in alarm, 'Quit drinking Coffee!' why, 'What will I drink?'

"'Try Postum,' said the doctor, 'I drink it and you will like it when it is made according to directions, with cream, for it is delicious and has none of the bad effects coffee has.'

"Well, that was two years ago and I am still drinking Postum. My stomach is right again and I know Doctor hit the nail on the head when he decided coffee was the cause of all my trouble. I only wish I had quit it years ago and drank Postum in its place."

Never too late to mend. Ten days' trial of Postum in place of coffee works wonders. "There's a Reason."

CAN PAY DEBTS

State Again Has Money In the Treasury.

SOUTHERN PACIFIC PAYS $100,000 INCORPORATION FEE.

GOV. WILLSON FORCED TO TAKE TO HIS BED.

LEG BOTHERS HIM AGAIN.

Frankfort, Ky., April 12.—[Special.]—Resumption of payment of warrants against the State probably will begin in a few days and for a limited time the State's debts will be paid off. The windfall came to the State to-day in the shape of a check for $100,000 from the Southern Pacific railroad. The railroad increased its capital stock $100,000,000 and the company had to pay the State $100,000 as a fee for recording the new incorporation papers. Judge A. P. Humphrey, attorney for the Southern Pacific was here this morning and turned in the check to the Secretary of State's office.

But this $100,000 will not be all that the State is to get from the railroads. The franchise taxes are due this week from all the railroads in the State and this will bring in an additional $100,000. The franchise taxes will all be paid this week by the railroads doing business in Kentucky and this item amounts to a good deal. The L. and N. railroad has not been finally assessed, but it is probable that the same assessment will be made last year as will be imposed this year. The L. and N. will pay about $45,000 in franchise tax. Other railroads will pay less, but the total will be close to $100,000 and will go far toward paying off outstanding warrants against the State.

Frank P. ames, State Auditor, is optimistic about the State's financial affairs and believes that there will not be any trouble about paying everything and getting down to a cash basis in a short time. He says the revenue of the State is increasing and the expenditures, as compared with last year, are falling off. Soldiers cost the State nearly $50,000 in one month last year.

Raising Vegetables.

Col. Albert Scott and Stanley Milward, of the State Board of Control, are here to-day, having just completed the regular monthly inspection of all the asylums and the Feeble Minded Institute. On the present trip they paid especial attention to the preparations for the farm and garden work at the four institutions, which will be carried on extensively this year. Nearly four thousand acres are already plowed up and will be in cultivation at the four institutions, and an enormous amount of valuable vegetables will be raised this year besides corn and other provender for the cows and horses used at the asylums. The State owns about 1,500 acres in all surrounding the four institutions and with 1,000 acres of this in cultivation it is expected a great saving will result in expenses. Of course, much of this land has been cultivated in years past, but more than ever will be utilized from now on.

Racing Case Advanced.

In the Court of Appeals this morning the case involving the right of the State Racing Commission to control the racing at Latonia and to prohibit bookmaking was advanced and docketed, and a decision of the case is expected soon. Beckham & McQuown and Morgan Chinn represented the Racing Commission and a telegram was read from Harvey Meyers agreeing to have the case docketed and advanced. An appeal was taken from the decision of Judge Mat Harbeson, in which he held that the commission is illegally constituted. There was some talk that the case would not get up here in time for a decision this year, but this talk was ended to-day.

Paris Shotwell Pardoned.

On the ground that he was only a boy at the time of the killing and that he killed a drunken rowdy who was firing into his house, Gov. Willson to-day granted a pardon to Paris Shotwell, a member of the famous Shotwell family of Whitley county. Young Shotwell was marshal of the town of Corbin, being appointed as an assistant to the regular marshal. One of the men who signed the application for the pardon said that at the time young Shotwell was appointed Corbin was so disorderly that only a foolish man or a child would accept an appointment of that kind. Shotwell was 14 years old at the time of the shooting and Gov. Willson thinks he has been punished enough.

In refusing to pardon John Hensley, of Breathitt county, sentenced to twelve years for manslaughter, the Governor says that the names of eleven jurymen are purported to have been signed to the petition for pardon, whereas the names of four of them do not appear on the Court of Appeals record of the case. The Governor says that this attempted fraud shows clearly the need of a new rule requiring a certified list of jurors. Inasmuch also as the story of the killing of Spicer, Hensley's victim, is not credible, and for the fraud the pardon is refused.

The Governor commuted to six months in jail, with the understanding that he is to leave Kentucky for good after the expiration of the sentence, a term of one year assessed against William Barber in Bath county for shooting with intent to kill. The Governor says that Barber had some spite against his neighbor, Gudgell, and shot into a picnic that was being held on the latter's place. He hit a man named McCarty with birdshot. The Governor says that the father of Barber is a very highly respected and greatly loved man of the community, and he commutes the sentence under the above agreement.

* * *

Proviso With Commutation.

The year term of Lizzie Haydon, sentenced in Jefferson county for grand larceny, is commuted to service in the county jail until December 24 next, provided she is "industrious, faithful and obedient to the rules."

The Governor refused to interfere in the life sentence of Harry Jenkins, of Jefferson county, for murder. He says the evidence in the case supports the verdict of the jury.

The Governor also refuses to set aside a fifteen-year sentence for criminal assault given Dock Lowry in Madison county. He also refused to remit the State's part of a $100 forfeited bail bond of C. A. Hayse, of Grayson county. Hayse's son, charged with falsesworing, skipped to Indiana, and the father, an old soldier, mortgaged his farm before that to go his bond. The Governor says that as the officers have agreed to remit their portion of the bond, the State's part, $12, will not be hard on him to pay.

Governor Again In Bed.

Gov. Willson, who has been up for several days and who expected to be at his office to-morrow, is again confined to his bed on account of his game leg. Gov. Willson has been hobbling about the house for several days and expected to be out this week, but it now looks like he will be confined to his bed for several days and perhaps a week longer. His leg is giving him serious trouble and it may be weeks before he is able to play golf or take any exercise.

Assessments Raised.

Two more counties were given raises in their assessments by the State Board of Equalization this afternoon. Calloway county, which had been raised 3 per cent. on lands and personalty and 10 per cent. on town lots, had this cut down to only a 3 per cent. raise on both. Graves county, which was given a preliminary raise of 10 per cent. on lands and personalty and 20 per cent. on town lots, made a vigorous protest and the increase was cut to only 2 per cent. on both.

Fayette county will be heard to-morrow, and there will be a large crowd of citizens from Lexington here when the board convenes to-morrow morning. Fayette has been given a preliminary raise, and there is strong protest against it.

MOVEMENT TO DISLODGE ZELAYA IN NICARAGUA.

Jose Madriz, Expelled From Country Ten Years Ago, Said To Be Fomenting Revolution.

Washington, April 12.—An unofficial dispatch received in this city connects the name of Jose Madriz with an alleged movement to dislodge President Zelaya from his position as head of the Nicaraguan republic. Madriz was a rival of Zelaya, but was expelled about ten years ago.

Well defined rumors continue to be received in Wasnington of the activity of President Zelaya in military matters with Salvador as the probable objective point of any movements that may be made. The disturbing forces appear to be made up to a large extent of Salvadorean emigradoes acting under Nicaraguan suspices. Senor LaBarra, the Ambassador from Mexico, had a half hour's conference to-day with Secretary Knox, during which Central American affairs were discussed.

Munich, April 12.—Prof. Anton Hess, the sculptor, died here to-day. He was born in 1833, and held the professorship of plastic art at the Technical University of Munich.

COUGHING BURST

BLOOD VESSEL

Says Danger Avoided and Cures Coughs in 5 Hours

A writer for the medical press states that coughing is responsible for the bursting of blood vessels quite frequently. A cough or cold means inflammation, fever and congestion and these in turn indicate that the body is full of poisons and waste matter. Simple relief, as found in patent cough medicines, and whiskey, often result in more harm than good, as they cause more congestion. A tonic-laxative cough syrup will work marvels and here follows a prescription which is becoming famous for its prompt relief and thorough cures. It rids the system of the cause, except it be consumption. Don't wait for consumption to grasp its victim, but begin this treatment which cures some in five hours. Mix in a bottle one-half ounce fluid wild cherry bark, one ounce compound essence cardiol and three ounces syrup white pine compound. Take twenty drops every half hour for four hours. Then one-half to one teaspoonful three or four times a day. Give children less according to age.

GOOD WORKOUTS FOR THE DERBY CANDIDATES.

Lexington, Ky., April 12.—[Special.]—The track at the Kentucky Association grounds was good, thought not fast, to-day and three of the Kentucky derby candidates were given good work-outs, each being sent a mile at the best clip they have shown this year.

The work of J. N. Camden's Miami was most impressive. With 122 pounds up and accompanied by Ozama, the Oaks candidate of the same stable with light weight up, he went the mile from stand to stand in 1:45 flat, beating Ozana a length or more. Neither, however, were tuckered out and while Miami finished tired, as it was his stiffest work of the season, he could evidently have traveled the circle a shade faster.

Ada Meade, the Derby and Oaks candidate in the Milam stable, was sent a mile in 1:46, and Warfield did the same stunt easily in 1:47⅘. The horses here have had so much slow work that they are now ready to step along and if the weather should continue warm and no heavy rains fall, the Derby and Oaks candidates here will be ready to hold their own with those which have wintered at Memphis, Louisville or even in California and the stables which come here from other points for the spring meeting will find they will have to do their best to get a piece of the money.

Pennsylvania Team Defeated.

Pittsburg, Pa., April 12.—The University of Pennsylvania team, winner of this season's intercollegiate swimming championship, was defeated here to-night by the East Liberty Aquatic Club in the first of a series of contests, which will include several clubs in Chicago and St. Louis. To-night's total points were East Liberty, 29; University of Pennsylvania, 24.

TUESDAY..........APRIL 13, 1909

"Business."

Monday Evening, April 12.—The New York stock market was active and strong and final prices showed many substantial net gains. Louisville and Nashville was 2¾ points net higher.

Money on call was easy at 1½ to 2 per cent., ruling at 1¾. Time loans were very dull and steady at 2 to 2¾. Sterling exchange was steady.

The Chicago wheat market continued on the upturn, deferred futures touching new high marks and May equalling the best previous record. Corn closed firm, oats steady and provisions strong.

The cotton market opened firm at an advance of 4 to 11 points, ruled active and strong, touching the highest prices in over a year and closed 7 to 10 points higher than opening prices.

The Chicago cattle market was steady to 10c higher, the hog market 5c to 10c higher and the sheep market steady.

The Electrical Age.

A little more than twenty years ago the era of mule and horse and cable had scarcely heard a warning of its impending eclipse, managers of traction lines were disturbed rather over the famine of four-footed power than over the mission of the motor; municipal traction was in its noisy infancy and interurban traction was undreamt of, while there was, in the whole of the United States, not one-thousandth part of the capitalization, very little of which is water, invested in street railway plants that there is to-day. What electricity has done for us in the way of comfort is not easily to be believed and cannot very well be exaggerated. It has become from being a scientific toy, an exhibition of the lecture platform, not gradually but with all the onrush and certainty of a conqueror, one of the necessities of life. We cannot shop without it; we depend upon it for communication to our grocer, to our undertaker; if we do not behave well enough we are, officially and under inspection, sent out of the world by it. The hangman has disappeared and has gone to join the headsman in the lurid history of capital punishment, and the man who pushes the button has taken the place of both as the impartial executioner of those final edicts, more tremendous than those of Rhadamanthus. Life without the telephone has become, even in the remotest districts, an inconceivable condition; and though we associate electricity with a wire, it is the wireless which most graphically brings home to us its marvels, its messages and its meaning. Water power is stored up for no other purpose than that it may treasure up the units of electricity which shall set the wheels of industry a-humming; and the storage battery of the future is, within smallest compass and with an incredible multiplication of efficiency, to drive our motors, stationary and mobile, at an economy of space, of money and effort little short of marvelous.

If we were to give the figures to show what the electrification of the world has meant, in terms of better and brighter and more easily controlled illumination, in terms of domestic economy, alike of temper and of result, in terms of communication, all but instantaneous and all but unfailingly reliable, it would seem like a fairy story, and yet it would be less than the truth. For the marvel of to-day is the commonplace of to-morrow, and the apparently unattainable perfection which was the dream of one year and the despair of the expert, becomes within a few months something that repetition has cheapened, and which may be hawked about on street corners. We remember very well indeed, and one does not need to rank among the middle-aged to remember it, when on the production of Iolanthe the incandescent bulb in its smallest dimensions was first used as an adjunct of a theatrical spectacle; when the apparently spontaneous flashing of these little lights was a great deal more of a sensation and aroused immeasurably more newspaper comment than all the witty quips of Gilbert and all the marvelous music of Sullivan. We have seen the first electrical ballet at the Folies Bergeres and recall the first time that the wonderful fountains of Sans Souci were made gloriously brilliant by electricity; and everyone remembers the first Marconigram. Since that date, which is, as it were, but of the day before yesterday, what was an experiment of limited and uncertain application has become a necessity of navigation; it has saved many lives; it has heralded the approach of fleets and has carried to both sides of the world daily bulletins of progress. It is to-day as much a commonplace as the cable beneath the Atlantic or the telephone on the rural routes.

The practical utilitarian application of the latest invention, whether it take the form of a cooking utensil or a flatiron, whether it be turned to account in curling tongs or go to make the chafing dish more portable and deadly, is what interests the man in the street and the woman in the home. In these days of domesticity without help and of the tete-a-tete carried to an aggravating degree of exclusiveness, the labor-saving device is something to be thankful for. We prefer to be shocked exceptionally than tired and harassed all the time, and we would take their chance of a volt too much in grateful recognition of the vantage we have gained.

There is for the next two weeks to be seen at the Armory the last word in electrical invention and application, and the thanks of the public are due to the Commercial Club for the admirable forethought of its directors and managers, to the industry and organizing ability of its secretary, who have provided an opportunity to view marvels set in such attractive form. The Electrical and Industrial Exposition is deserving of the generous support, not only of the people of the Falls City, but of the tributary States; it is educational, attractive, unusual, excellently well arranged and spiced with good music. Nothing can hurt it but the weather, which at this season of the year should be on its best behavior, if for no other reason than because it has sown wild oats enough to last it for a year or two.

The Work of Satan, Not Christ.

The following, which appeared a few days ago in the Associated Press dispatches, tells its own story. It is full of sinister meaning and suggestion! Surely it ought to set serious-minded people to thinking:

"Mobile, Ala., April 8.—Wholesale raids by detectives in the employ of the Prohibition party startled the city to-day and resulted in the seizure of large quantities of liquors at the swell hotels and cafes of the town.

"While the officers were searching one place it was discovered that the warrants were defective, and a delay ensued until the error could be rectified. Later the officers visited the New Battle House and the Cawthorn Hotel, where a carload of intoxicants were seized.

"The search was made under the law which forbids the possession of intoxicants for barter. The prohibition law never has been rigidly enforced here since its passage."

The distance from the Hotel to the Club, and from the Club to the Home, is only a footstep, and, if the principle underlying the scheme to authorize the purification of Hotels and Clubs and Homes by legislative enactment be admitted, there comes an end of all personal liberty, and, in place of free Government, the rule of fanatical dogmatism.

A man's dwelling ceases to be his castle. No fireside is safe against intrusion. The spy system forms the corner stone of such a dominion. Private vengeance, false swearing and blood-money—inseparable from the assertion and exercise of arbitrary power—are essential ingredients of the spy system.

Hypocrisy and bigotry have ever gone hand in hand. The sleek pharisee plays to the lead of the tyrannous zealot. Despotism, supported by superstition, and intolerance, maintained by Church or party interest, rule the roost. Tyranny, and not religion, sits in the saddle.

History is full of examples. It is replete with warnings. We have the relentless reign of the Roundheads in England, with the succeeding immoral reaction. Coming over sea, we have the grim Puritan hierarchy sought to be established in New England with its cruel suppressions and wanton invasions of private rights. But, if we seek a modern instance, and do not care to go as far as Maine, Mobile supplies it, as related by the foregoing telegram.

Can any thoughtful man, with the love of freedom and his kind in his heart, believe that a law commanding such a descent upon the hotels of a city—to go no farther—was conceived or could be executed in the spirit of justice, or of true religion and virtue?

One may waive the confiscation of property without due process of law. He may waive the harm done a growing community. He may waive the loss of revenue and the consequent increase of taxation. But, where is the word of God served, where are good morals served, by the purpose to forbid the guest of a hotel from taking whatever he pleases to take to eat or drink, openly and without offense, in his apartment, or at common table, or wherever and whenever he sees fit?

The law indeed may discriminate. It might throw round the dispensation of food and drink some kind of restriction, or regulation. The misguided persons, however, who propose to make a packhorse of a single brand of virtue congenial to themselves and to ride this rough-shod over all who refuse to subscribe to it, make no distinctions whatever. To them all drinks are the same. They are poison. A glass of wine is as poisonous as a glass of whisky. A mug of beer is as poisonous as a mug of brandy. Yet, the universal experience, to say nothing of the force of human nature, is proof that, driven from public places, drink will find its way to private places; that in room of lawful drink men take to lawless drink; that not religion and morality are helped, but extortion, adulteration and corruption, the Church converted into a Detective Agency and Religion made the promoter of hatred and malice, instead of brotherhood and love. As a result, there follows, on the one hand, strife among the people, and on the other hand, dishonest submission for the sake of peace or profit, such as the State of Maine has exhibited for nearly sixty years.

The Christian preacher who leads such a crusade is as mistaken as the Christian preacher who burnt heretics in the dark ages. The pretext in both cases stands the same: the worship of God. The spirit in each is the same: the regeneration of man. Not a soul was saved in the first instance. Not a soul will be saved in this. On the contrary, after incalculable sacrifices and grievous suffering and unnecessary burdens, it will be found, as it was found, that gentler methods only are competent; that milder measures reach, and that suasion, not force, can alone divert man from his unbridled passions and his evil ways.

They who would promote temperance must themselves be temperate. Temperance, however, is but one of the virtues. To try the experiment of attaining it, the leaders of the Prohibition Movement—blind to all they see about them—deaf to all they hear from Maine and Georgia, from Alabama and Tennessee—would not merely confiscate hundreds of millions of dollars of property and extinguish tens of millions of dollars of taxes, without any equivalent alternative, but they would fly in the face and flout the teachings of Christ Jesus our Lord, who, with all-seeing knowledge of human nature, divided the world into two parts, the spiritual and the temporal, commanding man to love his neighbor as himself, to render unto Caesar the things that are Caesar's and unto God the things that are God's.

Reading the Mobile dispatch by the light both of events and of tendencies, we conceive of such a proceeding not the love of God, but the malice of Satan; not morality but immorality; not the promotion of temperance but of lawlessness, such as are the inevitable consequence of the effort to change the habits of a people in the twinkling of an eye and to work the grace of the Holy Ghost by act of Assembly.

The Tangle In Porto Rico.

Porto Rico now takes her turn as the subject of much thought—if not the source of some anxiety—upon the part of the President and members of the Cabinet. The presence in Washington of representatives of the two branches of the Legislature of the island, the fact that Secretary Ballinger is at work upon a formidable report on conditions in Porto Rico, that the Cabinet has formally discussed the matter and that the President is contemplating a special message to Congress asking for legislation dealing with the trouble—all these things go to indicate the seriousness of the situation which confronts the United States Government.

The tangle traces back to the popular dissatisfaction with the sort of government that now prevails in the island, dissatisfaction which apparently is not mitigated by the important circumstance that Porto Rico is so favored over the Philippines as to enjoy absolutely free trade with the United States. The people seem to believe that they are not given so large a control over the island government as they should have. In the lower house of the Legislature sit members elected by the votes of the people, members that are regarded as jealous spokesmen for the rights of the islanders. The upper house is called the Executive Council; it is composed of men appointed by the President of the United States and in its make-up there appear a majority of Federal officeholders. The two bodies supposedly have co-ordinate jurisdiction over the budget. And it is over the budget that the present unfortunate deadlock has arisen.

The Assembly refuses to sanction the budget prepared by the Executive Council, although twice called into extra session for the purpose by the Governor. As a result there are no funds with which to conduct the functions of government, and the forces of the Government are practically in suspension. Many of the schools are closed for the lack of money. The Federal Court has suspended hearings. Clerks, police and the various civil departments are out of business for want of means with which to carry on the business. Salaries are in arrears. Service employes are without wherewith to meet their daily living expenses. The squabble is not over the expenditure of the funds raised by local taxation, for all such money is turned over to the municipal subdivisions for their individual use. The bone of contention is the revenue raised by Federal taxation, customs duties, excise levies and the like. The Assembly objects to the assumption of authority over this revenue by the Federal officeholders in the Executive Council. Hence, it brings about a deadlock—a deadlock which still exists and threatens to continue in existence until the Home Government takes a hand.

It is a queer sort of row—a row which is not easy for the people within the main boundaries of the United States to understand clearly, since in our States the people have not and do not expect to have any say as to the expenditure within a State of the customs duties raised in that State. It is true that we have our Representatives in the National Congress, but that situation is hardly analagous. Porto Rico, as expressed by the attitude of the members of the Assembly, demands a full control of all moneys raised within that island without interference, advice or suggestion from such a body as the Executive Council. In other words, it is proposed that the Assembly shall be the complete authority on the matter of the budget.

Of course, with the Porto Ricans maintaining stubbornly their present position, it follows that relief for the island Government can come only through action of the Congress in Washington. It is on the character of that relief that President Taft probably will write in the special message now expected. It is believed that he will recommend an amendment to the act under which the island is governed, providing that if at any time in future the two branches of the Legislature come to a deadlock, as in the present instance, over the appropriation bill, the appropriations shall continue as in the bill last passed. Another less favored method considered is to place in the hands of the Executive Council the whole power of making appropriations—a method which, as may be seen, would take from the Assembly even the power which it now considers too little.

The business of running colonies is one of many ups and downs, disagreements and tangles. The present snag in Porto Rico is just such a one as might be expected in the regular course of events. It will be overcome, of course, and the little roughness will be smoothed out; meanwhile, however, the government of the island languishes.

People who are pleased at the prospect of cheaper lumber under the reduced lumber tariff of the Payne bill might gain some information by reading this letter from the National Forest Conservation League:

"While the duty on rough lumber is reduced from $2 to $1, the duty on finished lumber in all forms is left so high as to remain prohibitive. Rough lumber, owing to transportation charges, cannot be imported into the United States except where water transportation is available. Consequently the reduction on rough lumber is of no benefit whatever to the farmers and other consumers in the great interior country.

"Finished lumber can be imported, because of the saving in railway rates as compared with rough lumber, if the tariff permit it, but as proposed it does not permit it. About 90 per cent. of the lumber shipped from a mill by rail goes through the planing mill before it is put on the cars. About the same percentage of the lumber sold at a retail lumber yard is planed or finished in some measure. That is to say, the ordinary consumer of lumber buys finished lumber almost entirely. And the lumber schedule as drafted makes it impossible for him to get this lumber from abroad. Therefore, he will be entirely dependent on domestic supplies as before.

"This is the kind of revision that may fool, but will not benefit. Every Congressman who wants to help his constituents to get cheaper lumber should insist on free lumber, both rough and finished. Failing in that he should insist that finished lumber, which is what his average constituent buys, shall not be taxed more than rough lumber, which is what the average constituent does not buy."

There was a chance last week to amend the Payne bill by placing lumber on the free list, but it was rejected by a combination of Republicans and so-called Democrats. It is clear that the people who want cheaper lumber have little to expect from this Congress.

Speaking of our Republican Mayor, our Republican Councilman, Isador Forst, says that "he has used the patronage of his office in shameless fashion." But how can this be if the Mayor's legal advisers are right? It is the law, in order to prevent such abuse of official power, that a Mayor shall be ineligible to succeed himself. The Mayor's legal advisers tell him that this law applies only to a Mayor who has served a full term. If it does not apply to a Mayor who has served less than a full term it is clearly beyond the contemplation of the law that such an official could be guilty of the abuse of his office which it is intended to guard against on the part of a Mayor who serves four years instead of two. Is not Mr. Forst able to see this brilliant legal point? Or is it so dazzling that it blinds him?

"When we come to estimate that rats destroy commodities worth $200,000,000 every year, that insect pests cost us twice as much, that the loss growing out of imperfect and impotent seeds amounts to half a billion, that thriftless cultivation makes the annual yield of the field less than one-half what it should be—when we contemplate all these things, the wonder is that America is not a vast poorhoouse in which some 90,000,000 people have their habitat."—[Washington Post.

Especially when this estimate does not include the mischief—far greater than that of any of the instrumentalities named—wrought by your protective tariff.

Says the Nashville American:

"Henry Watterson is now well-nigh threescore and ten, and he is still of the opinion that 'protection is only another name for robbery.' It beats the deuce how the once infant industries, now grown to lusty maturity, set up their harmonious howls for the heart-cheering smiles and cozening favor of the painted harlot."

She is the same old painted thing she was thirty, twenty-five and twenty years ago, whispering wealth off stolen goods into the pliant ear of the South.

Those Louisiana Democrats recall Lowell's verses:

"Ez to my princerples, I glory
In hevin' nothin' o' the sort.
I aint a Whig, I aint a Tory,—
I'm just a Canderdate in short."

One Republican Congressman from Pennsylvania actually voted against the oil tariff and another voted for free lumber. When such things can be recorded of Pennsylvania we may find it not amiss to take new bearings.

Just how little the title of Poet Laureate means is well indicated by the fact that it is worn by Austin, though it was not until the other day that Swinburne died.

Dr. Eliot insists that he wants to be comfortable. The British will please interpret this cryptic pronouncement to suit their national pride.

Venezuela and the United States are the only republics which use the absent treatment for their ex-Presidents.

What is there left of Castro but, say, a couple of final f's to his name—more's the good luck of it?

After sojourning in Kentucky for several days they will go to Coffeyville, where they will reside in the future.

SEEKING VALUABLES LOST BY DEMENTED YOUTH.

Relatives of Melville Moses, who escaped from Dr. Board's sanitarium while suffering a mental aberration last Friday night, have requested the police to institute a search and endeavor to recover the valuable gold watch, chain and charm which the young man lost while wandering about the city and county. The chain and Masonic charm belonged to his father, who was Rabbi Adolph Moses. It was a present to him from a lodge and was highly prized by the family for other than its intrinsic value. Members of the family stated yesterday that Melville Moses had been given the watch, chain and charm by his father.

The loss of the valuables was not discovered until Sunday afternoon, when members of the family who visited the young man at the jail noticed that he did not have them. When asked where they were Moses could not tell, as his mind was a cloud. It is supposed that he sold them to someone out in the county, as he had money when he was captured. On the morning of his escape from the sanitarium he did not have any money and the members of the family think that he obtained the cash by selling the watch and ornaments.

Mrs. Moses said yesterday that she would give a liberal reward for the return of the articles the young man lost.

MARKET ORDINANCE TO COME UP AGAIN.

County Attorney Joseph Selligman will, in all probability, champion the cause of the merchants desirous of having an open market on Market street, between Sixteenth and Seventeenth streets. He is being importuned to take the floor for the market place at the public hearing to be held in the Aldermen's chamber Thursday afternoon. The meeting will be conducted by Aldermen Henry Panke and E. J. Ashcraft, of the committee of streets, Western district. The ordinance is now being reconsidered, it having once failed of passage in the upper board after it had passed the lower body. A large lobby voiced its disapproval when the measure was defeated. The opposition comes from persons who feel that an open market would be unsanitary and consequently detrimental to the health of the neighborhood. The ordinance was originally introduced by Councilman C. L. Otto.

IMPROVEMENT IN MILK SUPPLY NOW PREDICTED.

Now that the new milk ordinance has become a law, the immediate improvement of the milk supply of Louisville is predicted by the department of health. Many dairymen are already said to be looking to the sanitary conditions about their places and a general cleanup is in progress. The new ordinance takes the inspection out of the hands of veterinarians employed by the dairymen and places it in the hands of doctors paid by the city. This obviates any tendency on the part of veterinarians to color their reports so as to continue in the good graces of the dairymen who give them employment.

A new inspection of all the dairies will be made within the next few days. It will result disastrously for those whose dairies are not found to be in the best of condition. The infant mortality of the heated term will be materially lessened, the health officials say, by the new form of inspection.

SALOON PROPRIETOR AND FOUR MEN ARRESTED.

Police of the Fifth district entered the saloon of A. Henken, at St. Catherine and Swan streets, at 9 o'clock yesterday morning and arrested the proprietor and four men whom they accused of having been Sunday patrons who stayed in the place all night.

At about 4 o'clock Sunday afternoon Patrolmen Helmerdinger and Kelley got a tip that Henken was violating the Sunday law. Lieut. Luchsinger, of the Fifth district, with several policemen, responded to the call and surrounded the saloon. They watched all night, and at 9 o'clock in the morning Henken opened his doors and the officers went in.

The names of those arrested follow: Albert Henken, John Smith, M. W. Schuler, Joe Bowen and Peter Koch. Henken was charged with violation of the Sunday-closing law and disorderly conduct, and the others were charged with disorderly conduct.

C. W. BRADSHAW

Named As Successor to Late Colin A. Davies.

COMES HERE FROM ATLANTA, GA., TO TAKE CHARGE.

CONNECTED WITH L. AND N. ROAD FOR YEARS.

FORMER LOUISVILLE MAN.

The office of the superintendent of the Louisville, Cincinnati and Lexington division of the Louisville and Nashville railroad, made vacant by the recent death of Colin A. Davies, who was a prominent Louisville man, has been conferred upon C. W. Bradshaw, according to an official bulletin issued by the company yesterday afternoon. The appointment of Mr. Bradshaw becomes effective April 15, and it is understood that he will arrive here from Atlanta, Ga., where he is stationed at present, to-day or to-morrow to assume charge.

Mr. Bradshaw is a native of Louisville, is 45 years of age, and married. He has been in the employ of the Louisville and Nashville Railroad Company twenty-five or thirty years. He is said to be one of the best-posted men on matters pertaining to railroad construction in the business. His record with the Louisville and Nashville Railroad Company from the time he identified himself with the road up to the present time is one of unusual merit.

Mr. Bradshaw was annexed to the Cincinnati division of the Louisville and Nashville road about twenty-five years ago, where he acquitted himself well. Later he was moved up to the position of roadmaster of the Cincinnati division, and after serving several years with the company in this same capacity on the Nashville and Decatur division, with headquarters in Nashville, he was transferred to Louisville as one of the principal engineers in the chief engineer's office.

* * *

Makes Reputation.

After establishing himself as a valuable man Mr. Bradshaw, after being connected with the chief engineer's office here for about ten years, was made superintendent of the Owensboro and Nashville division. This was another step up the ladder; and he demonstrated to his superior officers, in a very short time, that they had made no mistake in conferring the superintendency upon him. He held this office with credit until six years ago, when he became superintendent of the Knoxville division, embracing Knoxville, Atlanta and branch-line territory. This office has been under his jurisdiction ever since. He leaves it in the care of A. B. Bayless, who has been appointed to fill the place permanently.

Chester Bradshaw, secretary to the fourth vice president of the Louisville and Nashville here, is a brother of the man who has been selected to fill the place formerly held by Mr. Davies. He stands high with the officials of the company, the same as his brother, and lives at 1432 Sixth street.

Marriage licenses were issued yesterday as follows:

Cunard Unable To Pay Dividend.

London, April 12.—The Cunard Steamship Company, like the German steamship lines, has suffered heavily from the depression in the shipping trade, and will be unable to pay a dividend. The company's report which has just been issued shows a profit of $1,475,180, which, however, is not sufficient to meet the depreciation in ships and properties, necessitating the company's drawing on the reserve fund for expenses.

STORIES OF THE TOWN.

"There was an interesting thing noticeable on Easter Sunday," said a clothes philosopher who might have rivaled Teufelsdroeck. "The day was pretty and fairly warm, and was ideal for showing the phase of human nature I have reference to.

"All the young fellows who had on new suits wore them uncovered, disdaining overcoats, and letting all the world see their brave attire. That was natural.

"The poor devils who hadn't made good with the clothiers, however, voted to a man that it was too cool to go without overcoats, and so they strode the streets buttoned up as though to prove that Easter suits were vanity, all vanity, as longs as wintry weather remained.

"That was human nature, too."

Aunt Jane is the name of a colored woman who has looked the same for a matter of twenty years. Whether she ever looked really young, and whether she will ever look thoroughly aged and decrepit are questions which those most familiar with her are not prepared to answer.

One day while Aunt Jane was paying a social call at the home of a family in which she had formerly served, one of its members decided to try to "kid" her.

"You must be pretty near a hundred years old now, aren't you, Aunt Jane?" he asked artfully.

"Hump!" snorted the old woman. "Hunned yeahs old! You must be putt' nigh sixty then, ain't you?"

The "kidding" was abruptly terminated.

"Family hold back" is the C. Q. D. sign that has become classic. It has come to the rescue many a time when the larder was on the point of failing at a critical moment, and by its prompt application in the hour of need many a reception and meal where "company" was present was saved from ruin.

A youngster in a Louisville family has been taught to observe the storm signal when it comes to eating, and that "company first, family second, if there is any second," is an inexorable rule. During a repast at which several friends of the family were present, she recently committed what her mother considered a breach of table etiquette, and as a result the careful parent admonished her with a look of meaning.

"Mamma," returned the little girl, much puzzled, "what is it you don't want me to eat now?"

The guests didn't hear it, of course, but they had a hard time continuing the thread of the conversation just then.

It was R. E. Woods, the postmaster, who christened Robert E. Hughes with a name that has stuck fast and is likely to stay with him for a good while, as long, at least, as his hair retains its present striking tinge. "A red-headed son of destiny" was what Mr. Woods called him.

A. T. Macdonald, Mr. Hughes' successor in the job of being secretary to Louisville's big enterprises, was given a title yesterday that is as likely to stick as Mr. Hughes'. Fred W. Keisker, president of the Southern Electrical and Industrial Exposition, opened the big show by paying a tribute to the genial secretary, whom he called "the dynamo of the exposition."

Somebody was calling Mr. Macdonald "dynamo" fifteen minutes after the exposition had started on its two weeks' career. One reason why others will likely do the same is because it's a particularly descriptive term for Mr. Macdonald.

Millinery is getting on a pretty high plane these days. A good many people who have been receiving bills (most of which made their appearance yesterday) have doubtless been of that opinion for some time before this, and the bills have only served to make it plainer that of the making of hats there is no end, and that the greater the supply the greater the demand and the higher the prices.

One reason for the statement that hatmaking, or millinery, to use a technical expression, has come into its own and reached the plane where it justly belongs is that a school for teaching the gentle art has been opened on a street not far from the business district. There, according to the announcement of the proprietoress, one may learn to adjust bandoes, manipulate pom-poms and slap rosettes and wings in their proper places, after a course which extends over only a few months, and which can be mastered upon payment of a reasonable fee.

If the school is a success, it is not too much to expect that the University of Louisville will add it to its curriculum.

"This is real literature that you have given to the world," exclaimed the enthusiastic young wife as she read the manuscript of her husband's latest production.

"True, true," returned he sadly, remembering the little blue slips that usually accompanied the return of his work, "but the world doesn't seem to want the gift very much."

MACAULEY'S—"A Broken Idol"—Evening. Last half of week—De Wolf Hopper in "The Pied Piper."

MASONIC—"Faust"—Evening.

MARY ANDERSON—Vaudeville—Afternoon and evening.

AVENUE—Vaudeville and Motion Pictures—Afternoon and evening.

BUCKINGHAM—Frank B. Carr's Thoroughbreds—Afternoon and evening.

"A BROKEN IDOL," which opened at Macauley's last night, has the thinnest kind of a plot, interrupted frequently by tuneful songs. The programme description of the piece perhaps describes it as aptly and briefly as possible when it refers to it as "a musical farcicality." "A Broken Idol" was not intended for serious consideration, rather as an entertainment of two and one-half hours. To this extent it filled the bill completely last night. It aroused enthusiasm at every turn and sent the audience home happy and satisfied. The entire play is one long, breezy mixture of songs, dancing and absurd situations, that give way when occasion demands for the display of talent, with which Otis Harlan is richly endowed. Mr. Harlan can sing with the rest of the musical play, homic opera comedians, he is just round enough of figure to inspire mirth from a purely physical standpoint, and he has the ability to set the audience in a happy frame of mind when there is no particular reason for it being so, except for his presence.

One Gus Sohlke figures prominently in the piece. If Mr. Sohlke isn't careful, his name will have a meaning in these parts before many more seasons have rolled around. Quite frequently of late these four words have stood out on the programmes, "Staged by Gus Sohlke." Whenever Mr. Sohlke's name appears in this capacity, some surprises in the shape of chorus activities invariably follow. In "A Broken Idol" Mr. Sohlke has introduced a red-lighted balloon as the real big feature. It swung out over the darkened auditorium of the theater like a red moon, sinking so low at times that it almost grazed the heads of the occupants of the parquet and orchestra circle. It carried for ballast Miss Alice Yorke, and the utter darkness hid its visible means of support. But this was not the only surprise which Mr. Sohlke uncorked for the delectation of the seatholders. He had the chorus popping out of potted plants; he had the chorus appearing as mechanical toys, and he had the same chorus cutting all kinds of peculiar and novel antics at frequent intervals. If the people behind the footlights don't object to Mr. Sohlke's exhausting conception of the hardest way for a chorus girl to earn her living, certainly the people sitting in the comfortable chairs have no complaint to offer. Mr. Sohlke must be very wearing and tearing on a chorus girl, but he gets effects, and that is sufficient reason for his being frequently called in to give expert advice as to how to turn musical plays into successes. Mr. Sohlke undoubtedly is a luminary in "A Broken Idol."

"A Broken Idol" has to do with a "con" man married to a Chinese maiden. The "con" man fastens himself on an impecunious lord, seeking to un-mortgage himself by contracting a marriage with the daughter of a rich politician. Of course, the daughter has an American sweetheart, who in this instance follows the trade of a reporter. He was probably put in to assure the audience that there could be absolutely nothing but a love match. The maiden with a wealthy papa has an ambitious aunt and a molly-coddle uncle, who is an entomologist. The "con" man, the politician and the uncle, have a great old time on a Chinese New Year, and wake up to labor under the belief that one of them has murdered a Chinaman. The trio seek flight and the politician leaves word that he has lost his fortune. This stroke of fate drives off the lord, and it all ends happily by the reporter getting the daughter and the revelation of the fact that it was not a real Chinaman whose head was cracked, but only an idol.

Mr. Harlan was the "con" man. He looked the part of a grafter and got a whole lot of fun out of pretending he was one. His special line of work was anything which netted money. He called himself "Doc Whatt." He had a mouthful of new slang and was as impudent as a plaid suit. He was on the stage most of the time and kept things going every minute. George Richards, as the gay old politician, fitted into the part compactly, leaving nothing to complain about. Otto Hoffman did a neat piece of character work as the hen-pecked scientist. Miss Alice Yorke, as Marion Pugsley, the daughter of the politician, had the best of the songs which did not fail to Mr. Harlan, and a voice well suited to singing them. She was pleasing from first to last. Miss Leslie Lyle did a clever bit of character work in the role of Sing Wee, the "chink" wife of "Doc Whatts."

"A Broken Idol" is a B. C. Whitney production and hails from Chicago, where it came out this year. Hal Stephens penned the book, Egbert Van Alstyne wrote the music and Harry Williams the lyrics. There will be three more performances, with a matinee to-morrow afternoon.

At the Masonic.

"Faust" is at the Masonic this week and he has brought along his scarlet companion, the devil—not the new polished gentleman who gracefully held the stage during the opening attraction at the Chestnut-street Theater, but the old Mephisto of Goethe's poetical drama. Earl, however, is keen of wit and equally learned, especially familiar with human nature and wise to woman's whims. Time has not changed him and he must think this old world dreadfully slow and unprogressive or compliments himself on his ability to keep up with it.

But, seriously, this production is much better than any other of "Faust" the Masonic has had. The scenery is typical of the period and the costuming is pretty and in keeping with the scenic equipment. The men in the cast are handsome and graceful, each possessing good voices, both in singing and speaking. "Faust," as played by Carlisle Shelley, is a blonde youth of commanding presence, with a romantic appearance ideally suited to the role of the learned scholar and lover. The Mephisto of Edward N. Hoyt is sneering and, of course, devilish. He reads his lines well, with enough suggestiveness to please the most critical. Nick Stark makes Valentine a powerful soldier, while Fanny Hoyt's Martha was a good piece of character acting.

Remember the little Indian squaw in "The Squaw Man," when it was played at Macauley's two season's ago; how she ran from behind the door and cuddled close to the young Englishman, saying, "Me shoot him" as she pointed to Cash Hawkins? Well, that little Indian maid is the Marguerite of this "Faust" and her name is Rosabel Morrison, the daughter of Lewis Morrison, who made the character of the devil in "Faust" so famous. The natural blackness of her hair gives way to the blondness of the wigmakers wig, but for all that she plays Marguerite as sincerely as she did the squaw man's wife.

"Faust" will close the regular season at the Masonic with a week's performance, including matinees on the regular days.

HOLCOMBE DAY NURSERY A BOON FOR MOTHERS.

In order that the children being cared for in the day nursery of the Holcombe Mission may receive every attention a physician has volunteered his services and makes a medical inspection of each of the little ones twice a week. In addition to this he looks after illnesses in poor families in the immediate neighborhood. Much good is being accomplished by the Holcombe Mission, and the day nursery feature is proving a boon to many a poor mother.

During the month of March those connected with the mission saw that prescriptions were filled for the 172 deserving poor. A total of 390 children were cared for in the nursery, and homes were found for three. Two were sent to a hospital.

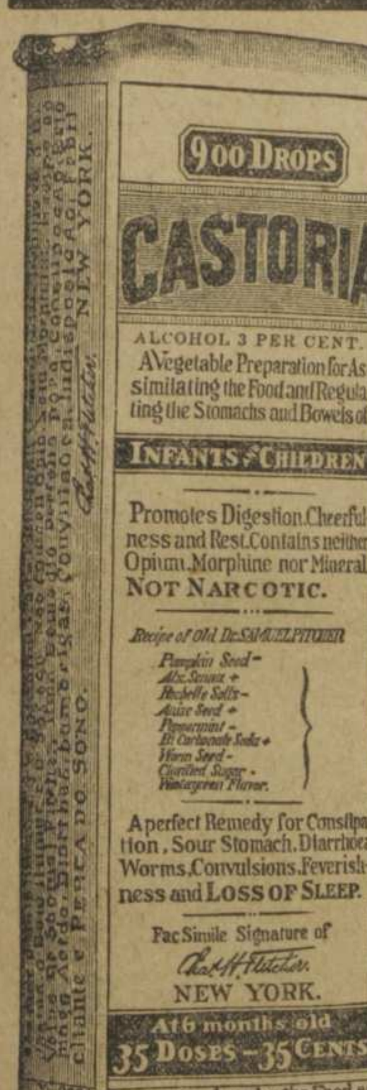

One baby boy has been given a temporary home until other arrangements for his welfare can be made.

BARGE OF COAL

Sinks In River At Foot of New Albany.

WORK OF SALVAGE HAMPERED BY HIGH WINDS.

MAYOR BEST DECLARES THURSDAY HALF HOLIDAY.

WOMAN HAS BLOOD POISON.

A barge loaded with coal belonging to Capt. E. T. Slider, New Albany, and brought down the river by the Monongahela Coal and Mining Company, was sunk yesterday afternoon by the storm while lying at the landing at New Albany. A large force of men endeavored to save the cargo by using every expedient possible, but they were unable to save it. The men were all expert steamboatmen and skilled in work of the kind, but in the face of the high winds they were unable to keep the water out of the barge. The loss is estimated at $1,800, but a large quantity of coal will be saved and raised later in the season when the river becomes sufficiently low.

Half Holiday Thursday.

The Hon. Jacob Best, Mayor of New Albany, has declared Thursday, April 15, as a half holiday on account of the Southern Electrical Exposition, which opened in Louisville yesterday at 1:30 o'clock. On that day the people of New Albany are urged to attend the Exposition and to indicate by their presence that the day has been set apart for New Albany and Southern Indiana. The New Albany booths have been handsomely decorated and thousands of booklets will be distributed to advertise the city's advantages.

Ill of Blood Poison.

Mrs. Edward Meyer, of 1447 East Spring street, New Albany, is ill of blood poisoning that originated in her finger from some unknown cause. One week ago Mrs. Meyer did a washing, and during the night was awakened by severe pain in her hand. Dr. A. W. Bird was summoned the following day, but the malady refused to yield to treatment.

So far as is known, Mrs. Meyer received no wound on the hand, and there was no visible abrasion of the skin at the point where the poison originated. It is thought that the trouble may have been caused by poisonous dyes in the clothing.

Greenville Couple Wed.

Miss Daisy K. Briscoe and Howard A. Compton, both popular young people of Greenville, were married Sunday night at the parsonage of the Central Christian church, New Albany, by the pastor, the Rev. B. F. Cato. The bride is a sister of Prof. George A. Briscoe, principal of the East Main-street school, New Albany, and is an attractive young woman. Mr. Compton is a son of Roger Compton, the postmaster at Greenville, and is a thriving young business man.

Former Resident Dies.

Mrs. Margaret Smithwick, an old resident of New Albany, who left that city in 1864, died at her home in Crosswell, Mich., yesterday of the infirmities due to advanced aged. She was the widow of Peter Smithwick, who was a successful business man of that place. She was 80 years old and was an aunt of Capt. Thomas Smithwick, of New Albany.

Succumbs To Pneumonia.

Guy Gibbons, formerly of New Albany, nephew of Jacob and Frank Zinsmeister, died in Indianapolis yesterday morning of pneumonia, after an illness of but a few days. He was 24 years old and a son of Mrs. Margaret Gibbons, who removed from New Albany to Indianapolis a few years ago. He had been in the employ of the Van Camp Hardware Company for several years, and was recently promoted to a responsible position. The funeral services will be held in Indianapolis.

Relieved of $15.

W. J. Kinzer, a farmer of Harison county, was the guest of the Central Hotel, New Albany, Saturday night. When Mr. Kinzer arose Sunday morning he found that $15 in cash was missing from his trousers' pockets. The thief had left behind a silver dollar, probably to enable Mr. Kinzer to settle for his night's lodging. The loss was reported to the police, but no clew has been found, and it looks as if Kinzer has been separated permanently from his cash.

S.S.S. CURES OLD SORES

If an old sore existed simply because the flesh was diseased at that particular spot, it would be an easy matter to apply some remedy directly to the place that would kill the germs; or the diseased flesh might be removed by a surgical operation and a cure effected. But the very fact that old sores resist every form of local or external treatment, and even return after being cut away, shows that back of them is a morbid cause which must be removed before a cure can result. Just as long as the pollution continues in the blood, the ulcer remains an open cesspool for the deposit of impurities which the circulation throws off. S. S. S. cures Old Sores by purifying the blood. It removes every trace of impurity and taint from the circulation, and thus completely does away with the cause. When S. S. S. has cleansed the blood, the sore begins to heal, and it is not a surface cure, but the healing process begins at the bottom; soon the discharge ceases, the inflammation leaves, and the place fills in with firm, healthy flesh. Under the purifying and tonic effects of S. S. S. the system is built up, and those whose health has been impaired by the drain and worry of an old sore will be doubly benefited by its use. Book on Sores and Ulcers and any medical advice free to all who write.

THE SWIFT SPECIFIC CO., ATLANTA, GA.

$10,000 DAMAGES

Being Sought by Woman Against Cement Co.

RUN DOWN BY ENGINE WHILE CROSSING BRIDGE.

PROSPEROUS INDIANA COUPLE UNITED IN MARRIAGE.

OTHER COUPLES MADE HAPPY.

Mrs. Duss Huckleberry, who lives near Speed, Silver Creek township, Clark county, Ind., through her attorney, Capt. James W. Fortune, last evening filed suit in the Clark Circuit Court at Jeffersonville against the Louisville Cement Company for $10,000 damages on account of personal injuries, alleged to have been sustained September 24, 1908, through being struck by a switch engine while crossing a bridge over Silver Creek. It is alleged in the complaint that the defendant is the owner of cement mills at Speed and in operating them owns a railway track between five and ten miles long. It is also set forth that the defendant maintains a bridge that is 500 feet long and its highest point is twenty-five feet above the water of Silver Creek.

The complaint recites that defendant permitted persons to cross the bridge at will, going and coming from Speed, and kept up a walk for the employes of the mills and their families. It is alleged that the husband of the plaintiff, at the time of the grievance set forth, was employed at the mill and lived in one of the defendant's houses. While the plaintiff and her three little children, one of which was a baby carried in her arms, it is set forth, were going to Speed, they came to the bridge, stopped, listened and looked, but heard no train. After they had gone 250 feet the train came in sight some distance away. The complaint alleges the plaintiff began to scream, wave her hands and endeavored to get the engineer to stop, but he did not do so, she asserts.

Mrs. Huckleberry charges that she was struck by the locomotive pulling the cars, thrown against the ironwork of the bridge, after she had run 100 feet to get off the bridge, which resulted in her left foot being so badly crushed that two toes had to be amputated to save her life and she was otherwise injured so that she has been permanently disabled. The ages of the older children are 7 and 5 years respectively, and Capt. Fortune said last evening that it was the intention to file suit in their behalf within the next few days, they having been injured also, it is claimed.

Feared Marriage Runners.

James M. Hagerman, who was divorced from a former wife on March 27, and Miss Bonnie B. Owen, both of Franklin, Ind., eloped to Jeffersonville last evening and were married at the courthouse by the Rev. Frank E. Andrews, principal of the Jeffersonville High School. There is an existing difference of about twenty-seven years in their ages, which is nearly seven more than the bride has seen. The bridegroom is engaged in the lumber business at Franklin and is a native of Randolph county, Ind. His father was Richard S. Hagerman, a minister, but he is now dead. The bride was born at Franklin, Ind., on July 8, 1888, and gave her occupation as that of a bookkeeper.

At the courthouse there was a wait of nearly an hour for Mr. Andrews, who was busy at school, and the pair said they would like to walk out for a look at the city while they were being detained. They were warned to be careful which way they went or they would be grabbed by matrimonial runners. Hagerman said he did not know how any one would gain the idea they were to be married, as they were dressed in their everyday clothes. He was given such a vivid explanation of the expertness of the matrimonial runners around the interurban depot that it was decided not to leave the courthouse. The bride is a handsome young woman and was nicely dressed. The bridegroom looked prosperous.

Wanted To Begin Early.

When the deputies employed in the office of Curtis W. Ballard, Circuit Clerk, Jeffersonville, arrived yesterday morning to go to work they found William Shepherd, of New Washington, Clark county, Ind., and Mrs. Martha A. Parks, of Jefferson county, Ind., sitting in the hallway at the courthouse waiting for a marriage license. It was to be the third venture for each and they desired to begin early in the day. Magistrate James S. Keigwin was summoned and the ceremony was said on his arrival.

Shepherd is a farmer and was born near New Washington on May 2, 1843. His first wife, with whom he lived many years, died in 1892, and he remarried a year later. His second wife expired in 1903. The bride was orginally Miss Martha A. Moore, and she was born in Jefferson county, Ind., October 30, 1852. She was married when a young woman and her first husband died in 1891. She then found another man she believed would make a good husband, but they did not get along well and a divorce was secured in 1901.

GREAT SINGER

APPEARS AT WOMAN'S CLUB TO-MORROW EVENING.

Seats For Concert Going Rapidly and Auditorium Likely Will Be Filled To Capacity.

When Madame Emma Eames appears at the Woman's Club to-morrow evening, she will have nearly completed an extensive tour of the larger and more important cities of the United States. While the tour will have brought great musical pleasure to the people of the cities visited, that will not prove to have been its only result, as Mme. Eames has gathered a large sum for her appearances, averaging $6,000 each week. Her cost to the Musical Art Society will be $1,500, while the highest possible sum to be obtained by the society from the sale of seats will not reach any such figure.

The reason for this difference is the small seating capacity of the auditorium of the Woman's Club, where the recital will be given. This auditorium is perfect in acoustics for music of the character of that produced by Mme. Eames, and a loss is shouldered by the society in order to have the eminent soprano appear under the most auspicious conditions possible.

A most interesting feature of the Eames tour is the intense interest taken in the trip by the singer herself. Throughout the country the most enthusiastic receptions have been accorded the singer, and she has frequently expressed a warm interest in her audiences and her work.

While the Musical Art Society has offered this winter and spring the finest musical season since its formation, it is thought that by far the best attraction has been saved for the last. Mme. Eames is by far the highest-priced and most famous musical offering made this year by the society. Tickets are still on sale at Smith & Nixon's, though the house is nearly sold out at this time.

MANY CASES CALLED IN POLICE COURT YESTERDAY.

Those Against Saloonkeepers Go Over To Another Date—Clerks Are Delayed In Making Up Docket.

Four saloonkeepers, with those who were arrested in connection with the cases, were arraigned in Police Court yesterday morning and the cases were all continued. The proprietors were charged with violating the Sunday-closing law. These cases, together with those of twenty negroes who were captured in a raid upon an alleged poker game on Grayson street, and the usual round-up on charges of loitering and disorderly conduct, etc., swelled the Police Court docket to such proportions that the clerks were delayed in preparing the dockets. Ninety-six cases are registered on the docket.

The cases against Charles Borst, proprietor of a saloon at 232 North Shelby street, and against his brother, John Borst, who conducts a saloon at Twenty-fifth street and Griffiths avenue, were continued until April 23.

The cases against Christ Kuhn, proprietor of a saloon at 1016 Baxter avenue, was continued until April 29, while the case against Gus Zabel, who conducts a saloon at 2411 Spring street, was passed until April 28.

Internal Revenue Collections.

The internal revenue collections yesterday were as follows:

Lists, $9.83; beer, $1,560; whisky, $31,768.35; cigars, $176.55; tobacco, $8,237.34; special tax, $6.25; case stamps, $70; total, $41,828.32.

Back On the Bench.

Judge J. Wheeler McGee returned to the bench in the Police Court yesterday after an absence of three weeks, caused by an attack of the grip. During this time Judge William Krieger has been acting Judge of the City Court.

MONEY REFUSED

Charles Foushee Seeks To Enter Primary.

DEMOCRATIC COMMITTEE TURNS HIM DOWN.

OPENLY AFFILIATED WITH REPUBLICANS RECENTLY.

DEATH OF O. L. BRADLEY.

Lexington, Ky., April 12.—[Special.]—A small political sensation was raised here to-day when the entry fee to the Democratic primary, tendered by Charles W. Foushee, who announced himself last Saturday as a candidate for County Clerk, was refused by Leon Smith, treasurer of the Democratic committee, under instructions from Chairman C. J. Bronston, and the other members of the subcommittee who have charge of the primary and who are W. D. Oldham, Martin S. Taylor and Capt. Jack Clark. Mr. Foushee, who was formerly well known as a Democrat, has for several years been a conspicuous and aggressive member of a small band of bolting Democrats who allied themselves with the Republican organization, and at the last city election ardently supported Col. W. R. Milward, the Republican nominee, against John Skain, the Democratic nominee, for Mayor, and has since been one of the most active promoters of the contest instituted by the Republicans in the Circuit Court. Mr. Foushee, on last Saturday, announced his candidacy through the Republican organ on a platform antagonistic to the Democratic organization.

This morning, accompanied by J. T. Jones as a witness, Mr. Foushee went to Mr. Smith and tendered the entry fee to the primary, which was $55. Mr. Smith promptly declined to receive the money, or to register Mr. Foushee as a candidate, and when Foushee insisted on knowing the reason, explained that he acted under the instructions of Chairman Bronston and the other members of the subcommittee, who had decided that Mr. Foushee was not a Democrat, was not entitled to the support of the members of the Democratic party, and, therefore, should not be permitted to appear under Democratic colors or to make the race as a candidate on the Democratic ticket.

As Mr. Foushee's most ardent admirer could not have believed that he had the ghost of a show of receiving the nomination had he been admitted to the primary, as there are few men in the county for whom Democrats generally feel so much antipathy, the Democratic committee had apparently excellent grounds for believing that his announcement as a candidate before the primary was not in good faith, but covered some ulterior purpose. The question was, however, a novel one, and as it is the first time, probably, in the history of the primary law, that man who claimed to be a Democrat and tendered his entry fee was refused permission to make the race. The Democratic leaders and prominent lawyers of both parties, however, are of the clear opinion that the power to refuse admission to a candidate who is not believed to be in good faith affiliating with the party which holds the primary is unmistakably within the discretion of the committee.

Mr. Foushee declared that he was very indignant over being refused admission to the primary, and said that he is registered as a Democrat, came of a life-long Democratic family and that while he did not support Skain for Mayor, he is a Democrat now, and is as much entitled to be a candidate and to participate in the primary as any other citizen who claims to be a Democrat and is registered as such.

When the Democratic subcommittee learned that Mr. Foushee had declared that he was a Democrat, it immediately issued a new order directing Treasurer Smith to accept Mr. Foushee's entry fee and enter him upon the lists of candidates for the primary upon the condition that he would pledge himself to support the nominees who should be declared chosen by the primary election. Mr. Foushee was notified of this action, but refused to accept this condition, and, therefore, declined to again tender his entry fee.

O. L. Bradley Dies.

O. L. Bradley, for many years teller at the Phoenix National Bank, one of the best-known business men and personally popular citizens of Lexington, and a member of the Orphan Brigade during the Civil War, died this afternoon at 1 o'clock at his home on North Upper street after having been in ill health for nearly a year, although his condition had not been considered serious until a few days ago. He had been gradually sinking with little hope of recovery since Saturday afternoon.

Mr. Bradley was 69 years old and was a son of the late Thomas Bradley junior member of the banking firm of Grinstead and Bradley, which was for many years the most powerful financial institution of Lexington. He attended Transylvania University and was graduated from Center College in Danville in 1858. He was graduated from the Harvard Law College in 1860, and received his license to practice, but never took up the legal profession. He went into the Confederate army at the beginning of the Civil War, and served four years. He was a member of Company B, of the Second Kentucky Regiment, of the famous Orphan Brigade under Colonel Roger Hanson. He was taken prisoner twice by the Union forces. He was first captured at Ft. Donaldson and escaped from camp Morton, but he went back into the army and was again taken prisoner near the close of the war. He saw a great deal of active service and was in most of the hard-fought battles of his command, as he was in prison only a short while each time he was captured. After coming home from the war Mr. Bradley entered his father's private banking house in 1866, and for the remaining forty-three years of his life he was in the banking business. He had been with the Phoenix National Bank for many years at the time his health finally broke down in June, 1908, in fact he started in with the Phoenix on its opening day.

Mr. Bradley married Miss Elizabeth Hayes in 1866, who survives him, with six children, Clarence H. Bradley, of Chicago; Thomas C. Bradley and Dr. Ernest Bradley, of Lexington; Charles W. Bradley, of Norfolk, Va.; Mrs. Mary Bradley Railey, of Lexington, and Mrs. Percy Morris Burrell, of New York, and one grandson, Bradley R[illegible]. He is survived also by his mother, Mrs. Thomas Bradley, and sister, Mrs. William S. Barnes. Mr. Bradley took an active interest in public affairs and was a stanch Democrat. He served several terms as member of the General Council, and was for four years a member of the Police and Fire Commission. He was treasurer of the old National Racing Association for years. When the Trotting Association was organized he was made treasurer of that. He was a consistent member of the Central Christian church.

Campaign Speeches.

J. Franklin Wallace, candidate for the Democratic nomination for County Attorney, made a campaign speech this afternoon from the street upon Cheapside. Mr. Wallace announced himself as against party machines and declared that the Democrats of Fayette county are getting their eyes open, and are determined to route the machine, as the Beckham machine was driven from power in the State of Kentucky two years ago. Mr. Wallace charged that Maury Kemper, one of his opponents, was not a candidate in good faith, but only holding on to protect the interests of Judge Kinkead, his former law partner.

Maury Kemper responded to calls for a speech, and followed Mr. Wallace. He emphatically denied Wallace's charges that he was running in the interest of any man or set of men and strongly emphasized his position. It was officially announced to-day that in the event of Circuit Judge Watts Parker being nominated and re-elected he would appoint Judge Matt Walton, Master Commissioner to succeed George C. Webb, who now holds that position.

Boys Put In Reform School.

A bunch of six Paintsville youngsters, ranging in ages from 15 to 17 years, in custody of Deputy Sheriff Curtis Ford and two guards, J. B. Vanhoose and Mart Brown, of Johnson county, were brought to the Reform School to-day.

Five of the boys, Bee Conley, Fige Hampton, John Adams, Cleve Burk and a Mahan boy, composed a gang of chicken thieves, who raided every henroost in the town of Paintsville before they were captured. All these boys being under age they were tried by Judge Kirk and sentenced to the Reform School. One of the prisoners, John Boyd, aged 17 years, was sent with the quintet for false swearing in the case of the chicken thieves.

LOCAL WHISKY MEN

TO ATTEND CONVENTION IN ATLANTIC CITY JUNE 15.

Big Delegation Likely Will Leave Louisville Aboard a Special Train—Plans For Gathering.

A big delegation of local whisky men likely will leave here some time in June to attend the annual convention of the National Wholesale Liquor Dealers' Association of America, which will be convened in Atlantic City June 15. The announcement was made yesterday that an attempt will be made to arouse interest here in the convention so that a special train of delegates can be made up. Stanley Bronner will have charge of the matter from now on, and he announces that the prospects for 100 or more delegates are most favorable.

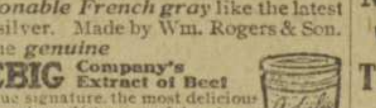

Mr. Bronner said yesterday that if a good representation is secured it probably will be arranged so that the special car from Louisville can be coupled onto the St. Louis and Cincinnati special train bearing delegates to the convention. Prominent wholesale liquor dealers will be approached by Mr. Bronner on the subject, not only in Louisville but in the State and down South.

It is further understood that the men who are interested in the trip to Atlantic City intend to select some prominent local man for one of the high offices in the association. Should this be done they will make their presence felt in Atlantic City before the convention, which is scheduled to last three days, beginning June 15, is over. The annual meetings of the association always attract between 2,000 and 3,000 delegates, and advance information from Atlantic City indicates that the meeting this year will be a record-breaker in more ways than one.

SECURES WARRANTS AGAINST COUNTY SALOONKEEPERS.

Assistant County Attorney Chesley Searcy took out warrants yesterday morning for three county saloonkeepers, charging them with violating the Sunday-closing law. They are W. F. Hockersmith, Taylorsville road; Mike Grasmick, Eighteenth-street road, and John Gordon, Seventh-street road. The warrants were sworn out in Magistrate Dailey's office on information furnished him by several county patrolmen who say they have secured evidence against the saloonkeepers.

SCHEDULE FOR TO-DAY.

American League.

N. Y. at Washington. Boston at Philadel.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., April 12.—The American League season was opened here to-day with the largest crowd that ever witnessed a baseball game in this city—30,162 paying for admission, while nearly one thousand more were present as guests of the clubs.

The occasion marked the opening of Shibe Park, the new half-million-dollar home of the Philadelphia American League club. So great was the rush for the park that the gates were closed at 2 o'clock, one hour before play started, and thousands of persons were turned away.

After the parade across the field, which was led by President Johnson, of the American League; President B. F. Shibe, of the Philadelphia club; President John I. Taylor, of the Boston club, and W. O. Huntley, of Chicago, and the flag-raising, Mayor Reyburn tossed out the ball and Umpire Hurst announced that the game was on.

Philadelphia outplayed Boston both in pitching and at the bat. Plank was in grand condition, and held Boston to six hits. Boston's pitchers were batted hard, and nearly all the hits off them were bunched. Arellanes was taken out in the seventh inning, after eleven hits had been made off him. Ryan, who took his place, was very wild, and he was also touched up for two hits. Murphy led the hitting with two doubles and two singles in five attempts, while Nichols made two singles and a double. Lord, with a single and a double, and Wagner, with two singles, led Boston with the stick.

Manager Mack, of Philadelphia, used three of his young players in the game. Eddie Collins, who played second, drove out two singles and received two passes. Strunk was used in center field, while McInnes played shortstop, and did fine work. The latter is a High School boy from Gloucester, Mass., and is only 18 years old.

Shibe Park, which has cost an outlay of considerably more than half a million dollars, was in gay attire. The great stands of concrete and steel will seat 23,000 persons, with standing-room for half as many more. Including the standing-room around the field, it is estimated that 40,000 persons may be accommodated, so large is the ground and so massive is the stands.

Shibe Park is the very latest thing in baseball construction. Every known convenience and device has been employed for the safety and comfort of the club's patrons. Every bit of the lofty stands has been built in the strongest and most indestructible manner possible. The exits and entrances have been made extra wide and easy of approach. The stairways are very wide, and care has been taken to make the steps easy of descent and ascent. Nothing has been overlooked, and the comfort of the many women who attend the games has been given especial consideration.

Shibe Park is the baseball show place of the country. The management set aside 2,600 seats which they reserved for those who would care to pay extra to be sure of a seat at the opening game. Here is the one mistake the management made. All the seats were gobbled up in an hour after they had been placed on sale, and there was a loud cry for more.

A feature of the stand is that from every seat a clear view of the playing field may be had. The bleachers are set on an angle, and there is not a seat on either the right or left field bleachers from which the entire ground cannot be seen. The placement of the seats is such that every man can see over the head of the man in the tier below him, and has a view of every player and every line of the diamond.

For the patrons of the grandstand and the pavilion the same can be said. There is not a column or a post that will interfere with an unobstructed view of the field. The slope of the upper pavilion is such that from any point in the back of the stand the ground can be seen for a distance of twenty-five feet in back of the catcher.

In providing for overflow crowds, the outer edges of the field have been banked so that the spectators stand in rows one above the other, but sufficiently in back of the players as not to prevent their free playing.

Still another good feature of the grounds is the provision made to permit the crowd to pass out quickly. There are fourteen exits in all. There are three twelve-foot gates, three sixteen-foot gates and two eighteen-foot gates, in addition to six big exits under the grandstand.

Everything has been arranged to please the patrons. Once inside the entrances the spectator is not bewildered by a mazy lot of passages to find his way to a seat. A promenade fourteen feet wide leads past the players' quarters to the right and left-field bleachers, and a grand stairway leads to the pavilions. Should a bleacherite desire to change his seat for one in the pavilion, two turnstiles have been provided, which make it easy for him to get to the grandstands without going outside the grounds and losing his turn to get a ticket.

Over five hundred tons of steel was used in the structural iron work. An engineering problem of gigantic proportions faced the builders in the construction of the cantilever. To form a solid unit which would bear the enormous weight and yet resist safely the wind pressure was the goal the engineers strived for. In connection with the building of the park there is the largest amount of pipe railing and wire screen work of any building in the city, and the erection of this work required the utmost care and the use of the best materials obtainable to accomplish the purpose for which it is intended.

Catcher Powers, of the Philadelphia American League team, became suddenly ill to-day while in the dressing-room at the conclusion of the game and was removed to a hospital. His illness was diagnosed as gastritis. The score:

Greatest Crowd In History of Baseball In Washington Sees Opening Game.

Washington, April 12.—The American League season was opened to-day in a game between Washington and New York clubs before what was said to be the largest crowd that has ever turned out in this city, there being about 15,000 paid admissions. The stands were packed to their limit, while the overflowing crowds completely encircled the outfield a dozen deep. It was the original intention of calling the game at 3:45 o'clock, but the sale of seats had to be stopped at 3:15 and the contest started at 3:20. Many prominent people of official and diplomatic circles were present.

The game was won easily by Washington, the final score being 4 to 1 in their favor. The locals batted hard at critical points and were helped along by costly errors of the New Yorkers. Pitcher Charlie Smith was a great puzzle to the visitors, who are credited with only four hits, the triple of Knight's being of the lucky order, as Milan fell and lost the drive in the sun, the ball bounding over his head. Smith had plenty of speed and good control, striking out ten of the opposing batsmen. Back of Smith the Washingtons fielded almost perfectly, a dropped line fly by Delehanty being the only misplay.

Newton began twirling for the New Yorks, but was wild and ineffective, and after working four innings, gave way to Brockett, who held the locals to two hits and no runs in the final four rounds. The fielding feature of the game was a remarkable one-handed catched by Left Fielder Engle of a long fly from Street's bat in the third inning. There were three men on the bases and only one out at the time. Engle ran to the edge of the crowd in left field, and as the ball was sailing over his head, jumped and grabbed the ball in his ungloved hand. As Engle disappeared in a mixture of arms and legs he held the ball, Delehanty scoring from third on the out. Conroy, who was on second, left the bag before the ball was caught and was declared out when the ball was returned to second.

Washington scored three runs in the first inning after the visitors had been retired runless. Clymer walked, but Milan forced him at second on roller to Newton. Unglaub doubled into the crowd in left field, but the ground rule held Milan at third. Delehanty then sent a roller to Newton, who threw to head off Milan, but Kleinow dropped the ball and the runner scored. Conroy rolled one toward first, which Newton fumbled and the bases were filled. Freeman followed with a long single into left scoring Unglaub and Delehanty.

In the third inning Washington scored its fourth and final run, the resutl of singles by Delehanty and Conroy and Street's long fly.

New York's lonesome tally developed in the fourth inning. Elberfield led off with a clean double into center and Engle got a base on balls. Ward moved both men up with a sacrifice and on Ball's out, short to first, Elberfield crossed the plate. Score:

BARNEY DREYFUSS ARRIVES WITH THE PENNANT BEE IN HIS BONNET.

BARNEY DREYFUSS, the owner of the Pittsburg National League club, arrived in the city last evening from Terre Haute, Ind., where the Pirates played an exhibition game with the local team there yesterday. Mr. Dreyfuss' visit here is solely for the purpose of spending a few hours with relatives who live in this city. In speaking of the Pittsburg club and its chances of finishing first in the fight for the pennant Mr. Dreyfuss grew enthusiastic over the prospects. The Pittsburgs, New Yorks and Chicagos were all bunched in the race during the closing days of the race for the pennant, and the finish was one of the most exciting ever witnessed in baseball, the Chicagos winning by a narrow margin. Mr. Dreyfuss said last night that now that Kling was away from the Cubs and Bresnahan from the New Yorks those teams had been weakened and the chances of the Pittsburgs were brighter for winning the flag. Mr. Dreyfuss also made an announcement that will bring joy to fans at home and everywhere. It was that Hans Wagner, the star of the big league, had joined the club at Terre Haute yesterday and is in splendid condition and will be ready to play ball on the opening of the championship season at Cincinnati to-morrow. Mr. Dreyfuss will remain here until this evening, when he will go to Cincinnati to witness the opening game.

BILLY SULLIVAN TO MANAGE CHICAGO WHITE SOX THIS YEAR

CHICAGO, April 12.—Wm. J. Sullivan will command the Chicago White Sox baseball team of the American League, succeeding Fielder Jones. Charles A. Comiskey, owner of the club, made the official announcement of Sullivan's appointment to-day. His star catcher will be the manager and captain of the club. The salary which goes with the position was not made public.

Sullivan was officially notified of his appointment by President Comiskey in Cincinnati Sunday night, and he accepted the appointment. In fact the official notification was no surprise to the catcher, because he has been acting manager of the Sox regular squad on the spring training trip, and knew that he would succeed Fielder Jones if the later would not return to the team. Jones to President Comiskey a few days ago his final refusal to play baseball this year.

"I thought that there might be a chance for Jones to return to the team," said Comiskey to-day, "but when day before yesterday I received his final word I went to Cincinnati and notified Sullivan that he would be my manager this year."

"What do you think of Sullivan's personal qualifications for the position?" he was asked.

"Well," replied the "old Roman" of baseball, "in the first place his strong right arm is a great qualification, and next to that is his good brain. Sullivan has baseball brains. I would like to have had Jones come back, but that was impossible. Sullivan will be a great manager and he has a great team to manage."

President Comiskey announced further that Cravath, one of the Sox recruits, would succeed Fielder Jones in center-field. "Jakey" Atz will be the regular second baseman for the start of the season at least, and Parent will play at short. Isbell will play first and Tannehill at third.

"Billy" Sullivan has been star catcher for the White Sox since 1901. He was purchased from the Boston National League Club. Boston got him from Columbus, O. He began his baseball career at Dubuque, Iowa. Sullivan has been regarded generally by baseball experts as one of the greatest backstops in the business. Last year he led the American League catchers with a fielding average of 985. In his batting he fell short of his previous records. His average for the season was only 191. He has, however, always been relied on as a pinch hitter.

WHAT LEADERS IN THE BIG LEAGUES SAY

I MIGHT write a novel about the coming American League race," says B. B. Johnson, president of the American League, "but I won't. I look for another spirited struggle for our gonfalon. There are many persons who seem inclined to the belief that the Detroits will make a runaway race of it. I do not share in this opinion. There is no disputing the fact that Detroit will take the field this spring a much improved club, but there are other teams in the American League that have been strengthened. Cleveland, St. Louis and Philadelphia are sure to be prominent competitors for the pennant. The loss of Fielder Jones is a severe handicap to the Chicago club, and may result in much harm to its pennant chances."

THERE are many reasons why the thirty-fourth championship race of the National League should prove of unusual interest," says John A. Heydler, acting president of the National League. "One of these will undoubtedly be the supreme effort of the present Chicago champions to establish a new record for our organization by winning the pennant for the fourth successive time. The championship contests will receive further interest through the adoption of the complete double-umpire system, thus keeping pace with the improved and greatly quickened action of the game and insuring satisfaction to player and public alike."

ANTE-SEASON GAMES OFTEN GET NEW UMPIRES IN BAD

IS it a bad idea for new major league umpires to work exhibition games between big league teams before making their debut?

During the winter President Pulliam, of the National League, appointed Steve Kane, of the American Association, and Harry Truby, a well-known minor leaguer, to places on his umpire staff. Kane's home is in Louisville, and Truby's home in Ironton, O.

A year ago "Silk" O'Loughlin worked at Cincinnati, but his price for a return engagement was too high, and the new National leaguer, Truby, was secured to work in all the exhibition games played by the Reds. It has been nothing but trouble for Truby in all the games. In the first two contests of the series with the Boston Red Sox, the American leaguers made life miserable for Truby, while in the third game, which Boston won, Truby found it necessary to put Griffiths on the bench.

In Louisville Steve Kane has been working all the exhibition games, and while not bumping into so much trouble as Truby, has had several run-ins. Out on the coast Umpire Perrine, a recent appointee of the American League staff, found it necessary to tie the can on several of the White Sox in order to preserve peace.

The trials of a new umpire in the major league are generally more than strenuous. The players, knowing nothing of the ability of the arbitrators in question, try every possible way to find out and discover any weaknesses he may have. In the regular games, with the president back of him, and salty fines probable for any bad outbreak, players are more careful as to their actions. In the exhibition games all the umpire can do is to eject them from the games, consequently they take longer chances.

It is easy enough for an umpire to get in bad after the season opens, so it sort of seems as if a new man is rather borrowing trouble to work any until he has sort of established himself in strange company.

LOCAL PLAYERS ARE CONFIDENT

Colonels Think They Will Beat Clymer's Columbus Senators.

ALL READY FOR THE OPENING.

Tate To Play First Base In Place of Sullivan, With Landreth In Right Field.

FINAL PRACTICE IS HARD.

HEINE PEITZ, the leader of the Colonels, said last night that all of his players are in shape to start playing ball in earnest to-morrow. Jack Halla, the portside twirler, and Peitz will be the battery which will endeavor to pilot the locals to victory in the initial engagement with Billy Clymer's Senators, of Columbus. Jack Taylor or "Rube" Geyer and Catcher James will be at the points for the invaders.

On account of his hitting in the exhibition games, Tate will, it is almost certain, cover the first bag. Cy Landreth will take care of right field. This will be the only shift for the present. The men occupying the other stations remain uncharged. Tate will bat in fourth place and Landreth will follow him.

Considering the fact that only about six days were fit for good practice, the Colonels are in remarkably fine shape. This is particularly true of the twirlers. All expressed their confidence yesterday of being able to go the full route now, if necessary. The infielders and outfielders declared that their throwing arms were strong and their orbs in trim to wallop the ball.

"Let Clymer come on with his bunch. We're not afraid of him, and we will take his measure without much trouble," exclaimed the local players while in the clubhouse at Eclipse Park.

Manager Peitz has a big supply of pepper on hand, and he intends to inject into his men heavy doses. He, as well as his players, are eager to get a running start. Every man will be expected to be up and doing and playing baseball to the limit during the game.

Besides the snap, brawn and muscle, it requires brains to play ball. This is essential in any contest for supremacy. The Colonels are well supplied with the gray matter, and for this reason will be able to carve their way through the coming campaign.

Pitchers Selby, Hogg, Packard and Durham will all be given a chance to work against the Senators and Mudhens on the local lot. Manager Peitz is not afraid that these twirlers will not be able to do their part toward earning a victory. However, he wants to see what the slabmen can do in the early going. This is why he intends to use them in the home series. To date the hopefuls have all exhibited in the different brief sessions they officiated at the mound that they are capable of holding up their end. There is no denying the fact that with Halla and Puttmann the Colonels have the best staff of pitchers in this league.

The Colonels, under the leadership of Heine Peitz, indulged in another five hours' hard practice yesterday at the local ballyard. All entered into their work with a spirit. The veteran catcher put his men through every department of the game. The day was warm and the players were able to work up a good sweat. If the weather is favorable to-day, the men will be drilled in baserunning and sliding into the different bases.

The grandstand, bleachers and boxes are all in shape to take care of the big attendance. General Manager Chivington has everything arranged for the opening day to-morrow. The grounds have been rolled and leveled, and compare with any diamond in this country. The local fans will appreciate the big improvements made for their comfort.

* * *

Hats off to the Weather Man. He has promised a fair sky and more than ideal day for the opening of the American Association baseball season to-morrow afternoon at Eclipse Park. The Columbus Senators will start the proceedings with the Colonels. The game will be called at 3 o'clock. The gates will be opened at 1:30 o'clock.

While the Colonels are battling with the Senators here, six other clubs will also begin the ball-rolling in other cities. Toledo is slated to clash with the Indianapolis Browns at the latter's home; the Saints will tackle the Brewers at Milwaukee, and the Millers will engage the Blues at Kansas City. Who will umpire the different games will not be known until to-morrow afternoon.

* * *

If "Rube" Geyer, the southpaw twirler, is not picked to pitch the opening game here against the Colonels Jack Taylor is likely to be tagged. He opened last season at Columbus with the Saints and bagged his game, 5 to 4. During last year he was very successful against the Louisville club.

Eighteen players at least will be brought to Louisville and Indianapolis. Two catchers, probably James and Shreck, will come. Erloff will be left at home to work with the pitchers.

Geyer, Taylor, Goodwin, Upp and Milligan are five pitchers about sure to make the trip. Three more may be carried.

Miller, Wrigley, Friel, O'Rourke and La Rue are the infielders in line for the trip. Which one will be on the bench will not be known until to-morrow. Outfielders Kruger, Odwell, Congalton and Reilley will be on the job.

* * *

Manager Kelley of the St. Paul team without making any big bluster, has quietly gathered together a bunch of players who can hold their own against any team in minor league baseball. The Saints have displayed great form in the games played to date, and the men are in fine condition to get a running start when the season opens.

* * *

There is not a weak department, it is claimed, on the St. Paul team. Kelley did not burden himself with several carloads of men, and thus saved himself the laborious task of "weeding out." He picked up men he thought would make good and as soon as he had a position satisfactorily filled he looked for no more players for that place.

* * *

Manager Kelley has lines on several good men in case any man on the team does not come up to expectations.

The complete line-up of the Saints now is as follows:

Pitchers—Gehring, Laroy, Hall, Baertschi, Holmes, Dretchko, Dunbar and Nelson.

Catchers—Carrisch, Yeager and Wilson.

Infield—Flynn, Flood, O'Brien, Nee, Cockman and Bean.

Outfield—Davis, Armbruster, Murray, Hoey and Meloan.

If there is to be any surprises in the American League this season it is promised by Connie Mack of the Athletics, and it seems as if he would turn the trick. He has fielders and pitchers who look good enough to win the bunting. Mack himself is elated over the fact that he has a find in Baker, who will play third base. Baker was the sensation of the Tri-State League last season and is expected to repeat in the American League this year. Harry Davis, recognized as one of the leading first baseman on the circuit, will be at that position again. The team is strong there, as Davis is an excellent batter and fielder. Murphy or Eddie Collins will cover second. It looks as if Collins would be given the preference to play regularly, as he is timely with the bat. Nicholls, because of his speed on the bases and ability to cover much ground, will play short with Barry as extra.

In the American Baseball League Detroit, which won the pennant of 1908, apparently has its old strength and a little more. The added power is in the catching department, which is increased by Beckendorf and Stanage. As Schmidt did not report until late, either one of these two will open the season. Stanage has been hitting exceptionally well in the spring training games.

The club is just as strong as ever in both the infield and outfield, as there will be two changes. Bush, who was secured late last season, has been assigned the job of regular shortstop. Rossman will again be on the first sack, Schaefer at second and Moriarity at third. The latter has shown work in practice that has caused Manager Jennings to assert that the third position will be stronger than it has been since Bill Coughlin was in his prime.

With Ty Cobb, Sam Crawford and Matty McIntyre billed to make up the outfield the Tigers have the best trio of any in the league for hitting, fielding and base running. This is shown by their standing. In the averages of last season Cobb was second in the list with .324, Crawford fourth with .311 and McIntyre ninth with .295.

While Detroit's infield and outfield is constructed with players who can hit and field, its pitching staff is not the best in the league, although Manager Jennings has some good twirlers in Willett, Mullin, Donovan, Killian, Summers. He has five youngsters on his staff and expects to get at least two capable men to hold them for the season. "Bumpus" Jones has demonstrated that he has the "stuff" and looks like a certainty on the club, while Suggs and Works are strong contenders for a berth.

* * *

It is not possible to say now just how the Senators will be arrayed. Manager Clymer will be doing both his club and the affected players a favor if he secures new material and passes some of the veterans on to other fields of labor, says the Ohio State Journal.

* * *

When a ball club's bosses set forth to carry out an avowed policy of having a winner, the patrons should be gleeful. It means that they are in for round after round of interesting and exciting baseball.

* * *

It will be the aim of Manager Clymer to improve the new club over the one that was disbanded last August. If he could do no better than bring back the 1908 team at exactly its old speed, he would probably make a very hard fight, as neither Indianapolis nor Louisville is likely to be rapid as last season.

* * *

Jimmy Collins has informed Joe Cantillion that Outfielder Mertens, a big fellow from Iowa and drafted last fall by Detroit, is as fine a prospect as encountered anywhere these days.

* * *

President Watkins, of the Indianapolis Club, is spurning offers to swap Catcher Livingston. The Brown owner says that a fight of principle is on, and that Livingston will have to play for his original offer or stay out.

* * *

Cleveland may be able to dig up pitchers for the Toledo Club, but Kilfoyl, Somers & Co. can't take the lead out of the Hen feet. When Homer Smoot is ranked as the fastest man on the Toledo Club, you can figure for yourself how many hits it will take to score the average players on that team. By the first of July the Hens will not have a cramped park to help them out in all their home games.

* * *

New York, which took a big slump last season on account of poor management, is expected to come back to its own again this summer under the able directorship of Manager George Stallings. The latter will have to start without Hal Chase, but he has an abundance of experienced men to use in his place. He has considerable young material on hand and does not anticipate any difficulty in selecting a team which will hold more than its own in the pennant chase.

* * *

Manager Jimmy McAleer has a good staff of twirlers, and if they can get the backing in the field and with the bat they will, as has been the case before, prove hard nuts to crack. The best men are Powell, Dineen, Howell, Pelty and Waddell. Howell has been injured, but he is expected back soon. Justus, a youngster, looks good and probably will stay. Graham and Bailey have shown up well and are expected to be held. This group should keep St. Louis in the first division, fans think.

Perfecting the Baseball.

Those acquainted with the rules governing the baseball clubs playing under the national agreement, know that in Section 1 of Rule 14, the weight and circumference of the official baseball is specifically set forth. The reasons for this are few and simple, but of vital importance to the game.

During the early years of professional baseball the use of any old ball was permissible so long as it approached somewhere near the recognized size. Naturally, no two balls were ever alike; some were dead, others lively, and it was seldom that a ball lasted an entire game.

This difference in the balls caused no end of trouble to the players. The pitcher preferred the dead ball, the batter the lively one. This led to so much "doctoring" of balls and chicanery in substitution of balls that the practice became a scandal. This state of affairs, of course, played havoc with the players' averages, and, moreover, robbed the game of many points in skill and interest.

The magnates, recognizing the justice of the demand of players and patrons alike for a standard ball, adopted the Reach ball as the standard for all league games.

Then came the change for the better. Every department of the game showed marked improvement as a result of the adoption of the ball.

Double-Header For High School.

Next Saturday afternoon the High School baseball team will play its first home engagement of the season. The Purple has already played three games, all against college nines, but these were away from home, two in Lexington, Ky., and one in Franklin, Ind. In spite of its older and more experienced opponents, High School won two out of the three games played, beating Transylvania University by a decisive score and Franklin College by one run, 3 to 2.

These victories have inspired the boys with confidence and they hope to win two games at High School park on Saturday. They play two—a double-header with the University of Louisville and the Dental College teams. The Purple defeated the dentists last year, though they were defeated by them the year before, but the University of Louisville is a newcomer in the local baseball field.

Detroit Downs Columbus.

Columbus, O., April 12.—[Special.]—Columbus closed its exhibition season to-day by a defeat from Detroit, 5 to 4 in ten innings. James tied the score by a home run in the ninth. Cobb cleaned the bases with a triple in the tenth, putting Detroit one to the good. Milligan had all the Detroit runs scored off him when he replaced Linke in the fifth. Score:

Innings	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9	10	R	H	E

SPEEDY DECISION IN LATONIA CASE.

CINCINNATI, April 12.—Steps were taken to-day to hasten final adjudication by the Kentucky Court of Appeals in the test case to determine the status of the Latonia Jockey Club, the result of which it is expected will be a decision by that body prior to the opening day of the Latonia spring meeting, May 25.

An agreement by attorneys on both sides was forwarded to Frankfort to-day providing for advancing the appeal from the decision of Judge Harbeson, of the Kenton County Circuit Court, which held that the Kentucky State Racing Commission had acted without authority in revoking the license of the Latonia track because bookmaking was allowed.

It is expected that the court of last resort will render a decision within the next two weeks, and upon it will depend whether bookmaking will be permitted or whether the restriction to the pari-mutuel system will apply at Latonia.

Will Wallace has Lane Allen, Bara Avis, Mascellera and five 2-year-olds at Churchill Downs—three by Radford, one by Broomstick and another by Sempronius.

* * *

K. I. Weil, of Chicago, is at Churchill Downs to send the following to the post: Clyamic, a 2-year-old bay colt, by Inspector B.—Dictyuna; Foxy Quiller, a 2-year-old bay colt, by Woolsthorpe—Splendid; Princess Thorpe, a brown 2-year-old filly, by Woodthorpe—Princess Bowling. These racers spent the winter in Chicago and were quartered at 37 Michigan boulevard. They were worked on the half-mile straight-away on the Michigan boulevard before 6 o'clock in the morning. To do this Weil had a special permit. Weil says he is sure to win several races here this spring.

Eugene Elrod will arrive from Santa Anita on April 22. He will have charge of the betting rings at Lexington and Louisville.

* * *

"Wink" Williams is coming to Churchill Downs from California with Fundamental, Hans and four others. Williams has no stake entries here this spring.

* * *

Andy Ginter—Five eighths in 1:04.
Darin—Half in :52 2-5.
Harry Grothe—Five eighths in 1:04.
Please—Half in :50 4-5.

Jacobite, owned by Charley Ellison, which will race this spring at Churchill Downs, is second in the list of 6-year-olds racing this winter on the Pacific coast. Fulletta leads, Roseben is third. Jacobite's victories number six, being second once and third once. His winnings from the coast campaign amount to $2,595. Gypsy King, owned by H. G. Bedwell, which will be brought to the Downs, has won five races on the coast and $1,775. Banposal has won three races and $1,350. La Gloria was first three times and won $1,350. Alma Boy finished in front three times, winning $1,300. Dargin has won three races and $1,170. Deutschland has won three races and $1,170. Pal has won three races and $1,075.

* * *

Jack Adkin, better known as "Canada Jack," who has been extremely fortunate in winning with his horses at long odds, is in Louisville, and probably will remain through the meeting at Churchill Downs. He has just returned from California, where he had a good season.

Adkin thinks Keough is the best rider on the coast. He says the boy has a great pair of hands, and if he could scale around one hundred pounds he would be worth a million dollars, in the opinion of Adkin.

* * *

W. H. Fizer will take all of his best racers to the Lexington race meeting. His shipment, the last of the week, will include McAndrews, his crack Derby candidate, and Floreal, which will start in the Kentucky Oaks. McAndrews is working in fast time.

* * *

Ozana, a chestnut filly, owned by J. N. Camden, which will start in the Kentucky Oaks, is said to be the fleetest thing around Lexington.

* * *

Entries are being received by Lyman H. Davis, secretary of the New Louisville Jockey Club, for the Gentlemen's Cup race, which will be decided on May 18. Winners as well as nonwinners are eligible, and the event promises to be exceptionally attractive. It is certain Bert Collyer, of Chicago, will have a mount. Bowden Caldwell, of this city, will also ride.

* * *

Eddie Martin, who may ride Wintergreen in the Derby for Rome Respess, has arrived. Other riders at Churchill Downs are Hicks, Fogarty and Steele. McGee, Lovell and F. Burton will be here in a few days. All of these youngsters will be seen in the saddle at Lexington.

* * *

Jockey Preston, it is said, will ride Cal Milam's Ada Meade in the Kentucky Derby and Kentucky Oaks. Preston regained his form on the coast, and is riding better now than ever before. Preston is a Texas product.

* * *

Frank Grosche, who has a 2-year-old colt by Orlando—Topsy Over, in training at Lexington, will, in all probability, upset some calculations at Churchill Downs. This one ran a quarter as a yearling in :23½. Grosche has refused $3,000 for this colt.

* * *

Fotsch is a 2-year-old Cesarion colt in W. J. Young's barn, and he is a grand looker. He is a ringer for Cesarion, being almost as dark, and with another year's growth will be as dark and as broad as his sire.

MESSAGE TO AMERICA

FROM GEN. WILLIAM BOOTH ON HIS EIGHTIETH BIRTHDAY.

Founder of Salvation Army Calls On Young Nation To Lead World To God.

New York, April 12.—A message from Gen. William Booth, founder and commander of the Salvation Army, was read to-night at a remarkable celebration in Carnegie Hall in honor of his 80th birthday anniversary. Miss Eva Booth, the General's daughter, and commander of the Salvation Army in America, read the message to the packed hall. It was as follows:

"London, April 10, 1909.—To the American people: O, America, how vast is your opportunity for making a last mark for good on the entire human race. Endowed with measureless material resources, enjoying the unbounded confidence of your own people, favored with the concentrated light of earth and heaven, possessed of an influence covering like a shadow all the world beside; what a power you must be destined to become.

What will you do with this mighty magic force? If you are permitted to realize your ambition to lead the world, whither will you lead it? To utter abandonment of faith in the eternal and the neglect of every duty flowing out of it, to senseless worship of mammon, to useless frivolities? No. I am sure you won't and I blush at the very mention of such things and denounce them with all my soul.

"Where else can you lead this poor, blind, stumbling world of ours but to the mighty, just, holy God and obedience to His commands; to the practice of righteousness, purity, honor, kindness and simplicity, to self-sacrificing service of mankind?

"O, America, I invite you to the actual realization of the Christian principles you profess and to practical imitation of Jesus Christ, who came out of his heaven to seek and save.

"Come along then, let us gird up our loins and go out of our heaven and put our arms around perishing multitudes and bring them to Christ, purity, peace and paradise.

"I invite you to make our common Christianity an ungainsayable reality and thus wipe out the reproach fast gathering over us that it is nothing more than an exploded tradition, a fashionable association, or a lifeless ceremony. Then when the wondering world asks, 'In what country can I find the thing described by the letter of the Bible and set forth in the life of Jesus Christ?' the answer shall be 'America.'

"GEN. WILLIAM BOOTH."

Messages cabled by various Governors and Mayors in this country to Gen. Booth in England, congratulating him on his birthday anniversary and paying tribute to his work, were read from the stage.

Welty, a cigarmaker, both of whom are residents and natives of Louisville, were married in Jeffersonville Sunday night by Magistrate James S. Keigwin. The bridegroom reached the age of twenty last month. His father, who was Philip Gernert, is dead. The bride became twenty years old last January and is a daughter of Charles J. Welty, who is in the wallpaper business.

John Kalleth, a machinist, and Miss Francisco Kosky, who has been employed in a tobacco factory, residents of Louisville, but natives of Austria, were married yesterday in Jeffersonville by Magistrate James S. Keigwin. The bridegroom will be 23 years old in May and his father, Jacob Kalleth, is a carpenter in Austria. The bride became 18 last January and is a daughter of Jacob Kosky, a farmer, who still lives in Austria.

FIRES IN HOTELS IN NORFOLK AND VICINITY.

Norfolk, Va., April 12.—Fire, originating in the bottom of the freight elevator, where a plumber overturned a lighted candle, threatened serious damage to the Monticello Hotel to-day. While the fire was confined to the cellar it looked for a time as though the building was doomed.

The Eagle Hotel and another frame building adjoining at Pine Beach were destroyed by fire to-night and the 7-year-old child of Night Watchman Basharas, of the Virginian railway, was probably fatally burned. The fire started from a stove.

RECEIVER FOR OUTING PUBLISHING COMPANY.

Syracuse, N. Y., April 12.—Judge George W. Ray, in United States Court here today appointed receivers for the Outing Publishing Company, of Deposit, publishers of the Outing, the Bohemian, the Grey Goose and Brains' magazines, and for Knapp Bros., bankers at Deposit and Callicoon.

The Outing receivers were authorized to continue the business of the company for thirty days and to borrow a sum not exceeding $2,500 for that purpose.

JOHNSON AND OTHER BIG BOXERS UNABLE TO AGREE.

New York, April 12.—After meeting the three heavyweights, and near heavies, who are anxious to fight him, Jack Johnson, the colored heavyweight champion, to-night announced that he would not decide as to whose challenge he would accept until Thursday. The reason given for this postponement was that Al Kauffmann, one of the anxious challengers, will box Tony Ross, a much-heralded fighter, before a local club to-morrow night, and Johnson desires to see how Kauffmann will figure as a drawing card for a championship match.

Willus Britt, representing Stanley Ketchel; Joe Woodman, for Sam Langford, and Billy DeLaney, representing Kauffmann, each demanded the right to fight Johnson at the conference to-day. Johnson suggested that the three challengers should fight each other to determine which should meet him for the championship. Britt objected to this and suggested that Johnson should accept the challenge of the man for whom the largest purse was put up. Johnson, however, demurred, and matters were left standing, pending the issue of the Kauffmann-Ross battle.

At the close of the conference Hugh D. McIntosh, the Australian fight promoter, offered a return match for Johnson and Burns. The champion's reply was that he would accept on the terms demanded by Burns at their Melbourne fight—$30,000 win, lose or draw. This was declined by McIntosh, who said he would attend the conference Thursday and would then offer to match Burns against either Kauffmann, Ketchel or Langford.

THESE NEW YORK BOUTS ARE NOT INTERFERED WITH.

New York, April 12.—The police department was well represented to-night at the six bouts scheduled before the Marathon Athletic Club of Brooklyn. There was no attempt to interfere with the programme, however, and all the fights were pulled off without incident.

In the principal bout Mickey McDonough, of Brooklyn, had the best of Jack McVey, of Jersey City, for nine rounds, when McVey unexpectedly turned the tables and landed some strong blows.

Another bout, which was scheduled to go ten rounds, was between Tommy Carey, of Philadelphia, and Billy Landers, of Jersey City. Landers, however, quit after the third round.

BLUEGRASS LEAGUE TEAMS GETTING IN CONDITION.

Richmond, Ky., April 12.—[Special.]—The "Pioneers," the Bluegrass league team of this city, won the first game of the season when they defeated the Hamilton, O., team in an exhibition game by a score of 15 to 4, after which they reported for practice in preparation for the opening of the season April 27. An exhibition game has been arranged for every day of this week, in addition to the regular morning practice, and it is believed from the material signed that Richmond will be well represented in the league this coming season.

Stop Fight In New York.

New York, April 12.—The police descended to-night upon the Olympic Athletic club, where an evening of boxing was to have been conducted, and cut short the festivities by arresting the manager, Edward McMahon, and the principals and referee of the initial bout of the evening after it had proceeded two rounds.

Nearly 800 admirers of the fistic sport had assembled to witness the three ten-round bouts which had been announced, but no arrests other than those in the ring were made.

Walker Weston Makes a Record.

Bryan, O., April 12.—Edward Payson Weston, the pedestrian, to-day made the record day's walk of his present trip from New York to San Francisco, covering seventy-one miles. The distance from Toledo to Bryan is but fifty-six miles, but between Toledo and Delta this morning Weston lost his way and had an extra walk of fifteen miles. He leaves at 6 o'clock to-morrow morning for Ligonier, Ind.

Stab Wounds Fatal.

William Roberts, colored, died at the city hospital at 6:30 o'clock last night from stab wounds received in a fight with Milum Wilcoxen, an ex-slave, on March 12. Wilcoxen was arrested at his home immediately after Roberts died, and was taken to the jail and charged with murder. The old man claims that he cut Roberts in self-defense.

RIVER, BUSINESS AND WEATHER.

The river was slowly rising last night. The stages were 7 feet 6 inches on the falls, 9 feet 8 inches in the canal and 30 feet 2 inches below the locks. Business on the levee was fair. The weather was clear and cool.

BOATS LEAVING THIS DAY.

City of Louisville, Capt. Brennan, for Cincinnati at 5 p. m....Helen M. Gould, Capt. McIntyre, for Carrollton at 4 p. m. ....Bellevue, Capt. Green, for Evansville at 4 p. m.

ARRIVALS AND DEPARTURES YESTERDAY.

City of Cincinnati, Capt. Lindenburn, to Cincinnati....Helen M. Gould, Capt. McIntyre, from and to Carrollton....Lena May, Capt. Kay, to Tyrone.

DRIFTWOOD.

The City of Louisville will be the Queen City packet to-day, and will leave from the Third-avenue wharf at 5 p. m. for Cincinnati and all intermediate points.... Capt. C. C. Fuller said yesterday that it was not decided yet as to when the City of Louisville will go on the ways. However, she will be given a thorough overhauling within the next two weeks. ....The "mosquito fleet" did not make its appearance in port yesterday, owing to the high winds. A good many of the larger packets were delayed in arriving. ....The Helen M. Gould will bring down an excursion from Madison and way ports Thursday, the occasion being Indiana day at the Exposition....The towboats Duquesne and J. B. Finley arrived from the South last night with empties. Both will return with tows about Wednesday or Thursday. ...The towboat Exporter is windbound about ten miles up the river with a tow of coal. It is expected that she will arrive in port some time to-day....The Lena May cleared for the Kentucky River yesterday afternoon with a fair trip....The Bellevue will not arrive from Evansville until some time this morning. She will leave on her return trip at noon, taking passengers and freight for all points on the lower river as far down as Evansville....The Tarascon left yesterday morning for Madison, where she will be given a thorough overhauling. Pilot John Oyler was in charge. ....Capt. Harry Baird, of Bethlehem, Ind., was a visitor on the levee yesterday.... The Helen M. Gould leaves the Third-avenue wharf at 4 o'clock this afternoon for Madison, Carrollton and all way ports. She also takes freight for all Kentucky River points. ...Reports of operations in the Monongahela Valley for the first three months of the year show that close to 50,000,000 bushels of coal have been shipped from the fourth and fifth pools by river for Louisville and Southern points. This is about 8,000 bushels more than went out during the same period last year. February marked a falling off in operations, but the decrease was more than made up by the heavy river shipments of January and March. The completion of Lock No. 4, at Brownsville, will mean a further increase in coal production of the Monongahela Valley....The United States lighthouse tender Golden Rod has completed an inspection trip up the Tennessee River. She left Paducah Sunday, and will deliver supplies en route up the river.

Deckhand Inherits $100,000.

Evansville, Ind., April 12.—[Special.]—Peter Liverright, a deckhand on the steamer Peters Lee, whose home is at Memphis, Tenn., will quit the river now that he has inherited a fortune. To-day when the Peters Lee landed here en route to Memphis a messenger was waiting on the levee with a telegram addressed to Liverright, saying that a wealthy uncle of his near Galesburg, Ill., had died Sunday and left him an estate valued at something like $100,000.

TROUBLES AHEAD

Mrs. Magness Sued On Contract To Buy House.

"DR." SARAH A. MURPHY SUES FOR BILL OF $350.

SERVICES PERFORMED BEFORE REVOKING OF LICENSE.

IN THE COURTS YESTERDAY.

More trouble is promised Mrs. C. J. Magness, the daughter of the late Senator Arthur Pue Gorman, of Maryland, and who married the musician who had deserted from the navy and who was arrested in Louisville last November. Mrs. Magness has been sued by the Eastern Realty Company for $1,000, which, it is alleged by the plaintiff, is due on a contract she had made to purchase a home here in Louisville. It is set forth that Mrs. Magness entered into a contract through the Columbia Trust Company and R. C. Watkins, its agents, to purchase for $6,500 a house at 1529 Brook street on March 10, 1909.

Mrs. Magness, according to the alleged contract, was to pay in installments $1,000 on April 1, 1909, and the rest in six quarterly payments of $900 and one of $100. The plaintiff says that possession of the property was given the defendant on March 10, and that on March 31 the defendant by letter notified it that she would not take the house and returned the keys. She was notified that she would be expected to comply with her agreement, but it is alleged that she failed to do so. Judgment for the first payment, now due, and an order requiring the defendant to take the property according to her agreement is asked.

* * *

Letters of Mrs. Magness.

Some correspondence is filed as exhibits in the case. Two letters of Mrs. Magness are as follows:

"Louisville, Ky., March 31, 1909.—Mr. R. C. Watkins: I have received news from the Navy Department that my husband is to go on a cruise, starting in July, so we will not need a home for some time, and I will go to my home. I would have written sooner, but I have been ill, and have not been out yet. I have had the yard fixed of house on Brook street, but hope there won't be any objections to it. Thanking you very much for your kindness and am sorry I could not let you know sooner. I am, very sincerely,

"MRS. C. J. MAGNESS,
"127 East Ormsby."

Then, under date of April 2, a letter was written for the Columbia Trust Company to Mrs. Magness, notifying her that the company would hold her to the bargain, and that if she did not want to keep the house she could sell it. Mrs. Magness' second letter is not dated and reads as follows:

"Mr. Watkins: It will be impossible for me to take the house. I have no money, and my mother is going to aid me in moving back to Washington. So please to take this as final. I won't have the house. Sincerely, MRS. C. J. MAGNESS."

Mrs. Belle Magness has stood stanchly by her husband in all his troubles.

"Dr." Sarah A. Murphy Plaintiff.

"Dr." Sarah A. Murphy, who figured prominently in the court proceedings following the death of Katie Bryant, of Buffalo, Larue county, in January, 1907, disclosed herself yesterday. That is to say she, who disappeared shortly after she was acquitted of the charge of having caused the death of the girl by a criminal operation, drew attention to herself by the filing of a suit for a doctor's bill.

The suit is for $350, and is directed against Bernard Schuckman, who lives on Avery avenue, south of Market street. It is set forth in the petition that Dr. Murphy is a "practicing physician, and that she has been such for many years." The bill, the plaintiff asserts, was contracted between February, 1904, and January 6, 1906.

This was for services to the defendant's wife, Mrs. Rosa Schuckman. The death of the Bryant girl occurred about January 10, subsequent to the last date named in the petition of Dr. Murphy. Dr. Murphy then maintained an office at 1018 West Chestnut street.

The Bryant girl was treated there, and it was charged that she had undergone a criminal operation. Later, at the trial of Dr. Murphy in the Criminal Court on the charge of murder, she was acquitted, physicians testifying that the cause of the girl's death was kidney trouble, aggravated by pregnancy.

Dr. Murphy's license to practice medicine in Kentucky, however, was revoked by the State Board of Health. A few days after Dr. Murphy's acquittal, on May 21, 1907, she left the city and much was said about her in the papers as having disappeared. The directory now gives her residence as 652 Seventh street, south. She is not listed as a doctor. Her attorney is out of town, but a lawyer in the same office said that the suit was on an account standing before the plaintiff was disqualified as a physician.

Charges Rich Employer Broke Faith.

Suit for $12,000 was brought by Etta S. Carter against the estate of S. W. Kasey, late of Vine Grove, Hardin county, and the man who by his will left $100,000 to the American Bible Society, according to the allegations in the petition filed in the Circuit Court yesterday afternoon. The suit is against the Fidelity Trust Company, executor of the will.

The plaintiff sets forth that on October 16, 1904, she left her father's home in Vine Grove and went into the house of the testator, on an agreement with him whereby she was to act as housekeeper for the aged man and nurse and companion to himself and sister, Mrs. Mary Kasey Raitt, and his niece, Emma Kasey.

She says that the decedent promised to pay her for her services, furnish her with a home, food and clothes, and that he would remember her in his will. She faithfully performed all the arduous and rigorous duties which devolved upon her, she says, from October, 1904, until the death of the decedent on February 10, 1907.

When his will was probated in the Hardin County Court, she says, it showed that he had made only a very few small bequests and had left the $100,000 to the Bible society. She said that while she was keeping house for him he had affirmed frequently his promise to her, and that she expected to be provided for. She fixes the value of her services at $1,000 a year, and says that the executor of the estate has refused to allow her claim. She is represented by Harry W. Robinson and Isaac Sherman.

Will Case Goes To Trial.

The hall opening into Judge Gordon's courtroom was thronged all yesterday afternoon by those who had been summoned as witnesses in a suit which seeks to set aside the will of Joseph I. Ohlmann, who died on January 20, 1908, at his home in Lower Parkland.

The suit is being prosecuted by John B. Ohlmann and others, and is directed against Louise Burk, named as executor of the will, and the Louisville Trust Company, which qualified as executor, with the will annexed, and others, heirs of Louise Burk.

By the will the entire property is left to the first-named defendant. There is about $7,000 involved. The case was only begun yesterday afternoon, and will be resumed this morning. Greene & Tilford are for the plaintiff, and Al M. Marret is for the defendants.

Chapman Can't Recover Losses.

The jury which Judge Kirby asked for to help him try the suit of Austin Chapman against E. C. Weyler and Jacob Kurtz, by which Chapman sought to recover $425 he said he had lost at poker in the defendants' saloon, yesterday refused Chapman damages. Chapman said his losses were suffered during the months of October and November, 1908.

It was his allegation that the game was set up by the defendants. He sued under the gambling act and was his only witness. The defense, conducted by Lawrence Leopold, was that the game was not run by the house, but that it was an impromptu affair arranged by those who came to the saloon. Chapman is general salesman for M. A. Hunt & Co., and lives at 2129 First street. The saloon of the defendants is at Fifth and Jefferson streets.

Three Wills Are Probated.

Three wills were probated in the County Court yesterday as follows:

That of Peter Regenaur, dated January 3, 1909, by which he provides that all his property, of whatever kind, shall go to his wife, Sarah Rebenaur. He directs that he shall be buried in Shardein's cemetery. He asks that his wife use what personal property he leaves her in the education of their children. Mrs. Regenaur is named executrix without bond.

That of William M. Maxwell, dated November 1, 1899, by which he leaves all his property to his wife, Mrs. Laura Forman Maxwell, who is named executrix without bond. The will was written in Baltimore, where the testator formerly resided.

That of John Lyons, of Lowell, Jefferson county, dated March 12, 1909, by which he leaves his brother, Terry Lyons, $1, and directs that two lots in Lowell shall go to his two sisters, Ellen and Kate Lyons. He names John W. Guillon as executor, and asks that he be allowed to serve without bond. The will was written at Hot Springs, Ark.

Sues Husband For Support.

Annie C. Jansing yesterday filed suit in the Circuit Court against Edward F. Jansing, her husband, asking that the court make her an allowance of $40 a month alimony for herself and her child, Harry Edward Jansing, and that the defendant be enjoined from conveying or incumbering his real estate. She says that they were married in Louisville on May 22, 1901, and have lived together as man and wife in this county from 1903 until the last day of March, 1908, when the defendant moved to California. She said that she joined him in California, but that he drank excessively and failed to support her, and she was compelled to return here. She says the defendant conducts a meat business in California, and that he is fully able to support her.

Melville Moses Adjudged Insane.

Melville Moses, son of Rabbi Moses, and who has been in a sanitorium for treatment of a disordered mind for some time, was adjudged to be of unsound mind yesterday in the Criminal Court, Allen R. Kinney sitting as special judge. Mr. Moses had been a fugitive for several days.

Elijah Day, colored, also was adjudged to be insane and committed to the asylum at Lakeland. He suffered injuries to his head in a quarry accident several years ago, and these appear to have caused his present unbalanced condition of mind.

The Weber Company Sued.

Suit for $20,700 on notes was filed in the Circuit Court yesterday by the Hamilton National Bank of Chicago against the Weber Company. According to the petition three loans on notes were made, the first for $3,000, the second for $15,000 and the third for $4,000. Payment of $1,300 was made on the first note for $3,000. The first note was dated March 27, and the other two April 1. Each was payable on demand. It is set forth that the defendant is incorporated in Maine and is a foreign corporation not having property enough in this State subject to execution to satisfy the plaintiff's demand. It is asserted that the collection of the demand will be endangered by delay in obtaining judgment or a return of no property found. Flexner & Campbell are attorneys for the plaintiff.

THE LITTLE CITY OF LIGHT UNDER THE GREAT BRIGHT DOME OF ARMORY.

LOOKING DOWN FRANKLIN AISLE TOWARD TOWER SQUARE AT THE SOUTHERN ELECTRICAL AND INDUSTRIAL EXPOSITION.

Put Off At Wrong Place.

Blaming the Louisville Railway Company for injuries he received because the defendant stopped a car at the wrong place for him to get off, Alexander Nallia brought suit yesterday for $5,000 as damages. He says that he was a passenger on the Highland Park line on February 13, and that he told the conductor to stop and let him off at "Peter's Crossing," in Highland Park. The car ran by the crossing, unknown to him, he says, and when it did come to a stop he got off in the darkness, for it was night, and stepped into a big hole at the side of the track.

To Resubmit Mathena Case.

The Commonwealth's Attorney, Joseph M. Huffaker, yesterday in the Criminal Court, said that he would resubmit the four cases in which James H. Mathena, former patrolman, is charged with detaining small girls, to the May grand jury. The present grand jury on Friday dismissed all the charges against Mathena. He was stripped of his badge and dismissed from the police force on March 24 last, following an investigation made by Chief Haager into the charges against him.

Report of the Grand Jury.

The grand jury yesterday returned the following indictments and adjourned until to-day:

Malicious Shooting and Wounding—Fannie McDonald and Joseph Walker.

Obtaining Money Under False Pretenses—J. H. Jones.

Attempted Rape—William Anderson.

Fannie McDonald is accused of having shot Thomas Moran, a constable, because she objected to the officer serving upon her a warrant to vacate apartments.

Court Paragraphs.

—The case of Tom Fisher, colored, charged with the murder of Henry Smith, also colored, was passed to May 10 when called in the Criminal Court.

—J. W. Flood & Co. sued the B. and O. and the B. and O. S.-W. Railroad Companies for $78, the values of a barrel of whisky alleged lost in transit.

—George N. Harrison sued the Standard Trust Company of Alabama for $120. He says he deposited during 1906, 1907 and 1908 that sum, and, having been refused when he asked leave to withdraw it, he now sues.

—Allie B. Brown sued Thomas J. R. Brown, asking that her maiden name of Allie B. Omer be restored. She charges abandonment on March 27, 1908, and says that they were married in this county on November 25, 1903.

—May Barnes, by her mother and her next friend, Mary J. Barnes, sued Louisa Conrad for $2,500 as damages, alleging slander. The plaintiff says that the defendant on February 25, spoke of her falsely as follows: "She is a d——n lying — — — —."

—Nineteen out of the statutory panel of twenty-four jurors answered to roll call yesterday in Judge O'Doherty's court, and no session was held. Judge O'Doherty drew from the jury wheel to make up the deficiency, and the new jurors will be on hand to-day.

—In the case of Henry Ash against the Louisville Railway Company, a suit for damages for injuries suffered by the plaintiff when a car struck him at Rosewood and Baxter avenues on June 20, 1908, a jury in Judge Gordon's court yesterday found for the defendant. Fred Forcht was for the defendant.

—C. H. French sued George W. Younger and William Jacke for $1,000 as damages. He says that the second-named defendant had contracted with the first-named for the improvement of the pavement in front of the Jacke property at Eighth and Jefferson streets, and that he fell into an excavation made in the carrying out of the contract while walking on the street on February 23.

—Frank Starkmyer and Robert F. Starkmyer sued Helen G. Ouerbacker and Samuel Ouerbacker for $1,262.50, the cost of improvements they made on property at Thirty-fourth street and Grand avenue. The plaintiffs say they entered into a written contract to buy the property and made the improvements while they were in possession of it. They say that the defendants are trying to recover possession of it without reimbursing them for what they spent on the improvements.

Court of Appeals.

Frankfort, Ky., April 12.—Whole court sitting.

that everything is conducted in splendid order. The feature of the night will be the presentation of medals to the winners of the contests in the recent indoor athletic meet that was pulled off. These medals are very attractive and can be seen at the armory, where they are now on display. Secretary McNair will be assisted in his work to-night by C. H. Hamilton, J. J. Cornelison, H. E. Montague and G. C. McIlhenny. The patrons of the Y. M. C. A. and the members of the association will be out in full force to-night.

The concerts by Natiello's band in the afternoon and at night are treats to lovers of music and will add much to making the exposition a great success. Many visitors after looking at the exhibits go into the balcony and spend a restful hour or so listening to the music of the band. The programme last night was very interesting and was highly complimented by all the spectators. The music from the band can be heard all over the mammoth building.

* * *

Same Effect Day and Night.

The management of the exposition wants it to be distinctly understood that the same splendid effect, so far as electricity is concerned, will be seen during the day at the armory as at night. The armory can be darkened in such a way that no daylight at all can be observed, and when the electricity is turned on the appearance is just as entrancing as at night. Persons who find it impossible to attend the show at night can get the same satisfaction in point of splendid scenic effect as if they saw the exhibition at night. In fact, the management believes that women and children can have a more enjoyable time during the afternoon than at night. The concerts given in the afternoon are just as elaborate as at night. The programmes are the same as to length.

* * *

Magnificent Art Exhibit.

It is not all electricity that attracts the attention of the visitors after they enter the great exhibition hall. There are exhibits and rest booths which afford great pleasure and diversion. For instance, the art exhibit in one of the large rooms in the executive part of the armory is a magnificent one. The paintings are some of the most costly to be found not only in Louisville, but in some of the larger cities of the United States. These paintings are catalogued so that the name of each can be readily ascertained. This exhibit was popular last night in the extreme. In fact, at no time during the evening was there not a large crowd admiring the handsome paintings. This exhibit is made up of paintings not only from painters, but many private citizens.

* * *

Work By the Schools.

Another large room in the executive part of the armory is devoted to a fine exhibit of drawings and paintings by the district and high schools of Louisville. This room also was the Mecca last night for the mothers and fathers who attended the exposition who have children in the schools. The walls are covered with the small and large drawings. Conspicuous in the crowd last night was Prof. E. H. Mark, superintendent of the Louisville schools. He took great pride in showing the work to the spectators. Many of the teachers of the schools spent much time in this exhibit last night. The children who attended the show last night also spent much time in the drawing exhibit.

* * *

X-Ray Machine Interests.

An X-ray machine constructed by the boys of the manual training branch of the Male High School will be put into operation in the booth of that institution to-day, and they invite visitors to the exposition to look through their hands.

The Male High School, like all the other industrial and manual training schools, have an excellent exhibit of the product turned out at that institution by the students. The walls were papered and paneled by the boys, and all the articles in the booth, including the electric fixtures, are the class work of the boys and are handmade. They have the complete furnishing of a room in mission furniture, and it is impossible to detect it from the work of skilled tradesmen. The booth is in charge of Prof. J. H. Shaw and Prof. W. E. Currier.

* * *

Indiana Cities Honored.

New Albany and Jeffersonville have been given the places of honor in the main Exposition hall for booths, where their people can rest and chat during their visit to the Exposition. The New Albany rest and exploiting booth is located to the left of the entrance of the hall and is in charge of C. D. Shrader. Mr. Shrader was busy last night entertaining his friends, and his booth was usually crowded.

The Jeffersonville booth is located just to the right of the entrance, and Elmer Frank is in charge of it. He is assisted by Miss Mary Moser and Miss Margaret Lauder. Mr. Frank is on to his job in the way of advertising his city. He is giving away maps of the Falls Cities in which Jeffersonville is shown to be the greatest factor.

* * *

Great Clock a Striking Feature.

Swinging down from the top of the Armory over the entrance facing Tower Square is the ponderous electric clock, which is probably the most striking feature of the electrical exposition. The clock is in the shape of a huge pendulum swinging to and fro, with the ball of the pendulum answer for the dial. The face of the clock is in varied electric colors and the moving of the long hands is a source of wonder and amusement to the spectators.

* * *

Register For Shriners.

One of the most attractive booths in the exposition hall is that of the Louisville Shriners. A register is kept in this booth, and several members of the mystic order are always on hand to give visitors the glad hand with the injunction to "loosen your sandals and rest your sand-burnt feet." The main object of this booth is to boost the big gathering of the Shriners in Louisville next June.

Not far behind the Shriners, in a place where visitors can rest and enjoy themselves, is the booth of the T. P. A. This is the work of Post D of Louisville. It is a popular place not only for traveling men, but for any visitor who chooses to accept the hospitality. Each day of the exposition some member of Post D will be in charge of this booth and will see that all callers are given a hearty welcome.

* * *

The Courier-Journal Booth.

The Courier-Journal and Times booth is a popular place with all the visitors. There visitors spent much time yesterday afternoon and last night resting and refreshing themselves. Tables are in the booth where letters can be written. Several persons are always in charge of the booth and all attention possible is paid the patrons of the two great Louisville dailies. The booth is located on the last aisle to the left of the entrance to the building about midways the building, which is a convenient stopping place for spectators.

Wheat prices in the local market were marked up to $1.35 a bushel to-day. This is an advance of 3c for the day and a new high record on this movement.

The Grand Rapids Railway Company reports as follows:

March.	1909.	Increase.
Gross earnings	$76,136	$7,078
Operating expenses	38,847	419
Net earnings	$37,289	$6,659

The surplus for last year was equal to 7.33 per cent. on the common stock.

The Memphis Street Railway Company reports as follows for March:

	1909.	1908.	Inc.
Gross earnings	$133,151	$128,857	$4,294
Operating expenses	73,512	73,305	207
Net earnings	$59,639	$55,552	$4,087

Other deductions	2,500	2,500	....
Net surplus	$10,650	$7,816	$2,834

The net surplus is at the rate of 5.1 per cent. on the preferred, against 3.75 per cent. on the preferred in February last year.

In the Boston market last week there were sales of 188 shares of Georgia Railway and Electric common at 81 to 84, with last sale at latter price; twenty shares of Seattle Electric common at 91½; seventy shares of Seattle Electric preferred at 97½ to 98, and fifteen shares Pacific Coast Power at 80.

United States railroads reporting for the month of March show total gross earnings of $38,113,795, an increase of 10.5 per cent. compared with last year, but a loss of 7.1 per cent. compared with March, 1907. Railroads in all sections of the country are included, and the increase on several roads is quite heavy, notably on the Great Northern, Chesapeake and Ohio and the Missouri Pacific.

Explanations of the activity shown to exist in the building trade by Bradstreet's reports is found in the statements that lowered cost of material and increased efficiency of labor are responsible for 20 to 25 per cent. less cost of building this year than in years of activity. Notwithstanding the quiet in other industries, estimates of expenditure for new buildings filed in the month of March at ninety-five cities of the United States aggregate $80,617,770, an increase of 46 per cent. over February and of 82 per cent. over the month of March a year ago. Only twenty-two out of the ninety-five cities (less than one-quarter) report decreases in expenditure from March a year ago. For the first quarter of 1909 the expenditure projected aggregates $186,376,708, an increase of 88.7 per cent. over the like period of 1908. These totals for the first quarter compare favorably with all but the most active three-months periods of the past.

MARKET LETTERS.

New York.—The coal stocks were strong, with Reading the most popular. It gained further strength on the announcement that there would be no decision in the Hepburn clause case handed down. Steel common was a power of strength and gave the bulls the needed incentive to continue their aggressiveness. The market has made remarkable progress to complete recovery to high records of 1906. We feel confident that many of the previous high records will be surpassed.—(J. S. Bache & Co. to Washington Flexner & Co.

New York.—The stock market was quite strong all day, the usual sales to realize being absorbed with remarkable facility. When it was announced that no decision would be handed down in the commodity case, the shorts in Reading found the stock scarce. The afternoon was taken up largely with demonstrations in the minor stocks. The market is a bull proposition, and in our opinion will continue to be so until there shall have been a considerable distribution of standard issues, and we see absolutely no signs of that as yet.—(Miller & Co. to John L. Dunlap.

New York.—The market acted better than was anticipated. One group after another was taken hold of, and found ready buyers. There are no signs of a reaction, but the high-priced stocks seem to hesitate.—(Kelley, Howell & Co. to Almstedt Bros.

New York.—The stock market opened firm this morning, and then became a little hesitant. Following this a buying movement set in and specialties were raised as well as leaders. More attention was given to the industrials, which should continue active. It's evident the large interests have full bull control of the market, and a broadening of outside interest, with cheap money, is encouraging bullish operations.—(Tracy & Co. to Hunt, Bridgeford & Co.

New York.—The metal issues were the salient features in the trading to-day. There was no London market, but the list opened fractionally higher and after some hesitancy resumed its upward course, with Steel common and a few other specialties in the lead. Public interest has increased materially and there are some signs of a broadening in the trade, but still professional operations dominate and the pools are quite active with their various specialties. It is thought that the tariff bill will be ready for the President's signature at an earlier date than at first expected, and as the bill in its present form is not thought to greatly hinder enlarged activity in industrial circles there will undoubtedly be a concerted effort on the part of the holders of large blocks of securities to create enthusiasm on the part of the public so when tariff agitation ceases to be a factor securities which have been accumulated on declines can be distributed to better advantage.—(W. L. Lyons & Co.

New York.—The market continued to present the now familiar appearance of decided strength. The newspapers contained reports of much better orders in the steel trade, and undoubtedly under the stimulus of the lower prices new orders are coming in, and the tonnage booked is decidedly improving. This, however, is accomplished at the expense of prices. Apart from the above there was little news. The long-expected commodity clause decision has again been deferred. The tariff bill has now reached the Senate stage and the real shifting and adjusting has commenced.—(Post & Flagg to John W. & D. S. Green.

New York.—Some of the specialties scored sharp gains during the afternoon. Traders offered down various leading issues trying to bring about a reaction, but they made little progress. The market is too broad for any group of men to depress. The public is coming into it more and more each day. With hoards of idle money available for securities in many parts of the world we believe the tendency will be upward for some time yet. But of course there will be setbacks on the way up. The great firmness of United States Steel reflects confidence in the ultimate outlook for the trade. We believe a decided turn for the better is near at hand. Other industries, naturally, will follow steel. Its sentimental effect is undeniable.—(C. I. Hudson & Co. to S. C. Henning & Co.

STOCK MARKET REVIEW.

New York, April 12.—Money on call easy at 1½@2 per cent.; ruling rate 1¾; closing bid 1¾; offered at 2; time loans very dull and steady; 60 days 2@2¼ per cent.; 90 days 2½; six months 2¾; prime mercantile paper 3½@4. Sterling exchange steady, with actual business in bankers' bills at $4.8620@4.8630 for 60-day bills and at $4.8770 for demand; commercial bills $4.85⅝@4.86. Bar silver 50¼c. Mexican dollars 44c. Government bonds steady. Railroad bonds strong.

Speculative operations for the advance were renewed with fresh confidence to-day in the stock market and prices were carried comprehensively upward on a large and varied volume of business. The hesitation manifest last week on account of the approach of the three days' vacation was largely dissipated with the passing of the holiday, although the great foreign markets were still in recess and took no part in the day's dealings in this market. This deducted a considerable volume of activity from the market, the operations for foreign account having constituted an important influence in the market for some time past. The speculative element at home seemed content to carry forward the movement without waiting for the foreigners to declare themselves. The industrials and specialties still held a conspicuous place in the day's most notable movements, but not so entirely to the exclusion of the standard trading stocks as was the case on Thursday before the holiday.

There was appreciable improvement in the market in this respect with the course of the day. The prompt emergence from the Senate Committee on Finance of the amended tariff bill created a good impression, without much regard to the changes in the rates proposed, the promise of dispatch in the progress of the bill being more considered than the substance of the changes. The restoration of iron ore to the dutiable list as proposed in the Senate amendment induced an active demand for United States Steel, and this had a sympathetic effect in reviving demand for the whole list.

Another wave of activity was set in motion by the news that the Supreme Court's decision on the validity of the commodity clause of the Hepburn law was still withheld. Reading rose vigorously, as has become the rule with the weekly passing of the expected delivery of this opinion. Reading was helped also by the belief that satisfactory terms would be made with the anthracite miners in the negotiations now going on for an agreement on wages. Although the copper stocks were not conspicuous in the day's rise in prices, the statistics of copper production and consumption during March made up one of the favorable influences on the day's sentiment. The increase of only 9,000,000 pounds in the amount of refined copper on hand at the end of March, compared with a growth of over 39,000,000 pounds during February, in itself an encouraging development, was enhanced in that respect by the fact that the month's production rose over February, and even over January. It was in the increase of deliveries and exports that the main factor in the improvement of the statistical position was found, that item rising to a total of 108,600,000 pounds, compared with only 74,500,000 pounds in February. Justification is found in this expanded consumption for the claims of a real improvement in the trade position of copper. The feeling regarding the steel trade was improved in sympathy.

The statistics of surplus cars, compiled fortnightly by the American Railway Association, made a less favorable exhibit of trade conditions, the number of idle freight cars having increased again for the half month ending March 31 to the number of 5,182. This was in spite of a reduction of upward of 14,000 in idle coal cars, owing to the rush to stock up coal in the face of a possible miners' strike. The falling off in the general merchandise movement and other traffic, therefore, must have been considerable.

Some of the day's reports from the crop regions were disliked in connection with the continued firmness of the wheat market. The tone of the market developed considerable irregularity in the late dealings, but many substantial gains were left for the day's showing.

Bonds were active and strong. Total sales (par value), $8,250,000. U. S. bonds were unchanged on call.

LIVESTOCK MARKETS.

Louisville.

(Reported by Bourbon Stock Journal, Bourbon Stockyards.)

Louisville, April 12.—Cattle—The receipts were 1,318 head; there was a fairly good attendance of buyers on the yards, several foreign buyers here and the local talent was pretty well represented; there was a good active demand for choice light butcher cattle, the kinds that sell from 4¾@5¾c, and they sold at an advance of 10@15c over last week's prices, while the medium and inferior kinds were just about steady. The heavy steer trade was slow, but prices firm and some sales a shade better than a week ago, yet there was no decided activity in that branch of the trade; the feeder and stocker trade was practically unchanged, high grades about steady, medium and plain grades slow, common and trashy stockers extremely dull and if anything lower than last week; bulls steady; canners and cutters unchanged; milch cows steady; heavy shipping steers firm to a shade better than a week ago. The pens were pretty well cleared at the close. We quote shipping steers $4.75@6; beef steers and fat heifers $3@5.25; fat cows $3@5; cutters $2@3; canners $1@2; bulls $2@4.25; feeders $3.50@5; stockers $2.25@4.50; choice milch cows $35@45; common to fair $15@35.

Calves—Receipts 145; the market ruled dull and lower; bulk of the best 6½@7c; some fancy higher; medium 4@6c; common 2½@4c.

Hogs—Receipts 5,277; the market was slow and 5c lower on tops, lights and roughs, 15c lower on pigs; choice cornfed hogs, 160 lbs. and up, selling at $7.25; 130 to 160 lbs. $6.90; pigs ranged from $5.50 for light pigs to $6 for heavy pigs; roughs $6.10 down. Hogs from doubtful sections are slow sale and uneven discounts.

Sheep and Lambs—Receipts 313; the market ruled slow; choice fat sheep were steady at 5¼c down, but medium and common sheep were dull; bulk of the offerings were fall lambs of common quality and they were very dull; best 6½c down; only a few spring lambs here and they sold at 7@10c; demand very light.

DARK TOBACCO MARKETS.

Hopkinsville, Ky., April 12.—By reason of the seasonable weather of last week renewed activity was shown in the Hopkinsville tobacco market. The local salesmen of the Planters' Protective Association sold sixty-four hogsheads. Only fifteen of these were of the new crop. The types of the 1907 crop, which were lately withdrawn from the market pending negotiations for the sale of all old tobacco on hand to Mr. Henderson, of Louisville, are again being offered for inspection to the general trade, the proposed deal having fallen through. In the dark district there are still about 7,000 hogsheads of old tobacco unsold. Prices obtained here for the 1908 crop during the past week ranged from $5.50 to $10. About 1,500 hogsheads of new tobacco have been received in Hopkinsville for sale through the association. The loose floors report that they sold 350,000 pounds of the weed last week at prices ranging from $3 to $5.50 for lugs and from $6 to $10.50 for leaf.

Clarksville, Tenn., April 12.—The receipts in the open market last week were 420 hogsheads. The market remains unchanged with a strong demand for all grades of tobacco. The receipts of loose tobacco were small during the week. The local salesman of the Dark Tobacco Growers' Association sold 169 hogsheads of old lugs, the stock of which is now reduced to a small quantity and will probably soon be closed out. They also sold fifty-one hogsheads of new tobacco and are getting a demand for good to fine grades of leaf. For old tobacco the following prices are quoted:

Trash	$5 00 to $5 25
Low lugs	5 25 to 5 50
Common lugs	5 50 to 5 75
Medium lugs	6.00 to 6 50
Good lugs	6 50 to 7 00
Low leaf	6 00 to 7 25
Common leaf	7 50 to 8 25
Medium leaf	8 50 to 9 50
Good leaf	10 00 to 11 00

COTTON MARKETS.

New York, April 12.—The cotton market was very active to-day, with new months selling above 10c for the first time since last January. There was something of a reaction in the late trading, but the close was steady at a net advance of 11@18 points. The market opened firm at an advance of 4@11 points on an increasing demand from outside sources, covering of shorts and aggressive support from local and Western bulls. Realizing was very heavy, but was well taken around the 10c level, and as profit-taking sales diminished the market worked higher, reaching the best point during the middle of the day, when May and July sold at 10.12c and October at 9.96c, or 20@23 points net higher. Later prices reacted several points under realizing by early buyers and room traders, who were probably influenced by the talk of rain in the Southwest, but offerings were by no means urgent and the close was well up from the low point of the day. Mail advices from Texas suggest that recent rains were heavier than indicated by official reports and some additional precipitation for the 24 hours ending this morning was reported, but the Texas forecast was for fair, but colder, weather, except showers in easterly sections, and local bulls argue that the rainfall has not been sufficient to offset the poor season in the ground. Interior markets are said to be following the advance in futures and the Southern markets reported to-day were 1-16c to ¼c higher, while reviews of the dry goods situation indicated a more active business in cotton goods. Liverpool will reopen to-morrow morning and is due to come about 11@15 points higher to meet American gains since her close Thursday.

Receipts at the ports to-day were 19,168 bales, against 12,175 last week and 8,921 last year; for the week 85,000, against 91,004 last week and 71,514 last year; to-day's receipts at New Orleans 2,981 bales, against 8,480 last year, and at Houston 5,585, against 1,894 last year.

Spot cotton opened quiet; middling uplands 10.40c; do gulf 10.65c. Closed quiet; middling uplands 10.35c; do gulf 10.60c; sales 100 bales.

Futures opened and closed steady. The range for the day was as follows:

New Orleans, April 12.—Spot cotton firm, 1-16c higher. Sales on the spot 1,600 bales; to arrive 400. Quotations: Low ordinary 6 3-16c, nominal; ordinary 7c, nominal; good ordinary 8 7-16c; low middling 9 5-16c; middling 9⅞c; good middling 10¼c; middling fair 10⅝c; fair 11⅜c, nominal. Receipts 2,981 bales; stock 205,418.

Futures opened steady, 4@5 points up on the old crop months and 6@8 points up on the new. This initial rise was entirely due to an accumulation of buying orders from outsiders over the holiday. Statistics for the week just ended were bearish and the drouth in Texas was reported broken, rain having fallen recently in forty counties. In spite of these two features buying was heavy. Leading bulls sought to check the advance because they thought the market was being rushed up too fast. The cotton they threw overboard, however, was quickly grabbed up and the active months around the middle of the day were 17@18 points up in the old crop and 20@22 up in the new. The market closed steady, with the old crop at a net advance of 12 points and the new crop at an advance of 16@17 points. The range for the day was as follows:

What Cotton Does For America.

Converted into cash the cotton crop of the United States annually returns to the planters, or to the men last owning it, before it is turned into manufactured goods, between $600,000,000 and $700,000,000, writes William H. Stephens in Moody's Magazine. Sixty per cent. of that sum comes from the treasuries of Europe. Within twenty years $5,728,021,504 of foreign money has come to this country to enrich the South, and the wealth of that section has been increased $8,686,684,569 by the sale of the cotton crop alone. Astonishing figures surely. The gold production of this country in 1906-07 was $400,426,569, compared with $262,226,916 in 1900-01, and for 1907-08 it was estimated at $404,853,978. In 1906-07 the cotton crop was worth $716,332,265 and in 1907-08 $672,235,093, while in 1900-01 it was valued at $494,567,585. The commanding position which cotton helps to give this country in foreign trade is further exemplified when exports of the staple are compared with those of breadstuffs, the next leading article of export. In 1907 cotton exportations were valued at $460,836,001 and those of breadstuffs at $214,639,465. A year previous the figures were: Cotton $413,137,966 and breadstuffs $169,069,090, and twelve months prior $392,000,604 and $151,300,630 respectively for the fiscal years ended June 30.

COTTON COMMENT.

New York.—With so large an advance and with shorts practically forced into retirement we have done well enough for the moment, and while I believe in ultimately higher prices I believe those who have sold cotton this morning should be able to buy it back below the 10c level.—(Hill, of Logan & Bryan, to W. L. Lyons & Co.

The sharp advance in grain recently has made cotton look cheap to the West and has attracted speculation from that quarter. The South seems more friendly to the long side and the strength of stocks and grain have infected cotton. The feeling that cotton is worth 10½c or 11c is in the air, and is likely to cause still higher prices; at the same time, after an advance of $4 a bale, a reaction would not be surprising and profits should not be ignored.—(J. S. Bache & Co. to Washington Flexner & Co.

The market had to admit that the drouth in the greatest part of the cotton-growing belt has not been relieved. The statistical position is strong and the technical position is healthy. We look to see cotton sell much higher.—(Tracy & Co. to Hunt, Bridgeford & Co.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

Chicago, April 12.—Wheat prices on the Board of Trade continued their record-breaking advance to-day, all deferred futures rising to new high marks for the season, while the May delivery equaled the previous best mark. At the top July sold at $1.16¾ and September at $1.09. Corn closed firm, oats steady and provisions strong.

It was a fierce speculative market in wheat during the greater part of the day, and prices moved over a range of 1@2⅝c. Interest again centered around the more deferred futures and trade in the May delivery was very light. Despite beneficial rains in the Southwest sentiment regarding the new crop months was extremely bullish and prices were easily forced more than 1c above the previous high point for the season. The market opened irregular, with prices ⅜c higher to ⅜c lower compared with Saturday's close, July being at $1.14⅝@1.15 and September at $1.07½@1.07¼. There was considerable selling based on the wet weather in the winter wheat territory, and early in the session July dropped back to $1.14⅝. Before the end of the first half-hour, however, leading bulls began to buy and prices advanced rapidly. There was also a big investment demand from outsiders. The market was bullishly affected by an active demand for the cash grain, local sales aggregating 215,000 bushels. The top for July was reached at $1.16¾ and for September at $1.09. During the day May sold between $1.25⅝@1.26½. Trade quieted down considerably during the final half-hour of the session and prices reacted materially from the top on realizing sales. The close was rather tame, but firm, at net gains for the day of ⅝c to ⅞@⅛c, with July at $1.16⅛ and September at $1.08⅝@1.08½. May closed at $1.25¾.

Trade in the corn market was dull and sentiment in the pit was quite heavy at times, although the close was firm at net gains of ⅛@⅜c compared with Saturday's final quotations. The bulge in wheat had a bullish effect. There was some selling at the start, owing to local receipts, which were considerably more than had been estimated. May ranged between 66⅛c and 65⅝@65⅞c and closed at 66⅛c.

The feature of trade in the oats pit was heavy selling of the May delivery by commission houses in general. The new crop months were in fairly good demand by shorts and country traders. The close was somewhat irregular, the May delivery being easy, while the new crop months were firm. May closed at 54⅛c.

Provisions were strong throughout the entire day because of liberal purchases by a local packer and by one of the leading bulls in the wheat pit. The annual Government report relating to animals on farms was considered somewhat bullish. The market was also influenced by a 5@10c advance in live hogs. At the close prices were 2½@5c to 17½c higher than Saturday's final quotations.

The leading futures ranged as follows:

The visible supply of wheat in Canada last Saturday was 8,747,000 bu., an increase of 437,000.

GRAIN LETTERS.

Chicago.—There was a great exhibition of strength in the wheat trade both early and late. It was claimed by pit brokers that the bull leaders were fairly liberal sellers of both May and July wheat on the hard spots to-day. Taking this into consideration, the close was remarkably strong. Everybody in the trade expects a decided upturn in foreign markets when cables come in the morning. One crop expert put the Ohio condition as low as 57 to-day. Best observers claim that a portion of the Kansas crop is no further advanced now than it was at the corresponding date in March last year. Nearly all reports from the outside indicate that plowing up of winter wheat will be extensive the balance of this month. We believe in conservative operations in a market of this kind, but everything points to buying on fair reactions as a safe proposition. Some of the people who were most bullish on wheat were buyers of May corn during the morning. We think good swells the place to take profits on long corn. Country houses are inclined to take the buying side of oats on dips.—(Logan & Bryan to W. L. Lyons & Co.

Chicago.—Fluctuations were sharp and many wicked turns in prices were scored throughout the day. General opinion is that big holders sold more than they bought, and there was a disposition on the part of conservative bulls to feel for the top. Prices have scored a new high point for two weeks, and, notwithstanding the outside buying, think prices are now on a famine basis, with no famine in sight, and without more bad crop news we think prices have discounted any more present conditions. The speculative fever may have to run still further, however, and we look for broad and erratic fluctuations for some time. Most of the speculative interest in corn centers in May. Think oats prices high enough.—(S. B. Chapin & Co. to S. C. Henning & Co.

Chicago.—Visible supply decrease, scattered crop complaints, better local shipping sales, some No. 2 red at $1.37½ and occasional open buying by bull house stimulated good buying. High prices keeping receipts up to last year and visible at United States points alone 7,000,000 over last year, with prices 20c to 30c above last year.—(Tracy & Co. to Hunt, Bridgeford & Co.

Chicago.—For about two weeks there have been new tops scored daily, and pit conditions should be ripe for a sharp reaction regardless of the general situation. As long as the outside buying fever is on, however, it will be next to impossible to gauge the market accurately. The outlook is for rain throughout the Southwest, and, with mild temperatures, the improvement in winter wheat promise should be bettered materially. World's shipments light and another decrease of 4,000,000 bushels, but receipts in this country are not indicative of famine conditions. Erratic fluctuations are certain, but there are indications of judicious marketing of wheat in the pit by large interests, and we would not get overenthusiastic on the buying side at this level. We think prices for deferred corn months are too high and values will gradually work lower. "Without the incentive of crop damage think new oats crop deliveries will work lower, but would only sell on hard spots.—(Hubbard Bros. & Co. to E. E. Paine & Co.

RARE COLLECTIONS

BEING DONATED TO JEFFERSON INSTITUTE OF ARTS.

W. B. Lyon, of Valley Station, Contributes Splendid Species of the Horned Owl.

Interest has increased to such an extent in the new Jefferson Institute of Arts and Sciences, which is to be established in Louisville as a permanency, that persons in Louisville and out in the State are offering valuable collections of antiquities as gifts to the institution almost every day. Yesterday President Brent Altsheler was in conference with W. B. Lyon, of Valley Station, who came to Louisville especially to offer the museum a new and rare species of the horned owl. The bird was captured several days ago in a steel trap, and is still alive. It is said to be one of the rarest specimens of its kind ever captured in Kentucky.

Mr. Lyon, in describing the bird, said yesterday that it is odd in appearance; much more so than any other owl he ever saw, and is enormously large. It measures five feet from the tip of one wing to the other. Its horns are about three inches long, and protrude from the skull just above the eyes a length of three or four inches. It is also said to be a vicious type. It will be accepted by the officers of the museum and probably killed and mounted.

Mr. Altsheler also announced yesterday that he himself is the possessor of a rare collection of mounted heads of animals which will occupy a niche in the museum when it is thrown open. It consists of moose, caribou, wapita, antelope, wild mountain sheep, white goat and mule deer. All the animals represented in the Altsheler collection were killed by Mr. Altsheler himself during the past ten or twelve years in New Brunswick, British Columbia, and Wyoming, on hunting trips. It is prized very highly, and will be one of the feature attractions when all the exhibits are open to the public.

A fine collection of bird skins owned originally by a brother of ex-Gov. J. C. W. Beckham, and who died some years ago, and which are now stored away in the new Louisville Free Public Library building, the property of the old Polytechnic Society, likely will become the property of the Jefferson Institute of Arts and Sciences. Efforts will be made to obtain this collection, as it is said to contain a number of specimens that have longe since disappeared from the Blue grass State, and principally because it is said to be the most complete collection of Kentucky birds in existence.

MUCH INTEREST IN THE MISSION SERVICES.

The meeting at the Eleventh and Jefferson Mission is increasing in interest and attendance. Before the meeting began on April 3 cottage meetings were held for five weeks in different homes in the neighborhood, and since the beginning 2,500 invitation cards have been distributed and at the close of the month day the number of public professions was twenty-four.

The meeting continues every night this week, closing with the night service on Sunday, April 18, when the mission will go in a body to the Chestnut-street Baptist church, where the ordinance of baptism will be performed.

More chairs have been placed in the building, and a hearty welcome is extended to all who come.

FREIGHT TRAIN

Ends Career of Jim Holt, Police Character.

GROUND TO PIECES BENEATH CAR WHEELS.

ARRESTED ONCE IN CONNECTION WITH ETLY MURDER.

BODY LYING IN THE MORGUE.

The career of Jim Holt came to a tragic end shortly before 8 o'clock yesterday morning, when he was struck by a freight train as he was driving a wagon across the Louisville and Nashville tracks near Floyd and G streets. Holt did not die instantly, but succumbed about fifteen minutes after he was struck.

It is considered by many an odd coincidence that Holt should meet his death but a short distance from Faust Bottoms, where the Etly murder was committed early on the morning of November 6, 1906, and in connection with which Holt was arrested. For more than fifteen years he had made his home within 200 feet of the place where the accident occurred. News of his death spread rapidly among the morbidly curious in all parts of the city and within an hour a large crowd had gathered at the scene of the death.

Holt was in the employ of the W. E. Caldwell Company as a cart driver, and with an empty conveyance was going north. At the point where the railroad crosses the street the Louisville and Nashville has a double track and there is no guard gate. The driver was forced to wait on the south side of the track for the passage of a long freight train, and this obstructed his view of the northbound train as it bore down upon the luckless man. He started to cross the track after the south-bound train passed, and his wagon was hit squarely. Horse, cart and driver were thrown many feet, and a shovel which was in the cart was tossed in such a way that its blade hit Holt a glancing blow in the face, practically cutting his nose off. His skull also was crushed.

Several persons picked up the mangled form and made Holt as comfortable as possible until death gave relief. The city hospital ambulance was called, but long before it arrived Holt had died. The Coroner, Dr. Charles I. Groves, was called, and he ordered the body to be removed to the Blanford morgue.

* * *

His Own Enemy.

Holt, it is said, was his own worst enemy. He drank heavily, and when under the influence of liquor was quarrelsome, and this got him into much trouble. But for his connection with the murder of Mrs. Virginia Etly Holt's existence would have been one dull round of drink and trouble and police—a never-ending cycle. He is said to have killed a man in a fight once, and at another time used his knife on a woman. When sober he was peaceful, often dog-like in his servility, and many times had he signed the pledge, but moral courage failed him at the appearance of temptation.

Just the day before the Etly murder was committed Holt was released from the workhouse. He had been sent there after a hearing in the Police Court on a charge of drunkenness and disorderly conduct, and his mother-in-law was among the witnesses who testified against him. For this action he was deeply incensed at the woman and vowed vengeance. She lived in Faust bottoms when Holt went to the workhouse, but had moved during the time he was confined. Holt was accused of visiting the Faust Bottoms on the night of his release and he is said to have made inquiries concerning the whereabouts of his mother-in-law. Other circumstances led to his arrest in connection with the murder of Mrs. Etly. He was later dismissed at the examining trial.

The last time Holt was arrested was in November, 1908, on a charge of drunkenness. Since then, it seems, he lived quietly, staying at the home of Mrs. Nettie Philpotts, 306 East G street.

JUDGE BURNETT

ADDRESSES ALBERT SIDNEY JOHNSTON CHAPTER.

The regular meeting of the Albert Sidney Johnston Chapter of the United Daughters of the Confederacy was held in the assembly room of the Louisville Free Public Library yesterday afternoon. It proved to be one of the most interesting meetings ever held. The principal feature was an address on "The Causes Leading to the Secession of Kentucky," delivered by Judge Theodore Burnett.

His address was interesting throughout and pleased the large audience. He traced the steps one by one, telling minutely of Kentucky's relation to the Confederacy and to the Union. He showed how the Legislature had made an address to the people commanding them to have nothing whatever to do with the struggle, and urging neutrality. When he closed by stating that although he is glad that peace now reigns, he cannot say he is sorry that the Civil War was fought, and that if he had had his way in the matter he would have had the war, he was warmly applauded.

A letter from the national historian, having to do with the contention over the awarding of a prize to the author of an essay who, it was said, did not conform to the rules laid down for all who entered the contest, was read. The winner of the prize was a student of the University of Columbia, and in the letter the national historian recommended that the contest be abolished for five years, or until suitable books on Southern topics may be sent to the University of Columbia. The local chapter laid the letter on the table and will take the matter up later, when more information can be procured.

Mrs. Basil Duke, president, announced at the close of the meeting that the finances of the organization are at present very low, and she urged all those present to do all in their power to aid this end of the chapter. In reply one of the members presented a plan which met with the approval of all present by which each member is to contribute a penny for every year that they have lived, the contributions to be made at the next regular meeting.

RECTOR JOHNS' STORE ROBBED A THIRD TIME.

Proprietor Says He Knows Guilty Party But Will Not Prosecute If Arrest Is Made.

County Patrolmen George Wilson and West Gilbert are working assiduously on the robbery committed at the store of Rector Johns in Highland Park sometime between Saturday night and Monday morning, and while they have made no arrests, the officers say that they have a good clew.

This is the third time that Johns' store has been robbed. Early in the spring of 1907, the store was entered and a quantity of goods and $15 in cash taken. Mr. Johns learned afterward that there was to be another robbery at his store and was prepared for the visitors. In September of the same year Johns and a friend surprised three men robbing his place, and he shot and killed one of them and wounded another.

Again, several months ago, Will Caswell and Will Bottoms were arrested on a charge of having systematically robbed Johns. They were both convicted and sentenced to the penitentiary, but by some technicality it is said that the sentence will be changed to one year in jail. Cases of two others who are said to have been implicated in the robery, are now pending.

Regarding the robbery Sunday Mr. Johns would talk but little. He stated that he knew who committed the theft, but would not prosecute, even if they are arrested.

Entrance was gained by prying open the door of a new addition which has recently been added to Johns' store. Only $2 was stolen.

The best "store bargains" advertised to-day might be the very thing you want to buy to-day.

KANSAS BANKER KILLED IN AUTOMOBILE ACCIDENT.

Grover Walker Visited Relatives In Louisville Only Three Weeks Ago—Mother Lives Here.

Grover Walker, a prominent banker of Hoxie, Kan., and well known in Louisville and Kentucky, where he has relatives, was killed in an automobile accident in his home city Sunday afternoon. The telegram to relatives here did not state the nature of the accident.

Mr. Walker was 43 years of age, and he was a visitor in Louisville only three weeks ago. He was a prominent Mason. His mother, Mrs. A. P. Montgomery, of Louisville; sisters, Mrs. Robert Cryor, of Louisville; Mrs. A. S. Rice, of Corinthians, and his wife, who was Miss Nellie Grady, of Versailles, survive him. He was a grandson of A. P. Grover, who at one time represented the Ashland district in Congress. The body probably will be brought to Louisville for burial, although no funeral arrangements have been made.

WIFE AWAKES TO FIND HUSBAND DEAD BESIDE HER.

Proprietor of Second-Hand Store Succumbs During Night To Attack of Cardiac Asthma.

William Bernstein, proprietor of a second-hand clothing store at 425 South Seventh street, was found dead in bed yesterday morning by his wife. The Coroner, Dr. Charles I. Groves, was called, and he said that death was due to cardiac paralysis, superinduced by acute indigestion. Besides his wife Mr. Bernstein is survived by one son and three daughters. He was 44 years of age and was a native of Russia. The funeral arrangements have not yet been made.

LIBRARY TRUSTEES MAY HOLD MEETING TO-DAY.

Annual Election Hinges On Whether Mayor Names Three Members of Board In Time.

Should Mayor James F. Grinstead announce the appointment of three trustees of the Louisville Free Public Library by to-morrow at noon the annual meeting of the full board of trustees to elect officers for the ensuing term may be held to-morrow afternon at 4 o'clock. Three of the trustees' terms have expired, Alfred Brandeis, W. H. Bartholomew and John Stites, and it is believed that Mayor Grinstead will dispose of the matter in time to allow the trustees to hold their annual conference to-morrow afternoon.

Mayor Grinstead is president of the board, Judge Arthur Rutledge, vice president; Prof. R. P. Halleck, secretary, and John Stites, treasurer. It is hardly likely that any change will be made in the official staff of officers.

The report of Librarian William F. Yust will be one of the important features of the meeting if it is held. Among other things it will say that during the month of March just passed 67,000 volumes were circulated, a record of 10,000 over any other month since the new library has been in existence.

TO EXTEND MAINS

FROM CRESCENT HILL TO LAKELAND.

Provided Recommendations of Chief Tyson To Board of Fire Underwriters Are Acted Upon.

In a letter to the fire protection committee of the Louisville Board of Fire Underwriters, Fillmore Tyson, chief of the fire department, suggests that a large water main be laid from the pumping station at Crescent Hill to the Lakeland Asylum, in order to insure better water facilities in case of a fire at that institution. The letter follows:

"Fire Protection Committee, Louisville Board of Fire Underwriters.—J. J. Barrett, Chairman—Gentlemen: I desire to again call your attention to the importance of laying a large water main from the city pumping station at Crescent Hill to the Lakeland Asylum. Past experience has taught me that at times the supply at this most worthy institution has been inadequate, not only for fire protection, but for domestic purposes as well. The laying of this main will, of course, involve an expenditure of considerable money, but it is a precaution that the State cannot well afford to overlook. The expense should not be considered when the lives and health of these poor unfortunates are involved, aside from the property loss, and I earnestly urge that your committee co-operate with the proper authorities to bring about this very necessary improvement. It is a charity that is worthy of the best efforts of every citizen of Kentucky. With best wishes for success, I remain, yours respectfully,

"FILLMORE TYSON,
"Chief of Fire Department."

SUCCEEDS FATHER AS MEMBER OF DIRECTORATE.

James C. Stone Becomes One of Board of Directors of Tobacco Warehouse Company.

At a meeting of the board of directors of the Louisville Tobacco Warehouse Company yesterday morning, James C. Stone, son of the late Col. Samuel H. Stone, was elected to a place on the directorate to fill the vacancy caused by the death of his father a week or so ago. In addition to being the youngest man on the board of directors, Mr. Stone is also the assistant manager of the Ninth street Warehouse, one of Louisville's leading tobacco houses. The announcement that Mr. Stone has been promoted was received with satisfaction by President I. N. Barnard and other prominent men of the Louisville Tobacco Warehouse Company, with whom he has been associated for many years. He was formerly in business with his father here, and has hosts of friends in and out of the business world.

VISITORS AT ARMORY NOT EXCITED BY FIRE ENGINES.

Department Responds To Two Alarms Sent In From Vicinity of Electrical Exposition.

Two alarms were sounded yesterday from box 53, at Sixth and Walnut streets, but the visitors at the Armory were not disturbed by the arrival of the fire department. The first alarm came in at 12:09 o'clock yesterday afternoon and the firemen extinguished a blaze beneath the range in the kitchen of the business Woman's Club, at 433 West Walnut street. Although the dining-room was filled with patrons, they did not leave the tables. The damage was trivial.

A pedestrian saw steam escaping from a pipe under a shed in the rear of the Armory at 4:15 o'clock yesterday, and fearing serious consequences, telephoned to the fire tower, which again sent the department to Sixth and Walnut streets.

SUPERINTENDENT'S CASE IS HELD OVER AGAIN.

As neither Edwin B. Green nor Marshall Bullitt, of the Board of Public Safety, showed up yesterday, W. G. Munn, the remaining member of the board, was unable to bring Charles Hoeflin, superintendent of the workhouse, to trial on a charge of misappropriating city property at the workhouse. The case has been hanging fire for some time, owing to the illness of Mr. Hoeflin. It is said that even had the board been able to hold a meeting yesterday, Mr. Hoeflin could not have appeared as a defendant.

All the charges lodged against Mr. Hoeflin have been repeatedly denied by him. It is not believed that any of them will be sustained before the board.

The First Regiment of the Kentucky State Guard, by the action of the officers, shows that the services of Col. W. B. Haldeman as commanding officer of the regiment are highly appreciated. Whereas, The regiment is located as a unit in this city, and is therebe enabled to vote forthwith, now,

Therefore, The undersigned petitioners, officers of the regiment, speaking for the regiment, respectfully petition that, in accordance with Section 2676 of Kentucky Statutes, an election for Colonel of the First regiment of infantry of the Kentucky State Guard be by you immediately ordered. FAKE JEWELRY GETS THIS NEGRO IN BAD.

Robert Hill, alias Hall, a negro said by the police to have been released Friday from the Jeffersonville Reformatory, after serving a sentence of three years for highway robbery, approached the wrong man yesterday. Detective James Straley said the negro went up to him at Second and Jefferson streets and wanted to sell him some fake jewelry, telling him that he needed the money and was selling diamonds cheap. Detective Straley called to his partner, Detective Moore, standing near by, and the negro was taken to Central police station, where he was charged with loitering.
